Metal Casting: Theory and Practice Jagadeesha T, 2019-12-28 Casting is one of the most commonly used manufacturing processes in industries It is almost impossible to make a product like automobile aircraft etc without cast component This book is meant to serve as a bridge between the study of the processes and their applications in production industries Compared with the classical method of writing a book two similar fundamental processes namely theory and practice are blended and explained so that the reader gets holistic approach to casting First basic processes are discussed followed by the special processes and design of systems is discussed It is a comprehensive source of technical metal casting information that foundry engineers and managers process engineers and anyone who has interest in or needs to know about foundry operations and products Book comes as a useful resource for Mechanical Engineering students It also includes industry data foundry practices real time industrial applications and problems METAL CASTING B. RAVI,2005-01-01 This book presents a scientific approach to metal casting design and analysis supported by software tools Unlike other books in metal casting focused only on the process know how this book uncovers the know why as well Besides serving the needs of students of mechanical production and metallurgical engineering this book is equally meant to benefit practicing engineers involved or interested in casting development including product designers toolmakers foundry engineers supply chain managers engineering consultants researchers and software developers The theory discussed in the book is applicable to all types of castings ferrous and non ferrous produced in sand and metal moulds By gaining a better understanding of the theory and logic involved through creating analysing and optimizing virtual castings the readers will learn how to Design process friendly cast products leading to shorter development time Manufacture assured quality castings leading to fewer rejections and surprises Manage material and energy utilization leading to higher yield and lower costs H.R. 1243, Centers for Metal Casting United States. Metal Casting and Welding Anup Goel,2020-12-01 Metal casting is the process of producing metal or alloy component parts In casting the metal is heated sufficiently to make it into liquid and then poured into moulds of the desired shape Casting is most often used for making complex shapes so that would be difficult or uneconomical to make by other methods Welding is a fabrication process that joins materials usually metals by using high heat to melt the parts together and allowing them to cool causing fusion Many different energy sources can be used for welding including gas flame electric arc a laser and electron beam friction and ultrasonic Our hope is that this book through its careful explanations and concepts and its use of sketches and figures bridges the gap between knowledge and proper application of that knowledge Establishing Three Centers for Metal Casting Competitiveness Research United States.
