

Aging, Society, and the Life Course

[This] book's unfading preoccupation with social context, social processes, and social structures distinguishes itself and greatly contributes to the discourse in gerontology.-

The Gerontologist This classic text, now in its fifth edition, is distinguished by its emphasis on social context, social processes, and social structures as part of a broader understanding of the sociology of aging and the life course. Presenting an objective view of the realities of aging, both positive and negative, the book examines aging from micro/macro, personal, community, societal, and global perspectives. This fifth edition describes important changes in the field of social gerontology and the growth in such topics as diversity, global aging, and the life course. It addresses major shifts in public policy, social institutions, and aging-related programming initiatives. There is a strong focus on the changing landscape of aging, particularly in regard to social engagement, employment and lifelong learning, enhanced health and independence, and livable communities for people of all ages. Additionally, the book includes new information on the Affordable Care Act and end-of-life issues. The text is uniquely organized, featuring theoretical discussions in each chapter and topical essays between chapters. Critical thinking and review questions foster an in-depth understanding of the material. Written in an engaging style, the text is for graduate and upper-level undergraduate students it is also used effectively in introductory gerontology classes. In addition to an Instructor's Manual, the fifth edition now includes Power-Point slides>

Smith,Gemma L. Watson,2017-05-15 Historical biography has a mixed reputation at its best it can reveal much not only about an individual but the wider context of their life and society at worst it can result in a narrowly focused work of hagiography or condemnation Yet in spite of its sometimes inferior status amongst academics biography has remained a popular genre and in recent years has developed into new and intriguing areas As the essays in this volume reveal scholars from an array of different disciplines have embraced what biography can offer them expanding the remit of biography from people to things tracing the life of their chosen object from creation to use to disposal to rediscovery The increasing concern with the physicality of manuscripts and books has also meant an awareness of and interest in the lives of these forms of material culture Historians have also become increasingly interested in groups of individuals resulting in prosopographical studies A book on the diversity of biography is therefore very timely exploring the multi disciplinary application of historical biography in the period 500 1700 It presents fourteen case studies offering new approaches to historical biography written by early career researchers from backgrounds in archaeology English art architectural history and history demonstrating different approaches and techniques Overall the collection is a strong and united statement by a group of early career researchers who insist on the vitality of biography as a central concern of historians across the disciplines of the humanities Contributors believe that the life is a fundamental medium of study for the medieval and early modern periods and thus bolsters the move back towards biography as a primary tool of medieval and early modern scholars as well as a tool for future research for humanities scholars interested in biography

Issues in Aging Mark Novak,2015-07-22 Opportunities and optimism in Aging Issues in Aging 3rd edition takes an optimistic view of aging and human potential in later life This book presents the most up to date facts on aging today the issues raised by these facts and the societal and individual responses that will create a successful old age for us all Mark Novak presents the full picture of aging exhibiting both the problems and the opportunities that accompany older age The text illustrates how generations are dependent on one another and how social conditions affect both the individual and social institutions Learning Goals Upon completing this book readers will be able to Understand how large scale social issues social attitudes the study of aging and demographic issues affect individuals and social institutions Identify the political responses to aging and how individuals can create a better old age for themselves and the people they know Separate the myths from the realities of aging Recognize the human side of aging Trace the transformation of pension plans health and opportunities for personal expression and social engagement to the new ecology of aging today Gerontology and the Construction of Old Age Bryan Green,2017-09-08 Although attitudes toward the aged and their care are inherent in any society gerontology itself is a relatively recent field of study and practice Gerontology and the Construction of Old Age applies the methods of discourse analysis and textual analysis to texts and documents in this newly evolved and eclectic field Green explores and identifies the literary methods and discursive regularities through which aging and the aged have been made into objects of study and treatment and which together form a mode of knowledge production that will influence future texts in the field Because such formats of representation limit rational diagnoses of problems and rational courses of ameliorative action policy implications in the field of gerontology are a major interest of this study Another interest is methodological Within the broader constructionist approach to social reality Green takes the position of constitutive realism the notion that social reality is linguistically constructed primarily in speech and writing The book's two aims are to describe analytically the field of gerontology The field is important both for its growing academic presence and for its practical effects on discourse and policy concerning old age It also hopes to help develop possibilities of inquiry associated with the linguistic literary and rhetorical turns of social science in recent years Gerontology and the Construction of Old Age is a substantive investigation at considerable theoretical depth of gerontology itself as well as a methodological treatise with broader implications for social science as it focuses upon the discourse of various professional fields Growing Old in a Better World Robert Troschitz,2024-09-23 As utopias question social ills and express human wants and unfulfilled dreams they offer insights into the problems desires and ideals of a certain time This book uses this lens to examine cultural representations of ageing and old age in utopian writings from the Renaissance till today The individual chapters offer detailed analyses and interpretations of numerous utopias from Thomas More's Utopia 1516 to contemporary science fiction Through close readings the book explores age related fears and ideals and investigates how perceptions of ageing and the life course as well as attitudes towards older people have developed over the centuries Covering a large time span and a broad range of different utopias the book identifies long term developments and also puts certain dreams such as that of ever lasting youth into a wider perspective It thus enriches both our understanding of the cultural history of ageing and the history of utopian thought The book will appeal to scholars and students from the fields of cultural gerontology and utopian studies as well as literary studies and cultural history more generally Approaches to American Cultural Studies Antje Dallmann,Eva Boesenberg,Martin Klepper,2016-05-20 Approaches to American Cultural Studies provides an accessible yet comprehensive overview of the diverse range of subjects encompassed within American Studies familiarising students with the history and shape of American Studies as an academic subject as well as its key theories methods and concepts Written and edited by an international team of authors based primarily in Europe the book is divided into four thematically organised sections The first part delineates the evolution of American Studies over the course of the twentieth century the second elaborates on how American Studies as a field is positioned within the wider humanities and the third inspects and deconstructs popular tropes such as myths of the West the self made man Manifest Destiny and representations of the President of the United States The fourth part introduces theories of society such as structuralism and deconstruction queer and transgender theories border and hemispheric studies and critical race theory that are particularly influential within American Studies This book is supplemented by a companion website offering further material for study www.routledge.com/cw/dallmann Specifically designed for use on courses across Europe it is a clear and engaging introductory text for students of American culture

Aging, Place, and Health Satariano, Marlon Maus, 2017-03-03 Aging Place and Health A Global Perspective examines the interplay of biological social and environmental factors affecting the health and well being of aging individuals their families and communities With a strong interdisciplinary focus this book provides a clear coherent structure to address the diversity of topics in this increasingly vital field The second edition maintains the ecological approach using the same framework as in the first edition The ecological model serves as a template for the organization of the book The new edition provides a more global focus and introduces new topics such as the impact of technology This edition also introduces a new co editor as well as specific chapters prepared by leading experts in the field

Aging and Loss Jason Danely, 2015-01-02 By 2030 over 30% of the Japanese population will be 65 or older foreshadowing the demographic changes occurring elsewhere in Asia and around the world What can we learn from a study of the aging population of Japan and how can these findings inform a path forward for the elderly their families and for policy makers Based on nearly a decade of research Aging and Loss examines how the landscape of aging is felt understood and embodied by older adults themselves In detailed portraits anthropologist Jason Danely delves into the everyday lives of older Japanese adults as they construct narratives through acts of reminiscence social engagement and ritual practice and reveals the pervasive cultural aesthetic of loss and of being a burden Through first hand accounts of rituals in homes cemeteries and religious centers Danely argues that what he calls the self in suspense can lead to the emergence of creative participation in an economy of care In everyday rituals for the spirits older adults exercise agency and reinterpret concerns of social abandonment within a meaningful cultural narrative and by reimagining themselves and their place in the family through these rituals older adults in Japan challenge popular attitudes about eldercare Danely's discussion of health and long term care policy and community welfare organizations reveal a complex picture of Japan's aging society
