Modeling and Forecasting Primary Commodity Prices Walter C. Labys, 2017-03-02 Recent economic growth in China and other Asian countries has led to increased commodity demand which has caused price rises and accompanying price fluctuations not only for crude oil but also for the many other raw materials Such trends mean that world commodity markets are once again under intense scrutiny This book provides new insights into the modeling and forecasting of primary commodity prices by featuring comprehensive applications of the most recent methods of statistical time series analysis The latter utilize econometric methods concerned with structural breaks unobserved components chaotic discovery long memory heteroskedasticity wavelet estimation and fractional integration Relevant tests employed include neural networks correlation dimensions Lyapunov exponents fractional integration and rescaled range The price forecasting involves structural time series trend plus cycle and cyclical trend models Practical applications focus on the price behaviour of more than twenty

Managing Risk in Farming ,1999 A Comprehensive Assessment of the Role of Risk in U.S. Agriculture
Richard E. Just,Rulon D. Pope,2013-11-11 After all the research on agricultural risk to date the treatment of risk in agricultural research is far from harmonious Many competing risk models have been proposed Some new methodologies are largely untested Some of the leading empirical methodologies in agricultural economic research are poorly suited for problems with aggregate data where risk averse behavior is less likely to be important This book is intended to i define the current state of the literature on agricultural risk research ii provide a critical evaluation of economic risk research on agriculture to date and iii set a research agenda that will meet future needs and prospects This type of research promises to become of increasing importance because agricultural policy in the United States and elsewhere has decidedly shifted from explicit income support objectives to risk related motivations of helping farmers deal with risk Beginning with the 1996 Farm Bill the primary set of policy instruments from U S agriculture has shifted from target prices and set aside acreage to agricultural crop insurance Because this book is intended to have specific implications for U S agricultural policy it has a decidedly domestic scope but clearly many of the issues have application abroad For each of the papers and topics included in this volume individuals have been selected to give the strongest and broadest possible treatment of each facet of the problem The result is this comprehensive reference book on the economics of agricultural risk Options, Futures, and Agricultural Commodity Programs ,1988 Agricultural Finance Review ,1993 Agricultural Commodity Markets
Michael Atkin,2024-02-01 Originally published in 1989 this book is a clear and thorough guide to the workings and purpose of the futures markets It begins by explaining the role of futures and options in agriculture and their uses in reducing risks and maximizing profits The state of the futures industry in the USA Europe Japan and the smaller exchanges elsewhere during the 1980s is examined the pattern of price movements analysed and the major background factors which influence price movements discussed The regulatory environment in the US and UK is analysed and there is a thorough explanation of fundamental and technical approaches to price forecasting and of strategies to maximize profits from trading Detailed profiles of the major agricultural commodities traded on futures markets comprise the second part of this comprehensive handbook The major markets price movements and trading opportunities are outlined for each commodity in turn The book concludes by discussing the contemporary issues facing futures trading and the role of the markets in the agricultural trade of developing countries The Journal of Agricultural Economics Research ,1991 Realigning policy interventions on agricultural prices Consoli, S., Egas Yerovi, J.J., Morales Opazo, C.,2022-08-03 COVID 19 has resulted in a shock to agrifood systems around the world with the potential for low and middle income countries to be particularly affected Although policy responses were more muted than during the 2007 2008 world food crisis efforts to insulate from supply shocks and ensure local availability during COVID 19 have generally included export restrictions and import tariff reductions among other responses In an effort to enable rapid market monitoring and realignment we develop a new indicator defined as a monthly nominal rate of protection express which seeks to isolate as much as possible the effect of trade and market policies on domestic prices in real time in order to understand how they responded This analysis examines changes to this indicator during the first wave of the pandemic in 27 low and middle income countries for the most consumed staple cereals of the poor and food insecure We show that agricultural price incentives declined by 12.6 percentage points compared to the same months in previous years suggesting that retail domestic price spikes may have largely been mitigated or avoided However impacts varied across countries and commodities and this indicator can serve as a tool for examining primary drivers of changes and conducting causal analysis to facilitate adequate agrifood policy responses to support economic recovery in the post COVID 19 era
