Technical Training of Parachutists ,1965 The Mechanobiology and Mechanophysiology of Military-Related Injuries Amit Gefen,Yoram Epstein,2016-03-31 This book provides a state of the art update as well as perspectives on future directions of research and clinical applications in the implementation of biomechanical and biophysical experimental theoretical and computational models which are relevant to military medicine Such experimental and modeling efforts are helpful on the one hand in understanding the aetiology pathophysiology and dynamics of injury development and on the other hand in guiding the development of better equipment and protective gear or devices that should ultimately reduce the prevalence and incidence of injuries or lessen their hazardous effects The book is useful for military oriented biomedical engineers and medical physicists as well as for military physiologists and other medical specialists who are interested in the science and technology implemented in modern investigations of military related injuries

Factor Analysis of Aviation Training Measures and Post-training Performance Evaluations Richard F. Booth, James R. Berkshire, 1968 Factor structures of Marine jet and helicopter pilot training measures and post training performance criteria are compared and discussed Academic ability flying ability and systems comprehension factors were common to both samples Additional factors unique to each sample were also identified Significant relationships were found between some performance criteria and some factors although the criteria factor loadings were low The results of the investigation are compared with previous factor analytic studies of aviation training measures that did not include post training criterion data Author

The Rhodesian Air Force in Zimbabwe's War of Liberation, 1966-1980 Darlington Mutanda, 2016-11-10 This book evaluates the development of the Rhodesian Air Force during the Second Chimurenga or Bush War 1966-1980 Airpower in irregular conflict is effective at the tactical level because guerrilla warfare is not a purely military conflict The Rhodesian Air Force was deployed in a war winning versus a supporting role as a result of the shortage of manpower to deal with insurgency and almost all units of the Rhodesian Security Forces depended on its tactical effectiveness Technical challenges faced by the Air Force combined with the rate of guerrilla infiltration and the misuse of airpower to bomb guerrilla bases in neighboring countries largely negated the success of airpower Curriculum Handbook with General Information Concerning ... for the United States Air Force Academy United States Air Force Academy,2004
