Simmons, 2010-09-29 Is there any hope for a more sustainable world Can we reimagine a way of living in which the nonhuman world matters Anne Marie Dalton and Henry C Simmons claim that the ecotheology that arose during the mid twentieth century gives us reason for hope While ecotheologians acknowledge that Christianity played a significant role in creating societies in which the nonhuman world counted for very little these thinkers have refocused religion to include the natural world To borrow philosopher Charles Taylor's concept they have created a new social imaginary reimagining a better world and a different sense of what is and what should be A new mindset is emerging inspired by ecotheological texts and evident in the many diverse movements and activities that operate as if the hope imparted by ecotheology has already been realized While making this powerful argument Dalton and Simmons also provide an essential overview of key ecotheological thinkers and texts Towards a Sociology of Hope Guido Gili, Emiliana Mangone, 2024-12-02 Why does hope appear in certain epochs and places only at other times to disappear from people's lives and from society as a whole This book addresses hope from a sociological perspective offering a theoretical framework and a set of concepts to consider a range of questions With attention to who the historical bearers of hope are and which social groups are most inclined towards hope and why It also considers the objects and goals towards which their hope is directed and the conditions under which hope is easier An enquiry into the relationship between hope and social cultural economic and critical moment in the history of human life on earth and explores how we find grounds for the hopes that will enable us to address the challenges and crises of our time The author analyses hope both practically and philosophically as a generative virtue to realistically discern the situations in which we find ourselves and imaginatively to anticipate possibilities when the future is unknown and uncertain The author argues that hope is a mean between anomy disillusionment and despair on the one hand and wishful thinking dreaming and fanaticizing on the other hand The book not only examines and analyzes from a historical perspective the contemporary crises such as climate change environmental degradation and its effects such as the social costs of these developments but also further analyzes the character and micro dynamics of hope and how it makes a difference in how we manage the crises which inevitably emerge Though contemporary crises are those we tend to focus on the author also engages with what is involved in a due regard for history and the relevance of a sense of history for addressing the crises of our time He shows us what we can learn from revisiting some thoughtful reflections by thinkers like Niebuhr Jaspers Camus and Arendt Finally the author shows us what is involved practically in anticipating possibilities by looking at hope as a social practice and noting how hopeful people make a difference

The Aesthetics of Hope in Late Greek Imperial Literature Dawn LaValle Norman, 2019-12-05 This book sheds light on a relatively dark period of literary history the late third century CE a period that falls between the Second Sophistic and Late Antiquity It argues that more was being written during this time than past scholars have realized and takes as its prime example the understudied Christian writer Methodius of Olympus Among his many works this book focuses on his dialogic Symposium a text which exposes an era's new concern to re-orient the gaze of a generation from the past onto the future Dr LaValle Norman makes the further argument that scholarship on the Imperial period that does not include Christian writers within its purview misses the richness of this period which was one of deepening interaction between Christian and non-Christian writers Only through recovering this conversation can we understand the transitional period that led to the rise of Constantine Daily Gifts of Hope Women of Faith, 2012 The gifts of hope in this daily devotional will guide you to give your whole heart to God reach out to Him for help put away sin and refuse to entertain evil in your home Introduction Whispers of Hope Anna Cristina Manalastas, Farzana Habib, Emma Yadani, Julia Vellucci, Leslie Dulfo, Miel M.
