Structure and Change in Indian Society Milton B. Singer, Bernard S. Cohn, Recent theoretical and methodological innovations in the anthropological analysis of South Asian societies have introduced distinctive modifications in the study of Indian social structure and social change This book reporting on twenty empirical studies of Indian society conducted by outstanding scholars reflects these trends not only with reference to Indian society itself but also in terms of the relevance of such trends to an understanding of social change more generally The contributors demonstrate the adaptive changes experienced by the studied groups in particular villages towns cities and regions The authors view the basic social units of joint family caste and village not as structural isolates but as intimately connected with one another and with other social units through social and cultural networks of various kinds that incorporate the social units into the complex structure of Indian civilization Within this broadened conception of social structure these studies trace the changing relations of politics economics law and language to the caste system Showing that the caste system is dynamic with upward and downward mobility characterizing it from pre British times to the present the studies suggest that the modernizing forces which entered the system since independence parliamentary democracy universal suffrage land reforms modern education urbanization and industrial technology provided new opportunities and paths to upward mobility but did not radically alter the system The chapters in this book show that the study of Indian society reveals novel forms of social structure change They introduce methods and theories that may well encourage social scientists to extend the study of change in Indian society to the study of change in other areas Milton Singer 1912 1994 was Paul Klapper Professor of Social Sciences and professor of anthropology at the University of Chicago He was a fellow of the Academy of Arts and Sciences He was also chosen as a distinguished lecturer by the American Anthropological Association and was the recipient of the Distinguished Scholar Award of the Association for Asian Studies Bernard S Cohn 1918 2003 was Professor Emeritus of Anthropology at the University of Chicago He was widely known for his work on India during the British colonial period and wrote many books on the subject of India including India The Social Anthropology of a Civilization 1971 An Anthropologist among the Historians and Other Essays 1987 and Colonialism and its Forms of Knowledge 1996 Annual Giving Strategies Ann D. Gee, 1990 This collection of 32 papers focuses on the annual fund as a basic and central part of development programs at schools colleges and universities It describes the fundamental elements of the annual fund from planning to evaluation and sets forth methods of solicitation that reach all the institution s constituencies Section 1 titled Overview of the Annual Fund contains six papers explaining the goals and strategies of the annual fund its implementation through the planning calendar methods of linking the annual fund to other programs and the role of the annual fund in a capital campaign Section 2 called Techniques discusses printed materials direct mail direct mail for special constituencies phonathons telemarketing and the use of telemarketing consultants Section 3 Special Programs To Boost Success deals with computer usage matching gifts challenge gifts alumni directories and events planning Section 4 Reaching Your Constituencies focuses on specific constituencies such as students reunion attendees parents faculty staff trustees and the community The final section is titled Recognition and Evaluation and covers the philosophy of recognition techniques for recognition the importance of supporting volunteers and evaluating success JDD
