Mandated Sphere of the Cameroons for the Year ..., 1955 The Muzzled Muse Margreet de Lange, 1997-04-10 The long history of censorship is a parallel and equally powerful history of literature Censors bear witness to the power of the word even more forcefully than the writers and the readers they consider dangerous Index on Censorship 6 1996 A critical assessment of literature produced under censorship needs to take into account that the strategies of the censors are answered by strategies of the writers and the readers To recognize self censoring strategies in writing it is necessary to know the specific restrictions of the censorship regime in question In South Africa under apartheid all writers were confronted with the question of how to respond to the pressure of censorship This confrontation took a different form however depending on what group the writer belonged to and what language he/she used By looking at white writers writing in Afrikaans and white and black writers writing in English this book gives the impact of censorship on South African literature a comparative examination which it has not received before The book considers works by J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer Andr Brink and others less known to readers outside South Africa like Karel Schoeman Louis Kruger Christopher Hope Miriam Tlali and Mtutuzeli Matshoba It treats the censorship laws of the apartheid regime as well as in the final chapter the new law of the Mandela government which shows some surprising similarities to its predecessor Margreet de Lange teaches Comparative Literature at Utrecht University and coordinates the University's interdisciplinary program of South African Studies She received her Ph D from the Graduate Center of the City University of New York De Lange expertly sketches in the historical and literary backgrounds as she goes taking us right up to the recent unsatisfactory revision of the censorship laws making The Muzzled Muse a vitally important summary of literary censorship in South Africa and a handbook of what to guard against in the future Shaun de Waal Mail Guardian Sept 26 to October 1 1997 Web Information Systems and

Micronesian Reporter ,1976 Information Circular ,1949 Human Rights, Inc. Joseph R. Slaughter, 2009-08-25 In this timely study of the historical ideological and formal interdependencies of the novel and human rights Joseph Slaughter demonstrates that the twentieth century rise of world literature and international human rights law are related phenomena Slaughter argues that international law shares with the modern novel a particular conception of the human individual The Bildungsroman the novel of coming of age fills out this image offering a conceptual vocabulary a humanist social vision and a narrative grammar for what the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and early literary theorists both call the free and full development of the human personality Revising our received understanding of the relationship between law and literature Slaughter suggests that this narrative form has acted as a cultural surrogate for the weak executive authority of international law naturalizing the assumptions and conditions that make human rights appear commonsensical As a kind of novelistic correlative to human rights law the Bildungsroman has thus been doing some of the sociocultural work of enforcement that the law cannot do for itself This analysis of the cultural work of law and of the social work of literature challenges traditional Eurocentric histories of both international law and the dissemination of the novel Taking his point of departure in Goethe's Wilhelm Meister Slaughter focuses on recent postcolonial versions of the coming of age story to show how the promise of human rights becomes legible in narrative and how the novel and the law are complicit in contemporary projects of globalization in colonialism neoimperialism humanitarianism and the spread of multinational consumer capitalism Slaughter raises important practical and ethical questions that we must confront in advocating for human rights and reading world literature imperatives that today more than ever are intertwined I Don't Rent, I Rent Preston Byrd, 2019-02-01 I Don't Rent I Rent is a how to book that describes the development process in detail In this book Preston Byrd briefly discusses his business background and lays out a step by step process for how to develop multifamily housing The steps that are outlined in this book will equip you with the information you need to completely change your life from the way you know it today This guide will give you an account of how he successfully entered into the world of real estate development The reader will learn how taking time to develop a plan of action and what will work best for them is critical Also the importance of understanding the market and the housing needs that are of interested to you Other key items that are discussed include 1 Understanding how to structure the right legal entity 2 How to put together the best development team 3 Identifying a great site to build on 4 Getting your project financed 5 Managing the asset after development These tips will equip you with the tools you need to get a head start in the development business

Recalling the Caliphate S. Sayyid, 2022-06-13 As late as the last quarter of the twentieth century there were expectations that Islam s political and cultural influence would dissipate as the advance of westernization brought modernisation and secularisation in its wake Not only has Islam failed to follow the trajectory pursued by variants of Christianity namely confinement to the private sphere and depoliticisation but it has also forcefully re asserted itself as mobilisations in its name challenge the global order in a series of geopolitical cultural and philosophical struggles The continuing if not growing relevance of Islam suggests that global history cannot simply be presented as a scaled up version of that of the West Quests for Muslim autonomy present themselves in several forms local and global extremist and moderate conservative and revisionist in the light of which the recycling of conventional narratives about Islam becomes increasingly problematic Not only are these accounts inadequate for understanding Muslim experiences but by relying on them many Western governments pursue policies that are counter productive and ultimately hazardous for Muslims and non Muslims alike Recalling the Caliphate engages critically with the interaction between Islam and the political in context of a post colonial world that continues to resist profound decolonisation In the first part of this book Sayyid focuses on how demands for Muslim autonomy are debated in terms such as democracy cultural relativism secularism and liberalism Each chapter analyses the displacements and evasions by which the decolonisation of the Muslim world continues to be deflected and deferred while the latter part of the book builds on this critique and attempts to accelerate the decolonisation of the Muslim Ummah

Gender Mainstreaming Experiences from Eastern and Southern Africa Matebu Tadesse, Abiye Daniel, 2010 Mainstreaming a gender perspective is the process of assessing the implications for women and men of any planned action including legislation policies or programmes in any area and at all levels It is a strategy for making the concerns and experiences of women as well as of men an integral part of the design implementation monitoring and evaluation of policies and programmes in all political economic and societal spheres so that women and men benefit equally and inequality is not perpetuated The ultimate goal of mainstreaming is to achieve gender equality This work explores the experiences of Kenya Tanzania and Ethiopia from Eastern Africa and Malawi Zambia Zimbabwe Botswana and Swaziland from Southern Africa All cases show the varied attempts to mainstream gender at national institutional and civil society levels including grassroots experiences
