Learning to Teach Art and Design in the Secondary School is established as the key text for all those preparing to become art and design teachers in the secondary school. It explores a range of approaches to teaching and learning and provides a conceptual and practical framework for understanding the diverse nature of art and design in the secondary school curriculum. Written by experts in the field, it aims to inform and inspire to challenge orthodoxies and encourage a freshness of vision. It provides support and guidance for learning and teaching in art and design, suggesting strategies to motivate and engage pupils in making, discussing and evaluating visual and material culture. The third edition has been comprehensively updated and re-structured in light of the latest theory, research and policy in the field and includes new chapters surveying assessment and examinations and exploring identity and diversity in art and design. Essential topics include Ways of learning in art and design, Planning for teaching and learning, Critical studies and methods for investigating art and design, Inclusion, Assessment, Issues in craft and design education, Drawing, sculpture, Your own continuing professional development, Including suggestions for further reading and a range of tasks designed to encourage you to reflect critically on your practice. Learning to Teach Art and Design in the Secondary School addresses issues for student teachers and mentors on all initial teacher education courses in Art and Design. It will also be of relevance and value to teachers in school with designated responsibility for supervision.

The Art and Craft of Pedagogy Richard Hickman, 2011-09-22 Richard Hickman considers effective teaching across the curriculum, examining the notion that successful teachers of art and design are amongst the best teachers of any subject, with much to offer outside their discipline in terms of pedagogy. The case study approach focuses on adolescent learning, although much of what is considered is applicable to all ages and phases of education. To consider the following questions: What are the characteristics of successful art teaching? How do individual life experiences inform art teachers' teaching? How, in turn, might others benefit from their pedagogical practices? Using self-portraiture, autoethnography and autobiography, Hickman draws together the varied experiences of a group of art teachers to explore a range of issues, including identity, learning environment and the nature of the teacher-learner relationship, which are discussed with clarity and imagination.

The Craft of Teaching Kenneth E. Eble, Kenneth Eugene Eble, 1988 This edition of Kenneth E. Eble's 1976 classic on college teaching has been hailed as one of the best books ever published on this topic. It offers fresh insights on issues of enduring importance: from how students learn, how to make the best use of the classroom, to the nuts and bolts of assignments, tests, grades, textbooks. Eble includes entirely new chapters on developing critical thinking, on how to motivate both students and faculty. He provides new material on the impact of computer-aided instruction, on mentoring, as well as on the myths of teaching. Many other topics originally covered in the 1st ed. CTE.
