Denison, 2017-02-17 This book explores China s encounter with architecture and modernity in the tumultuous epoch before Communism an encounter that was mediated not by a singular notion of modernism emanating from the west but that was uniquely multifarious deriving from a variety of sources both from the west and importantly from the east The heterogeneous origins of modernity in China are what make its experience distinctive and its architectural encounters exceptional These experiences are investigated through a re evaluation of established knowledge of the subject within the wider landscape of modern art practices in China The study draws on original archival and photographic material from different artistic genres and architecturally concentrates on China s engagement with the west through the treaty ports and leased territories the emergence of architecture as a profession in China and Japan s omnipresence not least in Manchuria which reached its apogee in the puppet state of Manchukuo The study s geographically temporally and architecturally inclusive approach framed by the concept of multiple modernities questions the application of conventional theories of modernity or post colonialism to the Chinese situation By challenging conventional modernist historiography that has marginalised the experiences of the west s other for much of the last century this book proposes different ways of grappling with and comprehending the distinction and complexity of China s experiences and its encounter with architectural modernity

Cities and Cinema Barbara Mennel, 2008-03-19 Films about cities abound They provide fantasies for those who recognize their city and those for whom the city is a faraway dream or nightmare How does cinema rework city planners hopes and city dwellers fears of modern urbanism Can an analysis of city films answer some of the questions posed in urban studies What kinds of vision for the future and images of the past do city films offer What are the changes that city films have undergone Cities and Cinema puts urban theory and cinema studies in dialogue The book's first section analyzes three important genres of city films that follow in historical sequence each associated with a particular city moving from the city film of the Weimar Republic to the film noir associated with Los Angeles and the image of Paris in the cinema of the French New Wave The second section discusses socio historical themes of urban studies beginning with the relationship of film industries and individual cities continuing with the portrayal of war torn and divided cities and ending with the cinematic expression of utopia and dystopia in urban science fiction The last section negotiates the question of identity and place in a global world moving from the portrayal of ghettos and barrios to the city as a setting for gay and lesbian desire to end with the representation of the global city in transnational cinematic practices The book suggests that modernity links urbanism and cinema It accounts for the significant changes that city film has undergone through processes of globalization during which the city has developed from an icon in national cinema to a privileged site for transnational cinematic practices It is a key text for students and researchers of film studies urban studies and cultural studies

Berlin Coquette Jill Suzanne Smith, 2014-05-15 During the late nineteenth century the city of Berlin developed such a reputation for lawlessness and sexual licentiousness that it came to be known as the Whore of Babylon Out of this reputation for debauchery grew an unusually rich discourse around prostitution In Berlin Coquette Jill Suzanne Smith shows how this discourse transcended the usual clichés about prostitutes and actually explored complex visions of alternative moralities or sexual countercultures including the New Morality articulated by feminist radicals lesbian love and the New Woman Combining extensive archival research with close readings of a broad spectrum of texts and images from the late Wilhelmine and Weimar periods Smith recovers a surprising array of productive discussions about extramarital sexuality women's financial autonomy and respectability She highlights in particular the figure of the cocotte Kokotte a specific type of prostitute who capitalized on the illusion of respectable or upstanding womanhood and therefore confounded easy categorization By exploring the semantic connections between the figure of the cocotte and the act of flirtation of being coquette Smith's work presents flirtation as a type of social interaction through which both prostitutes and non prostitutes in Imperial and Weimar Berlin could express extramarital sexual desire and agency

Cities and Sexualities Phil

Hubbard,2013-03 Detailing the relationships between sexed bodies sexual subjectivities and forms of intimacy Cities and Sexualities explores the role of the city in shaping our sexual lives At the same time it describes how the actions of urban governors city planners the police and judiciary combine to produce cities in which some sexual proclivities and tastes are normalized and others excluded In so doing it maps out the diverse sexual landscapes of the city from spaces of courtship coupling and cohabitation through to sites of adult entertainment prostitution and pornography Considering both the normative geographies of heterosexuality and monogamy as well as urban geographies of radical queer sex this book provides a unique perspective on the relationship between sex and the city Politics and Society in Italian Crime Fiction

History of Participatory Media Anders Ekström,Solveig Jülich,FRANS LUNDGREN,Per Wisselgren,2012-07-26 This book argues for a historical perspective on issues relating to the notion of participatory media Working from a broad concept of media including essays on the 19th century press early sound media photography exhibitions television and the internet the book offers a broad empirical approach to different modes of audience participation from the mid 19th century to the present Using the insights from the historical case studies the book also explores some of the key concepts in discussions on the politics of participation arguing for a theoretical perspective sensitive to the asymmetries that characterize the distribution of agency in the relationship between media and users Scholarly discussions on participatory media now occur in several fields This book argues that all of these discussions are all too often obscured by a rhetoric of newness assuming that participatory media is something unique in history radical and revolutionary By challenging the historiography implicit in this rhetoric the book also engages in a discussion of issues of more general relevance to the multidisciplinary field of media history City, Street and Citizen Suzanne Hall,Suzanne M. Hall,2012 How can we learn from a multicultural society if we don t know how to recognise it The contemporary city is more than ever a space for the intense convergence of diverse individuals who shift in and out of its urban terrains The city street is perhaps the most prosaic of the city s public parts allowing us a view of the very ordinary practices of life and livelihoods By attending to the expressions of conviviality and contestation City Street and Citizen offers an alternative notion of multiculturalism away from the ideological frame of nation and away from the moral imperative of community This book offers to the reader an account of the lived realities of allegiance participation and belonging from the base of a multi ethnic street in south London City Street and Citizen focuses on the question of whether local life is significant for how individuals develop skills to live with urban change and cultural and ethnic diversity To animate this question Hall has turned to a city street and its dimensions of regularity and propinquity to explore interactions in the small shop spaces along the Walworth Road The city street constitutes exchange and as such it provides us with a useful space to consider the broader social and political significance of contact in the day to day life of multicultural cities Grounded in an ethnographic approach this book will be of interest to academics and students in the fields of sociology global urbanisation migration and ethnicity as well as being relevant to politicians policy makers urban designers and architects involved in cultural diversity public space and street based economies
