Postcolonial African Cities Fassil Demissie, 2013-09-13. The book focuses on contemporary African cities caught in the contradiction of an imperial past and postcolonial present. The essays explore the cultural role of colonial architecture and urbanism in the production of meanings in the inscription of power and discipline, as well as in the dynamic construction of identities. It is in these new, dense urban spaces, with all their contradictions, that urban Africans are reworking their local identities, building families, and creating autonomous communities made fragile by neo-liberal states in a globalizing world. The book offers a range of scholarly interpretations of the new forms of urbanity. It engages with issues, themes, and topics including colonial legacies, postcolonial intersections, cosmopolitan spaces, urban reconfigurations, and migration, which are at the heart of the continuing debate about the trajectory of contemporary African cities. The collection discusses contemporary African cities as diverse as Dar Es Salaam, Dakar, Johannesburg, Lagos, and Kinshasa, offering new insights into the current state of postcolonial African cities. This was previously published as a special issue of African Identities.

PJ Harvey and Music Video Performance Abigail Gardner, 2016-03-09. PJ Harvey's performances are premised on the core contention that she is somehow causing trouble. Just how this trouble can be theorised within the context of the music video and what it means for a development of the ways we might conceptualise disruption and think about music video lies at the heart of this book. Abigail Gardner mixes feminist theory and critical models from film and video scholarship as a rich means of interrogating Harvey's work and redefining her disruptive strategies. The book presents a rethinking of the masquerade that allies it to cultural memory, precipitated by Gardner's claim that Harvey's performances are conversations with the past, specifically with visualised memories of archetypes of femininity. Harvey's masquerades emerge from her conversations and renegotiations with both national and transatlantic musical, visual, and lyrical heritages. It is the first academic book to present analysis of Harvey's music videos and opens up fresh avenues into exploring what is at stake in the video work of one of Britain's premier singer-songwriters. It extends the discussion on

Story Katie Cunningham, 2023-10-10 Stories are all around us From our digital newsfeeds interactions with one another to watching a movie or listening to a curated playlist we see and hear different tales told to us in various ways In her book Story Still the Heart of Literacy Learning author and teacher Katie Egan Cunningham reminds us that when we bridge reading strategies with the power of story we can deepen literacy learning and foster authentic engagement with students Cunningham shows how to create classrooms of caring and inquisitive readers writers and storytellers Inside you'll find How to build a diverse multicultural classroom library that reflects all voices through rich purposeful and varied texts Numerous examples of multi genre and multi modal stories from children's and young adult literature A practical toolkit at the end of each chapter to demonstrate how to make stories come alive in any classroom Throughout the book Cunningham shares her experiences as a teacher literacy specialist and staff developer and how building and talking about stories brings them to life She honors the importance of teaching strategies to read different kinds of text to write across genres and to speak and listen with purpose while reminding us about the importance of story

Foresight and Design Mark C. Childs, 2022-11-14 Every plan pro forma design building contract and construction schedule is a proposal about future places To help improve such proposals Foresight and Design Composing Future Places presents conceptual tools to inform design and outline the need for designers to rigorously think about potential futures Our built compositions are constantly transforming due to continuing urbanization demographic shifts climate change the evolution of virtual worlds economic and health disparities and other unforeseen trends If we envision and plan for alternative futures we are better able to purposefully respond This book presents emerging practices of foresight including signals of change thick descriptions pace layers re framing prototyping scenarios maps of change storytelling and world building to indicate how robust contemplation of multiple potential futures can help us compose places that are durable resilient and adaptable Five brief case studies interspersed between the chapters serve as examples of practitioners exercising foresight through these practices Contributions include a description of a regional design process in Afghanistan by Anthony Fettes of Sasaki Architects and an exploration into the Indigenous Futurism model making competition by Anjelica Gallegos Written for architects designers planners developers city councilmembers and engineers this book encourages all composers of the built environment to envision alternative futures and purposefully respond Immigrant

Industry Anoma Pieris, Mirjana Lozanovska, Dr Alexandra Dellios, Andrew Saniga, 2024-08-02 After the end of the Second World War migrants were critical to the spatial making of modern Australia Major federally funded industries driving postwar nation building programs depended on the employment of large numbers of people who had been displaced by the war Directed to remote rural and urban industrial sites migrant labor and resettlement altered the nation's physical landscape providing Australia with its contemporary economic base While the immigrant contribution to nation building in cultural terms is well known its everyday spatial architectural and landscape transformations remain unexamined This book aims to bring to the foreground postwar industry and immigration to comprehensively document a uniquely Australian shaping of the built environment Technified Muses Sara A. Potter, 2024-10-08 In this volume Sara Potter uses the idea of the muse from Greek mythology and the cyborg from posthuman theory to consider the portrayal of female characters and their bodies in Mexican art and literature from the 1920s to the present examining genres including science fiction cyberpunk and popular fiction Love You to Death Max McCamish, 2020-05-23 Alex Keen has never felt anything No sadness no happiness no anger and certainly no love that's the way Alex prefers it One day a chance encounter changes everything and suddenly emotionless empty Alex is developing painful longing feelings for someone and that just won't do So like everyone else who's gotten in Alex's way before there seems to be just one thing to do to the man Alex suddenly loves kill him Of course killing the one and only person you've ever loved isn't that simple and a past riddled with murder is going to get noticed One of Alex's past victims has family left behind who want revenge and even with unexpected help Alex's options for dealing with the justice closing in on them are slim especially when they're in the middle of committing another murder But Alex has to kill him How else are they meant to escape the pain of love The Vulture King Nikki Turner, 2020-05-21 Orphaned Aram has survived alone for five years his only friend a thieving magpie who acts as his eyes For in the Carrionlands magic comes at a terrible price It costs you your sight hearing or voice When he rescues a voiceless girl Bina from being sacrificed to the Vulture King he is taken in by an underground resistance group They reveal that Aram's mother is alive but the king is using her and other slave magicians to fuel his unnaturally long life With his mother's magic being rapidly drained she doesn't have long to live If Aram can find the Radix a hidden magical power source there's a slim chance

he might be able to save her But to get there he must cross the Barrens where every living creature is out to kill you That s if one of his new companions doesn t betray him first The Best American Short Stories ... and the Yearbook of the American Short Story Martha Foley,Edward Joseph Harrington O'Brien,1947 Includes the Yearbook of the American short story 1978 1980
