Cracking the ASVAB Nicole Moss, Princeton Review (Firm), David Winn, Andy Kiehl, 2004-11-09 The ASVAB Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery serves as both a general interest aptitude test and as the admissions exam for the U.S. Military It is given year round at over 14,000 high schools each year to approximately 1.25 million people The Princeton Review has joined forces with the military to produce a test preparation course to ensure that fewer recruits get turned away because of their ASVAB scores Our unique test taking strategies are proven to raise scores and our experience with tests given on the computer as the ASVAB increasingly is has proven invaluable

The Tyranny of the Meritocracy Lani Guinier, 2016-01-12 A fresh and bold argument for revamping our standards of merit and a clear blueprint for creating collaborative education models that strengthen our democracy rather than privileging individual elites Standing on the foundations of America's promise of equal opportunity our universities purport to serve as engines of social mobility and practitioners of democracy But as acclaimed scholar and pioneering civil rights advocate Lani Guinier argues the merit systems that dictate the admissions practices of these institutions are functioning to select and privilege elite individuals rather than create learning communities geared to advance democratic societies Having studied and taught at schools such as Harvard University Yale Law School and the University of Pennsylvania Law School Guinier has spent years examining the experiences of ethnic minorities and of women at the nation's top institutions of higher education and here she lays bare the practices that impede the stated missions of these schools Goaded on by a contemporary culture that establishes value through ranking and sorting universities assess applicants using the vocabulary of private highly individualized merit As a result of private merit standards and ever increasing tuitions our colleges and universities increasingly are failing in their mission to provide educational opportunity and to prepare students for productive and engaged citizenship To reclaim higher education as a cornerstone of democracy Guinier argues that institutions of higher learning must focus on admitting and educating a class of students who will be critical thinkers active citizens and publicly spirited leaders Guinier presents a plan for considering democratic merit a system that measures the success of higher education not by the personal qualities of the students who enter but by the work and service performed by the graduates who leave Guinier goes on to offer vivid examples of communities that have developed effective learning strategies based not on an individual s merit but on the collaborative strength of a group learning and working together supporting members and evolving into powerful collectives Examples are taken from across the country and include a wide range of approaches each innovative and effective Guinier argues for reformation not only of the very premises of admissions practices but of the shape of higher education itself
