Risk IV C. A. Brebbia, 2007 Health problems related to the environment have become a major source of concern all over the world The health of the population depends upon good quality air water soil food and many other factors The aim of society is to establish measures that can eliminate or considerably reduce factors hazardous to the human environment to minimize the associated health risks The ability to achieve these objectives is greatly dependant on the development of suitable experimental modelling and interpretive techniques which allow a balanced assessment of the risk involved as well as suggesting ways in which the situation can be improved The interaction between environmental risk and health is often complex and can involve a variety of social occupational and lifestyle factors This emphasizes the importance of considering an interdisciplinary approach Containing papers presented at the Fourth International Conference on The Impact of Environmental Factors on Health The topics discussed will be of interest to a wide readership including health specialists in government and industry as well as researchers involved within the broad area of environmental health risk Featured topics include Risk Analysis Air Pollution Water quality issues Electromagnetic Fields Food contamination Occupational Health Remediation Social and Economic Issues Housing and Health Radiation Fields Education and Training Accident and man made risks Preserving and Enhancing California's Drinking Water California Water Resources Center,1975

Keeping Pace with Science and Engineering National Academy of Engineering,1993-02-01 The technical basis of environmental regulation is always at the edge of scientific and engineering understanding As knowledge improves questions will inevitably arise about past decisions Understanding how the regulatory system accommodates changing scientific and engineering knowledge is vital for achieving environmental values In this new volume seven case studies shed light on the interplay between environmental regulation and scientific and engineering understanding with practical conclusions on how science and engineering should be used for more sound and timely regulatory decision making The book provides helpful timelines of scientific and regulatory developments for the cases which include Factors impeding clean up strategies in the Chesapeake Bay Pivotal questions in the regulation of ambient ozone concentrations How science has been heeded but also ignored in regulation of new municipal waste combustors Impact of scientific findings on control of chlorination by products Acid rain and what can be learned about research and public policy debate Controversy over the need for formaldehyde regulation The effect of public perception on management decisions concerning dioxin This volume will be of practical interest to policymakers business and environmental advocates scientists engineers researchers attorneys faculty and students
