Ancient Arms Race: Antiquity's Largest Fortresses and Sasanian Military Networks of Northern Iran Eberhard Sauer, Jebrael Nokandeh, Hamid Omrani Rekavandi, 2023-02-16 Which ancient army boasted the largest fortifications and how did the competitive build up of military capabilities shape world history Few realise that imperial Rome had a serious competitor in Late Antiquity Late

Roman legionary bases normally no larger than 5ha were dwarfed by Sasanian fortresses often covering 40ha sometimes even 125 175ha The latter did not necessarily house permanent garrisons but sheltered large armies temporarily perhaps numbering 10 50 000 men each Even Roman camps and fortresses of the Early and High Empire did not reach the dimensions of their later Persian counterparts The longest fort lined wall of the late antique world was also Persian Persia built up between the fourth and sixth centuries AD the most massive military infrastructure of any ancient or medieval Near Eastern empire if not the ancient and medieval world Much of the known defensive network was directed against Persia s powerful neighbours in the north rather than the west This may reflect differences in archaeological visibility more than troop numbers Urban garrisons in the Romano Persian frontier zone are much harder to identify than vast geometric compounds in marginal northern lands Recent excavations in Iran have enabled us to precision date two of the largest fortresses of Southwest Asia both larger than any in the Roman world Excavations in a Gorgan Wall fort have shed much new light on frontier life and we have unearthed a massive bridge nearby A sonar survey has traced the terminal of the Tammisheh Wall now submerged under the waters of the Caspian Sea Further work has focused on a vast city and settlements in the hinterland Persia s Imperial Power our previous project had already shed much light on the Great Wall of Gorgan but it was our recent fieldwork that has thrown the sheer magnitude of Sasanian military infrastructure into sharp relief

The World Summit on Sustainable Development L. Hens, Bhaskar Nath, 2006-02-28 The Johannesburg Earth Summit which took place in the summer of 2002 confirmed the irreversible nature of the process that is founded upon the concept of Sustainable Development initially given form at Rio de Janeiro ten years earlier This process is to be welcomed while at the same time recognising the tremendous work that has taken place in converting this concept into a more concrete vision The Sustainable Development concept relates to every human activity covering the social economic and ecological dimensions which are often in conflict Consequently it is most important to include in research programmes some thought of the way people behave In theory the general elements of this inclusion are relatively easily defined However assessing the effects of one or another decision on all the interactions between the social economic and ecological dimensions involves significant difficulties All the more since we have to recognise in all modesty that humanity has not always excelled in the art of forward studies In fact the Precautionary Principle was introduced partly as a reaction to the sometimes blind confidence in technology and logic even if it is sometimes invoked in an exaggerated manner Nevertheless the duty to act for the sake of present and future generations is pressing Throughout history mankind has had to adapt and to innovate Now at st the beginning of the 21 century the urgent need for such adaptations is obvious
