leading Marxian philosopher of our day is a milestone in human self understanding It focuses on the location where action emerges from freedom and necessity the foundation of all social science Today as never before the investigation of the close relationship between social structure defined by Marx as arising from the life process of definite individuals and the various forms of consciousness is particularly important We can only perceive what is possible by first identifying the historical process that constrains consciousness itself and therefore social action The relationship between social structure and forms of consciousness discussed in this volume is multifaceted and profoundly dialectical It requires the presentation of a great wealth of historical material and the assessment of the relevant philosophical literature from Descartes through Hegel and the Liberal tradition to the present together with their connections with political economy and political theory István Mészáros moves beyond both abstract solutions to the surveyed methodological questions and one-sided structuralist evaluation of the important substantive issues bringing the process of our understanding of social structure and consciousness to a level not previously attained Above all in the spirit of the Marxian approach even the most complicated problems are analyzed in relation to the major practical concerns of our time The primary aim of this work is to outline the dialectical intelligibility of historical development toward a viable societal reproductive order Social Structure and Forms of Consciousness is of the highest importance as both a political and philosophical work illuminating the place from where we must act today Publisher's note Elements of Social Organization Raymond Firth, 2004 An illuminating introduction to the methods and problems of social anthropology this book draws on a wide range of illustrations including Raymond Firth's own experiences in New Zealand Malaya and the Solomon Islands The concept of social organisation is discussed with special reference to the role of individual choice and decision in social affairs and the nature of social change Social organisation in relation to economic aesthetic moral and religious values is also examined First published in 1951 This re-issue is of the third 1961 edition

Zolberg, 1990-02-23 At a time when a pile of bricks is displayed in a museum when music is composed for performance underwater and the boundaries between popular and fine art are fluid conventional understandings of art are strained in describing what art is what it includes or excludes whether and how it should be evaluated and what importance should be assigned the arts in society In this book Vera Zolberg examines diverse theoretical approaches to the study of the arts Ranging over humanistic and social scientific views representing a variety of scholarly traditions American and European she then develops a sociological approach that evaluates the institutional economic and political influences on the creation of art while also affirming the importance of the question of artistic quality The author examines the arts in the social contexts in which they are created and appreciated focusing on the ways in which people become artists the institutions in which their careers develop the supports and pressures they face the publics they need to please and the political forces with which they must contend Particular subjects covered include the process by which works are created and re created at different times with changed meanings and for new social uses the role of the audience in the realization of artistic experiences the social consequences of taste preferences the reasons for change in artistic styles and for the coexistence of many art forms and styles
