University of Wisconsin Madison Recent educational reforms have raised standards of achievement but have also resulted in growing inequalities based on race and social class School by school league tables play a central role in the reforms These have created an A to C economy where schools and teachers are judged on the proportion of students attaining five or more grades at levels A to C To satisfy these demands schools are embracing new and ever more selective attempts to identify ability Their assumptions and practices embody a new IQism a simple narrow and regressive ideology of intelligence that labels working class and minority students as likely failures and justifies rationing provision to support those often white middle class boys already marked for success This book reports detailed research in two secondary schools showing the real costs of reform in terms of the pressures on teachers and the rationing of educational opportunity It will be important reading for any teacher researcher or policymaker with an interest in equality in education Learning to Teach in the Secondary School Susan Capel, Marilyn Leask, 2007-04-11 This best selling textbook offers a sound and practical introduction to the skills needed to gain Qualified Teacher Status and will help student teachers to develop the qualities that lead to good practice and a successful future in education Learning to Teach in the Secondary School Susan Anne Capel, Marilyn Leask, Tony Turner, 1999 The book offers advice on how to write assignments which link theory to practice and is the core text that supports each of the subject specific texts in the Learning to Teach series also published by Routledge It is an essential for every student teacher Jacket Issues in Modern Foreign Languages Teaching K. Field, 2004-08-02 Issues in Modern Foreign Languages Teaching draws together a range of issues in the teaching of modern foreign languages into one volume that will encourage students and newly qualified teachers to consider and reflect on the issues so that they can make a reasoned and informed judgement about their teaching of MFL It will be relevant for students and newly qualified teachers at both primary and secondary level and will fill a gap in their knowledge due to time constraints and an emphasis on standards on ITT and PGCE courses Migrant Integration between Homeland and Host Society Volume 2 Anna Di Bartolomeo, Sona Kalantaryan, Justyna Salamońska, Philippe Fargues, 2017-07-10 This book provides solid empirical evidence into the role that countries and communities of origin play in the migrant integration processes at destination Coverage explores several important questions including To what extent do policies pursued by receiving countries in Europe and the US complement or contradict each other What effective contribution do they make to the successful integration of migrants What obstacles do they put in their way This title is the second of two complementary volumes each of which is designed to stand alone and provide a different approach to the topic Here renowned contributors present evidence from the studies of 55 origin countries on five continents and 28 countries of destination in Europe where both quantitative and qualitative research was conducted In addition the chapters detail results of a unique worldwide survey of 900 organisations working on migrant integration and diaspora engagement The results draw on an innovative methodology and new approaches to the analysis of large scale survey data This examination into the tensions between integration policies and diaspora engagement policies will appeal to academics policymakers integration practitioners civil society organisations as well as students Overall the chapters provide empirical evidence that builds upon a theoretical framework developed in a complementary volume Migrant integration between Homeland and Host society Vol 1 Where does the country of origin fit by A Unterreiner A Weinar and P Fargues Activities for Teaching Citizenship in Secondary Schools Patricia Baker,David Turner,2014-05-12 A resource for teachers wishing to develop citizenship in their teaching activities It provides activities for use in teaching and includes lesson plans photocopiable work sheets and guides to further resources
