The Organization of Cities John R Miron, 2017-01-20 This book focuses on the relationship between the state and economy in the development of cities It reviews and reinterprets fundamental theoretical models that explain how the operation of markets in equilibrium shapes the scale and organization of the commercial city in a mixed market economy within a liberal state These models link markets for the factors of production markets for investment and fixed capital formation markets for transportation and markets for exports in equilibrium both within the urban economy and the rest of the world In each case the model explains the urban economy by revealing how assumptions about causes and structures lead to predictions about scale and organization outcomes By simplifying and contrasting these models this book proposes another interpretation that governance and the urban economy are outcomes negotiated by political actors motivated by competing notions of commonwealth and the individual desire for wealth and power The book grounds its analysis in economic history explaining the rise of commercial cities and the emergence of the urban economy It then turns to factors of production export and factor markets introducing and parsing the Mills model breaking it down into its component parts and creating a series of simpler models that can better explain the significance of each economic assumption Simplified models are also presented for real estate and fixed capital investment markets transportation and land use planning The book concludes with a discussion of linear programming and the Herbert Stevens and the Ripper Varaiya models A fresh presentation of the theories behind urban economics this book emphasizes the links between state and economy and challenges the reader to see its theories in a new light As such this book will be of interest to scholars students and practitioners of economics public policy public administration urban policy and city and urban planning

Cities, Space and Power Amira Osman,2020-12-31 The scholarly purpose of this manuscript is to provide a resource for academics and researchers looking into cities space and power in emerging economies It also takes into consideration the relationship between emerging economies and developing contexts as well as the lessons that may be shared between them This book presents a unique perspective and aims to highlight issues not addressed much in writing on the built environment Based on substantiation and references to numerous other sources and authors alternative theoretical frameworks for the study of the built environment are developed This is a very relevant contribution at this time especially as cities will most probably go through transformations in the post COVID 19 era Our first line of defense against this public health crisis will be in areas of poverty with people who have generally been excluded and urban practices that have been undocumented or labeled as informal The main thesis of the manuscript is that space and power are strongly linked in cities The research results prevalent in the book are original and while the authors consult widely across disciplines the themes are firmly rooted in the built environment fields with a focus on the architectural discipline

Urban Regeneration in the UK Andrew Tallon,2009-08-21 Exploring the streets of London Manchester Belfast Edinburgh or Cardiff one cannot help but notice the striking transformations taking place in the urban landscapes This prominent regeneration of urban areas in the UK and around the world has become an increasingly important issue amongst governments and populations The growing concern has been a result of the impacts of the decline of cities since the collapse of manufacturing industries and the heightening of global competition A range of innovative approaches to tackle urban problems have been taken over many decades to attempt to regenerate the fortunes of towns and cities across the UK This text provides an accessible yet critical synthesis of urban regeneration in the UK incorporating key policies approaches issues and debates The central objective of the book is to place the historical and contemporary regeneration agenda into context Section one sets up the conceptual and policy framework for urban regeneration in the UK SectionTwo traces policies that have been adopted by central government to influence the social economic and physical development of cities including early municipal interventions in the late nineteenth century community focused urban policies of the late 1960s entrepreneurial property led regeneration of the 1980s and competition for urban funds in the 1990s The penultimate section illustrates the key thematic policies and strategies that have been pursued by cities themselves focusing particularly on improving economic competitiveness and tackling social disadvantage These approaches are contextualized by discussions covering for example urban competitiveness policies and the focus on sustainable urban regeneration The final section summarizes key issues and debates facing urban regeneration and speculates upon future directions Urban Regeneration in the UK blends the approaches taken by central government programmes and cities themselves in the regeneration process The latest ideas and examples from across disciplines and across the UK's urban areas are illustrated This book provides a comprehensive and up to date synthesis that will fill a significant gap in the current literature on regeneration and will be a tool for students as well as a seminal read for practitioners and researchers

Ecopolis Paul F. Downton, 2008-11-19 From 2008 for the first time in human history half of the world's population now live in cities Yet despite a wealth of literature on green architecture and planning there is to date no single book which draws together theory from the full range of disciplines from architecture planning and ecology which we must come to grips with if we are to design future cities which are genuinely sustainable Paul Downton's Ecopolis takes a major step along this path It highlights the urgent need to understand the role of cities as both agents of change and means of survival at a time when climate change has finally grabbed world attention and it provides a framework for designing cities that integrates knowledge both academic and practical from a range of relevant disciplines Identifying key theorists practitioners places and philosophies the book provides a solid theoretical context which introduces the concept of urban fractals and goes on to present a series of design and planning tools for achieving Sustainable Human Ecological Development SHED Combining knowledge from diverse fields to present a synthesis of urban ecology the book will provide a valuable resource for students researchers and practitioners in architecture construction planning geography and the traditional life sciences

Conscious Cities Anthology 2021: The Person Space Continuum Elizabeth Kostina, 2021-11-05

Introduction to Cities Xiangming Chen, Anthony M. Orum, Krista E. Paulsen, 2018-02-23 The revised and updated second edition of Introduction to Cities explores why cities are such a vital part of the human experience and how they shape our everyday lives Written in engaging and accessible terms Introduction to Cities examines the study of cities through two central concepts that cities are places where people live form communities and establish their own identities and that they are spaces such as the inner city and the suburb that offer a way to configure and shape the material world and natural environment Introduction to Cities covers the theory of cities from an historical perspective right through to the most recent theoretical developments The authors offer a balanced account of life in cities and explore both positive and negative themes In addition the text takes a global approach with examples ranging from Berlin and Chicago to Shanghai and Mumbai The book is extensively illustrated with updated maps charts tables and photographs This new edition also includes a new section on urban planning as well as new chapters on cities as contested spaces exploring power and politics in an urban context It contains information on the status of poor and marginalized groups and the impact of neoliberal policies material on gender and sexuality and presents a greater range of geographies with more attention to European Latin American and African cities Revised and updated Introduction to Cities provides a complete introduction to the history evolution and future of our modern cities

The Institutions of Extraterrestrial Liberty Charles S. Cockell, 2022-12-09 The exploration of space raises new problems in the expression of human freedoms While the potential to establish new extraterrestrial settlements is thrilling it also brings along a myriad of decisions to consider when addressing how these settlements should operate in a way which maintains human liberties In this book many dimensions of freedom in space are discussed Aspects of liberty beyond Earth from the near term freedom to claim satellite orbits to the very long term freedom on interstellar worldships are considered Gathering a diverse set of expertise from scientists ethicists lawyers philosophers and social scientists they seek to collectively answer questions such as How should early governance structures be assembled What are the ideal forms of institutions from science academies to schools and governments What freedoms can people expect in space and how will governance beyond Earth tread the fine line between authority and liberty A compelling analysis of liberties on Earth the solar system and beyond this text is bound to inspire the interests of academics and scientists alike

From Socialist to Post-Socialist Cities Alexander C. Diener, Joshua Hagen, 2016-04-14 The development of post socialist cities has become a major field of study among critical theorists from across the social sciences and humanities Originally constructed under the dictates of central planners and designed to serve the demands of command economies post socialist urban centers currently develop at the nexus of varied and often competing economic cultural and political forces Among these nationalist aspirations previously simmering beneath the official rhetoric of communist fraternity and veneer of architectural conformity have emerged as dominant factors shaping the urban landscape This book explores this burgeoning field of research through detailed cases studies relating to the cultural politics of architecture urban planning and identity in the post socialist cities of Eurasia This book was published as a special issue of Nationalities Papers

Filming in European Cities Ipek A. Celik Rappas, 2025-03-15 Filming in European Cities explores the effort behind creating screen production locations Ipek A Celik Rappas accounts the rising demand for original and affordable locations for screen projects due to the growth of streaming platforms As a result screen professionals are repeatedly tasked with chores such as transforming a former factory in Istanbul to resemble a war zone in Aleppo or finding a London street that evokes Barcelona Celik Rappas highlights the pivotal role crew members play in transforming cities and locations into functional screen settings Examining five European media capitals Athens Belfast Berlin Istanbul and Paris the book delves into the overlooked aspects of location related screen labor and its ability to generate production value Filming in European Cities demonstrates that in its perpetual quest for authentic filming locations

the screen industry extracts value from cities and neighborhoods their marginalized residents and screen labor enriching itself through this triple exploitation Cities in Globalization Peter Taylor, Ben Derudder, Pieter Saey, Frank Witlox, 2006-11-20 Despite traditionally being a strong research topic in urban studies inter city relations had become grossly neglected until recently when it was placed back on the research agenda with the advent of studies of world global cities More recently the external relations of cities have taken their place alongside internal relations within cities to constitute the full nature of cities This collection of essays on how and why cities are connecting to each other in a globalizing world provides evidence for a new city centered geography that is emerging in the twenty first century Cities in Globalization covers four key themes beginning with the different ways of measuring a world city network ranging from analyses of corporate structures to airline passenger flows Second is the recent European advances in studying urban systems which are compared to the Anglo American city networks approach These chapters add conceptual vigour to traditional themes and provide findings on European cities in globalization Thirdly the political implications of these new geographies of flows are considered in a variety of contexts the localism of city planning specialist political world cities and the war on terror Finally there are a series of chapters that critically review the state of our knowledge on contemporary relations between cities in globalization Cities in Globalization provides an up to date assembly of leading American and European researchers reporting their ideas on the critical issue of how cities are faring in contemporary globalization and is highly illustrated throughout with over forty figures and tables Transforming Cities Through Temporary Urbanism Lauren Andres, Amy Y. Zhang, 2020-12-18 This book advances the reflexion into how temporary urbanism is shaping cities across the world Temporary urbanism has become a core concept in urban development and its application is increasingly crossing the borders of both the North and the Global South There is a need to reflect upon the diverse ways of understanding and implementing the temporary in the production of space internationally and discuss what this means for both research and practice Divided into two sections the book compiles and reflects upon the various attempts to reframe and reconceptualise temporary urbanism The first section focuses on reframing and reconceptualising temporary urbanisms It develops the argument that temporary urbanism allows a reinterrogation of the role of temporalities and non permanence into the place making process and hence in the production and reproduction of cities including the adaptability of existing spaces and production of new spaces While drawing upon different theoretical and conceptual framings permeability assemblage rhythms waiting authors bring insights from various case studies the Dublin Biennial Ireland temporary uses in Geneva Switzerland temporary urban settlements in sub Saharan Africa refugees camp in Beirut Lebanon and political protests in Skopje Republic of Macedonia The second section looks at unwrapping the complexity and diversity of temporary urbanisms It aims at securing a better understanding of the complexity and diversity of temporary urbanism including a dialogue between various experiences both in the Global North and in the Global South It looks at the implications of temporary urbanism in the delivery of planning and considers how and by whom cities are governed and transformed Again a range of examples are mobilised by contributors spanning from temporary uses and projects in London UK Santiago Chile Paris France Vancouver Canada Barcelona Spain Budapest Hungary Beijing China Sao Paulo Brazil and Milwaukee USA This book will be of interests to all researchers practitioners and students who want to gain a more thorough understanding of the topic of temporary urbanism compare its diversity and similarities across different contexts and reflect on the wider implications of temporary urbanisms for urban transformations

Social Relations and Urban Space Fiona Williamson, 2014 This book offers an insight into the social relationships and topographies that fashioned both city life and landscape and serves as a useful counterpoise in a field that has largely focused on London This is a book about seventeenth century Norwich and its inhabitants At its core are the interconnected themes of social topographies and the relationships between urban inhabitants and their environment Cityscapes were and are shaped and given meaning during the practice of people's lived experiences In return those same urban places lend human interactions depth and quality Social Relations and Urban Space uncovers manifold possible landscapes including those belonging to the rich and to the poor to men to women to strangers and foreigners to political actors of both formal and informal means Norwich's inhabitants witnessed the tumultuous seventeenth century at first hand and their experiences were written into the landscape and immortalised in its exemplary surviving records This book offers an insight into the social relationships and topographies that fashioned both city life and landscape and serves as a useful counterpoise in a field that has largely focused on London FIONA WILLIAMSON is currently Senior Lecturer in History at the National University of Malaysia

The Festival Cities of Edinburgh and Adelaide Sarah Thomasson, 2022-08-20 The Festival Cities of Edinburgh and Adelaide examines how these cities world famous arts events have shaped and been shaped by their long term interaction with their urban environments While the Edinburgh International Festival and Adelaide Festival are long established prestigious events that champion artistic excellence they are also accompanied by the two largest open access fringe festivals in the world It is this simultaneous staging of multiple events within Edinburgh's Summer Festivals and Adelaide's Mad March that generates the visibility and festive atmosphere popularly associated with both places Drawing on perspectives from theatre studies and cultural geography this book interrogates how the Festival City as a place myth has developed in the very different local contexts of Edinburgh and Adelaide and how it is challenged by groups competing for the right to use and define public space Each chapter examines a recent performative event in which festival debates and controversies spilled out beyond the festival space to activate the public sphere by intersecting with broader concerns and audiences This book forges an interdisciplinary comparative framework for festival studies to interrogate how festivals are embedded in the social and political fabric of cities and to assess the cultural impact of the festivalisation phenomenon

Cities and Cultural Landscapes Greg Bailey, Francesco Defilippis, Azra Korjenic, Amir Čaušević, 2020-03-05 Places are locations of value where psychological and cultural needs are satisfied Human relationships with particular environments play a key role in motivating developing and nurturing the life of societies Undifferentiated space becomes place as we understand it better and its built and natural forms become endowed with value However misunderstanding the critical importance of heritage locations particularly based on rejection of local and regional distinctiveness has often led to their destruction Featuring essays from across central Europe and beyond and aimed at practitioners decision makers and concerned citizens alike this book raises awareness about the responsibility that we bear for every action taken that modifies the formal and socio cultural context Potentially these actions can negatively impact the cultural landscape Learning to recognize the essential value of heritage to the place ness of our cities and landscapes is vital in helping us to preserve and enjoy their intrinsic beauty and cultural importance Houston, Space
