Civil Society in the Arab World Amani Kandil, 1995

Civil Society in the Middle East, Volume 1 Norton, 2022-04-11

Launched in 1992 the Civil Society in the Middle East program has brought together dozens of leading scholars to analyze political life through an exploration of civil society within the states of the region This is the first of two volumes to be published by Brill it contains original studies of Egypt Jordan Kuwait Syria Tunisia the West Bank and Gaza as well as the prospects for democratization in the Arab world the consequences of economic liberalization and contemporary Islamic thought on civil society and democracy This first volume offers a wealth of new material on unions political parties and professional syndicates and other components of civil society as the authors weigh the prospects for political reform in the Middle East and provide readable yet richly informed assessments of state society relations

Islam, Charity, and Activism Janine A. Clark, 2004-01-01 Throughout the Middle East Islamist charities and social welfare organizations play a major role in addressing the socioeconomic needs of Muslim societies independently of the state Through case studies of Islamic medical clinics in Egypt the Islamic Center Charity Society in Jordan and the Islah Women s Charitable Society in Yemen Janine A Clark examines the structure and dynamics of moderate Islamic institutions and their social and political impact Questioning the widespread assumption that such organizations primarily serve the poorer classes Clark argues that these organizations in fact are run by and for the middle class Rather than the vertical recruitment or mobilization of the poor that they are often presumed to promote Islamic social institutions play an important role in strengthening social networks that bind middle class professionals volunteers and clients Ties of solidarity that develop along these horizontal lines foster the development of new social networks and the diffusion of new ideas

The Management of Islamic Activism Quintan Wiktorowicz, 2001-01-01 Shows how the laws governing civil society are used to regulate Islamic activism in Jordan

NGOs and Governance in the Arab World Sarah Ben Néfissa, Carlos Milani, 2005 Most non governmental organizations NGOs in the Arab world have traditionally been active in the areas of social work and charity often within a religious or communal framework But recently many of these organizations have become the forum for conflicts between different political trends while others tackle political problems such as human rights or democratic issues Facing the rejuvenated NGO scene in the Arab world public authorities remain torn between support for the concerns of civil society and the traditional mode of management which does not delegate consult or decentralize Can NGOs in the Arab world be considered full fledged actors of governance and of national and local development Is the relationship between NGOs and public authorities at the national and local level one of partnership or opposition and competition Are NGOs perceived to be palliatives to the shortcomings of the public authorities How is the relationship between NGOs and society to be defined Do Arab NGOs highlight the issues that remain undetected by the classical methods of action of the public authorities The studies in this collection arising out of the Conference on NGOs and Governance in the Arab World held in Cairo in March 2000 attempt to answer these and other areas of concern Contributors Sylvia Chiffolleau Dina Craissati Guilain Denoeux Mona Fawaz Vivian Fouad Sari Hanafi Karam Karam Samir Marcos Nicola Pratt Nadia Refat Pierre Jean Roca Muhamad Al Sayyid Said Salma Aown Shawa Abd Al Ghaffar Shukr Civil Society in Asia Wayne Hudson,2024-11-01 In East and Southeast Asia the creation of civil society is a crucial yet most difficult issue Europeans have had the luxury of centuries in a slow moving world characterised by weak governments in which the foundation institutions norms and values of civil society could ferment and develop Asia however faces this task when a nation s currency can devalue in seconds destabilising its government and when states have far more effective means of surveillance suppression and terror This book examines these issues and shows that a better understanding of civil society in the Asian context is central to promoting contemporary political social and economic reform in Asia It will appeal to students and teachers of politics law and sociology because it provides new perspectives on how to understand civil society drawing on Asian examples as well as indications for rethinking what civil society means in Asia Individual chapters combine theoretical and empirical issues in a way which fills a major gap in the literature Henceforth works about civil society will need to take more account of the Asian evidence and Asianists will need to have a clear idea of what civil society in Asia means US Civil-society Assistance to the Arab World Imco Brouwer,2000

International Encyclopedia of Civil Society Helmut K. Anheier,Stefan Toepler,2009-11-24 Recently the topic of civil society has generated a wave of interest and a wealth of new information Until now no publication has attempted to organize and consolidate this knowledge The International Encyclopedia of Civil Society fills this gap establishing a common set of understandings and terminology and an analytical starting point for future research Global in scope and authoritative in content the Encyclopedia offers succinct summaries of core concepts and theories definitions of terms biographical entries on important figures and organizational profiles In addition it serves as a reliable and up to date guide to additional sources of information In sum the Encyclopedia provides an overview of the contours of civil society social capital philanthropy and nonprofits across cultures and historical periods For researchers in nonprofit and civil society studies political science economics management and social enterprise this is the most systematic appraisal of a rapidly growing field Uncharted Journey Thomas Carothers,Marina Ottaway,2010-03 The United States faces no greater challenge today than successfully fulfilling its new ambition of helping bring about a democratic transformation of the Middle East Uncharted Journey contributes a wealth of concise illuminating insights on this subject drawing on the contributors deep knowledge of Arab politics and their substantial experience with democracy building in other parts of the world The essays in part one vividly dissect the state of Arab politics today including an up to date examination of the political shock wave in the region produced by the invasion of Iraq Part two and three set out a provocative exploration of the possible elements of a democracy promotion strategy for the region The contributors identify potential false steps as well as a productive way forward avoiding the twin shoals of either reflexive pessimism in the face of the daunting obstacles to Arab democratization or an unrealistic optimism that fails to take into account the region's political complexities Contributors include Eva Bellin Hunter College Daniel Brumberg Carnegie Endowment Thomas Carothers Carnegie Endowment Michele Dunne Georgetown University Graham Fuller Amy Hawthorne Carnegie Endowment Marina Ottaway Carnegie Endowment and Richard Youngs Foreign Policy Centre

NGOs and Transnational Networks William E. DeMars, 2005-04-20 Non Governmental Organisations and their networks are proliferating in all regions of the world They address every transnational issue from population to peace human rights to species rights genocide to AIDS Supporters claim NGOs are effective in achieving their goals while detractors counter that NGO power is paltry compared to governments and corporations Challenging both views DeMars irreverently reveals the political claims implicit in every transnational NGO They are best conceptualised he argues not in terms of either principles or power but through the partners they make in transnational society and politics NGOs and transnational networks institutionalise conflict as much as cooperation and reshape states and societies often inadvertently NGOs have overthrown dictators provided life support for collapsed states and reengineered the family Their historical origins contrast sharply with current realities and show signs of radical change in the future

The Rise of Global Civil Society Don Eberly, 2008-03-24 Global news is generally bad news On the surface the story is about war poverty ethnic and sectarian strife Democracy movements advanced by the U S government seem to be stalled or even reversed Yet just below the surface more hopeful trends are brewing A new global awareness of the people at the bottom of the pyramid is summoning forth an unprecedented response to human need and suffering It involves a shift from vertical to horizontal power that official aid agencies are only beginning to comprehend Whereas twenty five years ago government aid accounted for 70 percent of all American outflows today 85 percent of all outflows of resources come from private individuals businesses religious congregations universities and immigrant communities If aid policy in the twentieth century relied on top down bureaucracy dominated by policy specialists and elites the twenty first century is shaping up as an era in which citizens social entrepreneurs and volunteers link up to solve problems U S military and economic power are basic components of America's presence in the world but in an environment of rampant anti Americanism it is compassion that is America's most consequential export Civil society once the distinctive characteristic of American democracy is now advancing across the globe carrying with it new forms of philanthropy citizenship and volunteerism Tens of thousands of voluntary associations are prying open closed societies from within solving problems in new ways and forming the seedbed for a long term cultivation of democratic norms Building Nations from the Bottom Up The Global Rise of Democratic Society presents a sweeping overview of the forces now shaping the global debate including citizen led development projects poverty reduction strategies that substitute opportunity for charity and electronically linked movements to combat corruption and autocratic rule
