the Advancement of Teaching and Learning Elon University Faculty Development in the Age of Evidence Andrea L. Beach, Mary Deane Sorcinelli, Ann E. Austin, Jaclyn K. Rivard, 2023-07-03 The first decade of the 21st century brought major challenges to higher education all of which have implications for and impact the future of faculty professional development This volume provides the field with an important snapshot of faculty development structures priorities and practices in a period of change and uses the collective wisdom of those engaged with teaching learning and faculty development centers and programs to identify important new directions for practice Building on their previous study of a decade ago published under the title of Creating the Future of Faculty Development the authors explore questions of professional preparation and pathways programmatic priorities collaboration and assessment Since the publication of this earlier study the pressures on faculty development have only escalated demands for greater accountability from regional and disciplinary accreditors fiscal constraints increasing diversity in types of faculty appointments and expansion of new technologies for research and teaching Centers have been asked to address a wider range of institutional issues and priorities based on these challenges How have they responded and what strategies should centers be considering These are the questions this book addresses For this new study the authors re surveyed faculty developers on perceived priorities for the field as well as practices and services offered They also examined more deeply than the earlier study the organization of faculty development including characteristics of directors operating budgets and staffing levels of centers and patterns of collaboration re organization and consolidation In doing so they elicited information on centers signature programs and the ways that they assess the impact of their programs on teaching and learning and other key outcomes What emerges from the findings are what the authors term a new Age of Evidence influenced by heightened stakeholder interest in the outcomes of undergraduate education and characterized by a focus on assessing the impact of instruction on student learning of academic programs on student success and of faculty development in institutional mission priorities Faculty developers are responding to institutional needs for assessment at the same time as they are being asked to address a wider range of institutional priorities in areas such as blended and online teaching diversity and the scale up of evidence based practices They face the need to broaden their audiences and address the needs of part time non tenure track and graduate student instructors as well as of pre tenure and post tenure faculty They are also feeling increased pressure to demonstrate the return on investment of their programs This book describes how these faculty development and institutional needs and priorities are being addressed through linkages collaborations and networks across institutional units and highlights the increasing role of faculty development professionals as organizational change agents at the department and institutional levels serving as experts on the needs of faculty in larger organizational discussions Handbook of Research on Faculty Development for Digital Teaching and Learning Elçi, Alev, Beith, Linda L., Elçi, Atilla, 2019-05-31 Faculty development is currently practiced in a variety of approaches by individuals committees and centers of excellence More research is needed to draw better benefit from these approaches in the impending digital world by taking advantage of digitally enabled teaching and learning The Handbook of Research on Faculty Development for Digital Teaching and Learning offers holistic and multidisciplinary approaches to enhancing faculty effectiveness in teaching boosting motivation extending knowledge expanding teaching behaviors and disseminating skills in digital higher education settings Featuring a broad range of topics such as faculty learning communities FLCs virtual learning environments and professional development this book is ideal for educators educational technologists curriculum developers higher education staff school administrators principals academicians practitioners and graduate students

Faculty Development in Developing Countries Cristine Smith, Katherine Hudson, 2016-11-18 Learner centered approaches to teaching such as small group discussions debates role plays and project based assignments help students develop critical thinking creativity and problem solving skills However more traditional lecture based approaches still predominate in classrooms in higher education institutions around the world Faculty development programs can support faculty members to adopt new teaching methods even in situations where they face significant challenges due to lack of resources on going conflict political upheaval or the legacy of colonialism in their educational systems This volume presents research and practice on faculty development for improving teaching in developing countries Based on the concept that we teach as we were taught the case studies in this volume describe ways to organize professional development to help higher education faculty members shift from lecture based to active learning teaching for students who will become the next generation of teachers practitioners professionals and policymakers in their respective countries The Breadth of Current Faculty Development: Practitioners' Perspectives C. William McKee, Mitzy Johnson, William F. Ritchie, W. Mark Tew, 2013-03-19 With pedagogical philosophy and practice changing significantly faculty development has become much more important Each chapter in this volume identifies particular areas of opportunity and although the authors recognize that not every initiative suggested can be implemented by all institutions circumstances such as institutional mission available resources and governance issues will dictate that it is their hope that every reader will be able to glean details that might provide a spark or fan a flame on campus As educators themselves McKee Johnson Ritchie and Tew invite you to consider the challenges explore the possibilities and join them on the journey This is the 133rd volume of this Jossey Bass higher education series New Directions for Teaching and Learning offers a comprehensive range of ideas and techniques for improving college teaching based on the experience of seasoned instructors and the latest findings of educational and psychological researchers The Palgrave Handbook of Academic Professional Development Centers Otherine Johnson Neisler, 2022-11-30 This handbook provides a global overview of the design implementation and assessment of academic development centers within higher education institutions The current nature of our complex rapidly changing world makes it imperative that colleges and universities worldwide find ways to educate their students in new and better ways this is reflected in a change in focus from teaching and testing to maximizing student learning in line with the core mission of ADCs to ensure students achieve the best possible learning outcomes This handbook builds on this transformation as well as the foundational ADC structure and programming guidelines established by the Professional and Organizational Development Network to offer a comprehensive exploration of professional development in the sector This handbook is global in scale and comprehensive in scope addressing various key topics such as organizational structure and leadership funding and program design It calls for professors and academics to reflect on and adapt their methods of teaching independent to their research and provides helpful frameworks and case studies for researchers designing centers or seeking models for additional programs

Understanding Educational Developers Leslie D. Cramblet Alvarez, Christopher M. Hakala, 2024-12-30

organized around a model developed by James E Groccia which focuses on seven interrelated variables that must be explored to develop a full perspective of college and university teaching and learning These interrelated variables include teacher learner learning process learning context course content instructional processes and learning outcomes Using this logical model the contributors provide readers with a guide for systemic thinking about how to improve teaching and learning curriculum development and assessment

Leading for Tomorrow Pamela L. Eddy, Elizabeth Kirby, 2020-06-19 When faculty climb the ranks into leadership positions they come with years of knowledge and experience yet they are often blindsided by the delicate interpersonal situations and political minefields they must now navigate as university administrators What are the specific skills that faculty need to acquire when they move into administrative positions and how can they build upon their existing abilities to excel in these roles What skills can other mid level leaders learn to help in their positions Using an engaging case study approach Leading for Tomorrow provides readers with real world examples that will help them reflect on their own management and communication styles It also shows newly minted administrators how they can follow best practices while still developing a style of leadership that is authentic and uniquely their own The book s case studies offer practical solutions for how to deal with emerging trends and persistent problems in the field of higher education from decreasing state funding to political controversies on campus Leading for Tomorrow gives readers the tools they need to get the best out of their team manage conflicts support student success and instill a campus culture of innovation that will meet tomorrow s challenges

Enhancing Quality in Higher Education Ray Land, George Gordon, 2013-06-19 Interest in the quality of higher education provision has been steadily increasing over the last twenty years This has been driven largely by the international creation of explicit policies and reporting requirements to review audit and evaluate provision The interest is associated in many countries with the granting by governments of greater autonomy to higher education institutions This crucially comes bound with increased requirements for accountability in the exercise of such power Enhancing provision promoting innovation cultivating exploration and adopting information led approaches to practice are at the very heart of higher education As such quality enhancement comes in many guises and is under constant scrutiny Enhancing Quality in Higher Education looks critically at recent developments in higher education taking snapshots of changing practices around the world and analysing the varied theoretical perspectives of quality enhancement that are emerging The opening section draws upon this theoretical base whilst the second section contextualises it through the analysis of a diverse range of international case studies The concluding section considers future prospects for the enhancement agenda in the light of the international pressures facing all systems of higher education in the future Policy will inevitably be shaped by the historical contexts within which national systems are located The book draws on a wide range of international case studies examined by a host of contributing experts The movement towards quality enhancement can be seen as stimulating action at the grassroots of the academy to self generate improvement It is a counter to the prevalent view that change in higher education is essentially about the institutional response to increasing societal pressure and state control and as such is a welcome contribution to the literature This comprehensive volume is essential reading for anyone involved in higher education and educational policy Integrating the Sciences and Society Harriet Hartman,2008-10-01 Many people think of social problems as involving poor and powerless individuals in society This work seeks to improve the balance by adding a focus on important and powerful institutions It discusses policy sciences public policy analysis and public management It addresses operations and design issues for government organizations Building Gender Equity in the Academy Sandra Laursen,Ann E. Austin,2020-11-24 An evidence based action oriented response to the persistent everyday inequity of academic workplaces Despite decades of effort by federal science funders to increase the numbers of women holding advanced degrees and faculty jobs in science and engineering they are persistently underrepresented in academic STEM disciplines especially in positions of seniority leadership and prestige Women filled 47% of all US jobs in 2015 but held only 24% of STEM jobs Barriers to women are built into academic workplaces biased selection and promotion systems inadequate structures to support those with family and personal responsibilities and old boy networks that can exclude even very successful women from advancing into top leadership roles But this situation can and must change In Building Gender Equity in the Academy Sandra Laursen and Ann E Austin offer a concrete data driven approach to creating institutions that foster gender equity Focusing on STEM fields where gender equity is most lacking Laursen and Austin begin by outlining the need for a systemic approach to gender equity Looking at the successful work being done by specific colleges and universities around the country they analyze twelve strategies these institutions have used to create more inclusive working environments including implementing inclusive recruitment and hiring practices addressing biased evaluation methods establishing equitable tenure and promotion processes strengthening accountability structures particularly among senior leadership improving unwelcoming department climates and cultures supporting dual career couples offering flexible work arrangements that accommodate personal lives promoting faculty professional development and advancement Laursen and Austin also discuss how to bring these strategies together to create systemic change initiatives appropriate for specific institutional contexts Drawing on three illustrative case studies at Case Western Reserve University the University of Texas at El Paso and the University of Wisconsin Madison they explain how real institutions can strategically combine several equity driven approaches thereby leveraging their individual strengths to make change efforts comprehensive Grounded in scholarship but written for busy institutional leaders Building Gender Equity in the Academy is a handbook of actionable strategies for faculty and administrators working to improve the inclusion and visibility of women and others who are marginalized in the sciences and in academe more broadly
