Screening Love and War in Troy: Fall of a City Antony Augoustakis,Monica S. Cyrino,2022-01-13 This is the first volume of essays published on the television series Troy Fall of a City BBC One and Netflix 2018 Covering a wide range of engaging topics such as gender race and politics international scholars in the fields of classics history and film studies discuss how the story of Troy has been recreated on screen to suit the expectations of modern audiences The series is commended for the thought provoking way it handles important issues arising from the Trojan War narrative that continue to impact our society today With discussions centered on epic narrative cast and character as well as tragic resonances the contributors tackle gender roles by exploring the innovative ways in which mythological female figures such as Helen Aphrodite and the Amazons are depicted in the series An examination is also made into the concept of the hero and how the series challenges conventional representations of masculinity We encounter a significant investigation of race focusing on the controversial casting of Achilles Patroclus Zeus and other series characters with Black actors Several essays deal with the moral and ethical complexities surrounding warfare power and politics The significance of costume and production design are also explored throughout the volume Popular Representations of Development David Lewis,Dennis Rodgers,Michael Woolcock,2014-01-23 Although the academic study of development is well established as is also its policy implementation less considered are the broader more popular understandings of development that often shape agendas and priorities particularly in representative democracies Through its accessible and provocative chapters Popular Representations of Development introduces the idea that while the issue of development defined broadly as problems of poverty and social deprivation and the various agencies and processes seeking to address these is normally one that is discussed by social scientists and policy makers it also has a wider popular dimension Development is something that can be understood through studying literature films and other non conventional forms of representation It is also a public issue one that has historically been associated with musical movements such as Live Aid and increasingly features in newer media such as blogs and social networking The book connects the effort to build a more holistic understanding of development issues with an exploration of the diverse public sphere in which popular engagement with development takes place This book gives students of development studies media studies and geography as well as students in the humanities engaging with global development issues a variety of perspectives from different disciplines to open up this new field for discussion
