A Search For God In Time And Memory:

A Search for God in Time and Memory John S. Dunne, 1975 The Subjective Eye Richard Valantasis, Deborah J. Haynes, James D. Smith, Janet F. Carlson, 2006-05-15 One of the great joys of the academic life is to pay homage in a Festschrift to a scholar who has influenced both colleagues and students over years of interaction and friendship both professional and personal This volume honors a scholar and theologian of historical theology a theorist and a practitioner of religion and the arts and a keen analyst of cultural trends both ancient and modern Margaret R Miles's prodigious production as a scholar has legendary qualities Her dozen plus books alone explore history patristics ancient philosophy art and art history spiritual formation and religious practice critical theory film ethics and values personal growth gender and women's studies as well as her true academic loves Augustine and Plotinus The breadth and depth of her own work and her influence upon others demands an expansive volume which the editors of this Festschrift unfortunately had to restrict to four categories Historical Theology Religion and Culture Religion and Gender and Religion and the Visual Arts in order to capture the heart of our appreciation for her from the Introduction Engaging with Bediuzzaman Said Nursi Ian S. Markham, 2016-04-29 Too often interfaith dialogue is generic and unfocused Often it involves liberals from each tradition coming together to criticize the conservatives in their own traditions This book provides a model for interfaith dialogue that challenges very directly the dialogue industry This book involves a Christian theologian in deep conversation with a Muslim theologian Bediuzzaman Said Nursi 1877-1960 was born at the end of the Ottoman Empire and lived through the emergence of an aggressive secular state He had to think through in remarkably creative ways the challenge of faith within a secular environment the relationship of faith and politics and the implications and challenge of diversity and difference His entire project is captured in his magnum opus The Risale i Nur In the first eight chapters of this book we engage closely with the thought of Nursi and tease out insights that Christians can learn from and accommodate Having established the method the second section of the book examines the precise implications for the interfaith movement The problem with the interfaith movement is that it is an act of western cultural imperialism they are taking the individualist assumptions of modern America and imposing them on the conversation The problems with John Hick's and Leonard Swidler's approach are exposed Moving out from Islam the book then demonstrates how the model of interfaith changes when Christians are in conversation with Hinduism in India A new set of Dialogue Ten Commandments are suggested The book concludes with an appeal for a commitment to include and reach the conservatives in the major religious traditions Original Gravity Mark Allan Kaplan, 2003 The Promise of Narrative Theology George W. Stroup, 1997-09-18 This book is an experiment in systematic theology It is an attempt to see if a particular interpretation of Christian narrative speaks to the situation of Christians in affluent western cultures a context in which Christian identity is increasingly problematic Stroup's work purposes to determine if the use of narrative in theology casts any new light on what Christians mean by revelation the doctrine some

Christian theologians have appealed to as the basis for what Christians know and confess about God Towards a Theology of Story John J. Navone, 1977 The Aryan Path Sophia Wadia, 1976 The Strategic Smorgasbord of Postmodernity Deborah Bowen, 2011-05-25 Contemporary Christian critique often talks about postmodernism apocalyptically in terms of cultural crisis and decline instead the contributors to this volume believe that there is a new place for Christian entr es on the academic Smorgasbord of postmodernity and they see the postmodern turn as an opportunity for fresh perspectives on the spiritual dimensions of reading literature These twenty scholars are an eclectic group differing in theological and theoretical commitments but all identifying as Christian In this collection they enter into dialogue with a wide range of contemporary literary theorists and theoretical perspectives and offer new readings of primary texts informed by both these theoretical constructs and their Christian faith The manuscript strikes out in important new directions in its sympathetic reading of postmodern theory from a Christian perspective and even more significantly in its careful and measured dialogic approach to the relationship of Christian thought and contemporary literary theory Daniel Coleman Canada Research Chair in Critical Ethnicity and Race Studies Department of English and Cultural Studies McMaster University Too often Christian literary critics and theologians have preemptively dismissed postmodern theory even as secular critics have been equally dismissive about the contributions that the Christian faith tradition makes to the study of literature This volume successfully brings these two worlds together in innovative at times challenging and always rich ways I do not know of a similar volume in existence a work that gathers in one convenient publication a wide ranging set of discussions of contemporary literary theory by Christian scholars The editor has gathered an impressive and important set of papers here and I believe the volume will raise much interest and provoke a good deal of constructive debate Susan VanZanten Gallagher Professor of English Director Center for Scholarship and Faculty Development Seattle Pacific University The Cambridge Companion to Augustine's "Confessions" Tarmo Toom, 2020-03-05 Presents the best scholarship on Augustine s Confessions which will facilitate a better understanding of this masterpiece Memory, History, Forgetting Paul Ricoeur, 2024-05-31 A noted philosopher examines the morality behind recognizing specific historical moments while leaving equally important ones unacknowledged Why do major historical events such as the Holocaust occupy the forefront of the collective consciousness while profound moments such as the Armenian genocide the McCarthy era and France s role in North Africa stand distantly behind Is it possible that history overly remembers some events at the expense of others A landmark work in philosophy Paul Ricoeur s Memory History Forgetting examines this reciprocal relationship between remembering and forgetting showing how it affects both the perception of historical experience and the production of historical narrative Memory History Forgetting like its title is divided into three major sections Ricoeur first takes a phenomenological approach to memory and mnemonical devices The underlying question here is how a memory of the present can be of something absent the past The second section addresses work by historians by reopening the question of the nature and truth of historical knowledge Ricoeur explores whether historians who can write a history of memory can truly break with all dependence on memory including memories that resist representation The third and final section is a profound meditation on the necessity of forgetting as a condition for the possibility of remembering and whether there can be something like happy forgetting in parallel to happy memory Throughout the book there are careful and close readings of the texts of Aristotle and Plato of Descartes and Kant and of Halbwachs and Pierre Nora A momentous achievement from one of the most significant philosophers of our age Memory History Forgetting furthers Ricoeur's reflections on ethics and the problems of responsibility and representation chapters of The Therapist's Notebook for Integrating Spirituality in Counseling II are grouped into four sections: Models of Therapy Used in Integrating Spirituality; Integrating Spirituality with Age-Specific Populations: Children, Adolescents, and the Elderly; Integrating Spirituality with Specific Multicultural Populations; and Involving Spirituality when Dealing with Illness, Loss, and Trauma. As in Volume One, each clinician-friendly chapter also includes sections on resources where the counselor can learn more about the topic or technique used in the chapter, as well as suggested books, articles, chapters, videos, and Web sites to recommend to clients. Every chapter follows the same easy-to-follow format: objectives, rationale for use, instructions, brief vignette, suggestions for follow-up, contraindications, references, professional readings, and resources and bibliotherapy sources for the client. The Therapist's Notebook for Integrating Spirituality in Counseling II adds more useful activities and homework counselors can use in their practice, such as using religion or spirituality in solution-oriented brief therapy, Cast of Character counseling using early memories to explore adolescent and adult spirituality, cognitive-behavioral treatment of obsessive-compulsive disorder, age-specific clients such as children or the elderly, multicultural populations and spirituality, dealing with illness, loss, and trauma, recovering from fetal loss, creative art techniques with caregivers in group counseling, and much more. The Therapist's Notebook for Integrating Spirituality in Counseling II provides even more creative and helpful homework and activities that are perfect for pastoral counselors, clergy, social workers, marriage and family therapists, counselors, psychologists, Christian counselors, educators who teach professional issues, ethics, counseling, and multicultural issues, and students.

Autobiographical Quests Elizabeth De Mijolla, 1994. Posits two approaches to writing autobiography: that which records events in the order they happened and as they were perceived at the time, and that which interprets the past in light of subsequent experience and is more or less achronological. Shows how Augustine represents the first approach and how the other three express varying divergence from strict temporal order. Annotation copyright by Book News Inc, Portland, OR.

Tragedy in Ethics and Law Timo Slootweg, 2025-10-02. This book explores the relationship between tragedy and the justice that is sought in moral philosophy and the law. It shows how our moral and legal judgments can be seen as aesthetic or tragic judgments and it considers what kind of passion or vocation moves the science and scholarship of law. It questions how democracy relates to the tragic dimension of existence and the conscience of so-called democratic man. Using Nietzsche as a point of departure, these considerations fuel a tragic creative ethics as well as an artistic excellence that promises to be vital both in theory and also in the practice of democracy, lawgiving, and adjudication. From Nietzsche's call to revive tragic thought to the voices of Pascal, Kierkegaard, Dostoevsky, Buber, and Tillich, a new path unfolds, one that reconnects law with life, creativity, and conscience. This book is of interest to researchers, advanced students, and professionals interested in the relationship between aesthetics, ethics, and the basic foundations of law prior to a rationalist and positivist science of jurisprudence.
