Ramsay, Milton Russell, 2013-10-18 Results of a comprehensive two year study analyzing the facts and policy alternatives Originally published in 1979 Energy Research Abstracts, 1989 Environmental Regulation of Real Property Nicholas A. Robinson, Kevin Reilly, 2024-04-28 This book not only offers in depth analysis of federal environmental statutes having a bearing on land use but also looks closely at rules imposed by state and local governments Management and Regional Science for Economic Development Manas Chatterji, 1982-11-30 The greatest challenge facing mankind today is the immense disparity in the levels of income among people in different parts of the globe The growth rate of income of the poor countries is consistantiy far below the rate of the advanced industrialized nations Due to low income and a high propensity to consume there is very little left in these countries for investment A major portion of the resources available is devoted to military expenditures This continual decline in the standard of living coupled with poverty and unemployment will lead to social and political upheaval in these countries which affects developed countries Because of high capacity and low population growth the market of the developed countries is already saturated To maintain the high standard of living in the developed countries it is necessary to have a strong and stable developing world It is gratifying to see that both groups of countries see the need for peaceful economic growth however the amount of cooperation between countries and the material help from the developed countries are far from satisfactory The economic and social scientists have investigated the best way to achieve the transformation from a poverty ridden condition to a decent existence Their studies have proceeded in two different directions One is a more descriptive historical analysis and the other is theoretical model building Although these studies have achieved a relatively high level of perfection one significant factor is sometimes missing Agricultural Libraries Information Notes ,1978 1980 and read by the general reader as well That increased energy efficiency should be the first priority of energy policymakers is a conclusion not an assumption of our analysis Many analysts have arrived at this conclusion while working separately on energy supply problems The magnitude and scope of supply problems primarily problems of high prices and environmental costs lead one inexorably back to reducing demand growth as the first most important step in any plausible energy future We examine in some depth why much of the past literature on energy still points fallaciously in our opinion to high energy c v
