Background Embobing With Frames:

History of Embalming J.-N. Gannal, 2023-10-27 In History of Embalming J N Gannal meticulously chronicles the ancient and evolving practices of embalming exploring both the scientific principles and cultural significance behind this age old ritual The book is an intriguing synthesis of anthropology history and medicine drawing upon a wealth of sources from ancient Egypt to contemporary techniques Gannal adopts a clear and precise literary style eschewing overly ornate language in favor of accessibility allowing readers to engage deeply with the subject matter while appreciating its historical context within funerary practices and societal attitudes towards death J N Gannal a pioneer in the anatomical sciences was profoundly influenced by his background in medicine and his keen interest in the interconnection between death and the human condition His extensive research into the preservation of human remains not only reflects his scientific curiosity but also addresses broader existential questions that arise when cultures confront mortality Gannal s unique perspective as a historian and practicing physician lends an authentic voice to the work making it a critical resource for understanding shifting practices of embalming across time and cultures This book is a must read for scholars of anthropology medical history and cultural studies as well as for anyone interested in how societies grapple with the complexities of death Gannal s rich exploration of embalming practices illuminates cultural values offering profound insights that resonate beyond the grave In this enriched edition we have carefully created added value for your reading experience Hand picked Memorable Quotes shine a spotlight on moments of literary brilliance Interactive footnotes clarify unusual references historical allusions and archaic phrases for an effortless more informed read History of Embalming, and of Preparations in Anatomy, Pathology, and Natural History Jean-Nicolas Gannal, 1840 Embalming Mom Janet Burroway, 2004-09 Alternately clever humorous lively sad and charming her book is recommended for both public and academic libraries with large women s collections Library Journal Burroway author of Cutting Stone and six other novels is a pithy essayist with an inner compass that steers her to the ambiguity at the heart of the human condition Booklist Sightline Books is an exciting and welcome promise of all the excellent nonfiction writing just waiting to come into view Vivian Gornick author of The Situation and the Story The Art of Personal Narrative These gathered together autobiographical essays reveal a fascinating honest witty writer I thought I had known briefly thirty years ago I am delighted to discover in this charming memoir that I was woefully ignorant of her extraordinary life Now I feel privileged to learn of it in such an elegantly written fashion Doris Grumbach The most lively witty uncensored celebration of the life of a writer woman lover wife mother stepmother against the history of her time and what a time it was and is No futile cry of ME but bold and brilliant portraits of where we have been and where we are headed Brava Burroway o Julia Markus Past Praise for Janet Burroway She writes like a robust Angel London Guardian on Raw Silk A fine and complex novel a comedy and then some New Yorker on Opening Nights a novel of rare and lustrous quality Newsweek on Raw Silk What sets Raw Silk apart is Janet Burroway s superb stylistic gifts New York Times Book Review Miss Burroway's gifts are those of a fine intuitive actress, one of those rare accomplished stylists whose art lies in the air of effortlessness or near invisibility. New Statesman on The Buzzards: For people like me, these essays on life are instructive. Their titles reveal their central themes, but Burroway feels confident and free to range wide from the main trunk, looping out into her life and her metaphors, then back again, probing through and confessing all, because for the real writer who has come so far, it seems now there is no point in not. Fourth Genre: Janet Burroway followed in the footsteps of Sylvia Plath. Like Plath, she was an early Mademoiselle guest editor in New York, an Ivy League and Cambridge student, an aspiring poet, playwright, novelist in the period before feminism existed, a woman who struggled with her generation's conflicting demands of work and love. Unlike Plath, Janet Burroway survived. In sixteen essays of wit, rage, and reconciliation, Embalming Mom chronicles loss and renaissance in a life that reaches from Florida to Arizona, across to England and home again. Burroway brilliantly weaves her way through the dangers of daily life: divorcing her first husband, raising two boys, establishing a new life, scattering her mother's ashes, and sorting the meager possessions of her father. Each new danger and challenge highlights the tenacious will of the body and spirit to heal. Ordinary life is more dangerous than war because nobody survives. Burroway contemplates in the essay Danger and Domesticity yet each of her meditations reminds us that it's our daily rituals and trials that truly keep us alive. Janet Burroway is the author of plays, poetry, children's books, and seven novels, including The Buzzards, Raw Silk, Opening Nights, and Cutting Stone. Her textbook Writing Fiction now in its fifth edition is used in more than three hundred colleges and universities in the United States; a further text, Imaginative Writing, is due out in 2002. She is Robert O. Lawton Distinguished Professor at Florida State University in Tallahassee.

The trusted classic covers the long history of embalming, explains embalming theory, and describes present practice, including the latest trends. Special attention has been given to the creation of a safe working environment from the standpoint of ergonomics, personal hygiene, and the use of embalming chemicals. Expanded technical areas of the book will assist you in the preparation of the body for viewing without using standard embalming chemicals. The fifth edition is also enhanced by a full-color 12-page insert demonstrating restorative arts and mortuary cosmetology. Turn to the field's leading text for unmatched coverage of legal, social, and technical considerations of embalming: health and regulatory standards, chemicals and methods, specific conditions and causes of death that influence the type of embalming, special cosmetic applications, and restorative procedures, preparation of organ and tissue donors.
