Drug Education in Schools Christine Eiser,J. Richard Eiser,2012-12-06 Double Take is a drug education package produced by the Department of Health and Social Security United Kingdom This video package was distributed at no cost to all secondary schools catering to students from eleven years onwards in England and Wales during 1986 This book reports the results of a research evaluation of this educational package particularly in terms of its acceptability to teachers and pupils The evaluation discussed in this book was conducted deliberately within the context of organizational and methodological restrictions The primary concern was less with the potential effectiveness of Double Take under optimal conditions Rather the investigators were interested in the ways in which teachers themselves chose to adopt and integrate the package within existing courses and with the restrictions of pupils in their schools Drug Education in Schools Christine Eiser,John Richard Eiser,1988-01-01 Why Evaluate Drug Education? National Institute on Drug Abuse. Division of Resource Development. Prevention Branch,Southern Regional Education Board,1975 Evaluation of the Scotland Against Drugs Primary School Initiative Training Kevin Lowden,Janet Powney,2001 Scotland Against Drugs a privately funded partnership launched a national staff development program known as the Primary School Initiative PSI The initiative provides an opportunity for schools and local authorities to evaluate their drug education efforts The training encourages teachers to develop their own drug education policies and teaching approaches in line with established guidance on best practices An evaluation of PSI from 1998 to 2001 included a survey of participants 1 133 and follow up interviews observations of training events and interviews with trainers and local authorities involved The evaluation determined that the PSI training has a positive impact on the knowledge confidence and abilities of participating teachers to plan and teach drug education in primary schools It suggested that further research is needed on how to develop appropriate forms of drug education with related training for teachers how to work with secondary schools and how best to promote work with parents in the field of drug education JDM Drug Education United States.
