Civil War Regiments From Maine 1861-1865:

Civil War Regiments from Maine, 1861-1865 Joshua Chamberlain Chamberlain, 2003 Civil War Regiments from Maine 1861-1865 details the histories of the regiments and batteries raised in Maine during the Civil War. Each entry provides the names of the senior officers, number of enlistments, number of deaths in battle and from other causes. The state of Maine enlisted 65,000 men to fight for the Army and 15,000 for the Navy, raising 32 infantry, 2 cavalry, 1 heavy artillery and 1 sharpshooter regiments and 7 light artillery batteries. Many regiments earned fame and glory, but none more than the Twentieth Maine Infantry. The Twentieth defended the extreme left of the Union line on Little Round Top during the battle of Gettysburg from a Confederate attack that, if successful, could have swept the entire Union army from the field. Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain, author of this volume, served with the Twentieth, rising from Lieutenant to Colonel, Brigadier General, and Brevet Major General. He was wounded six times during the war and had the honor of receiving the first Confederate surrender at Appomattox Court House. The First Maine Heavy Artillery suffered the highest number of casualties in a single battle when 210 of its rank fell dead or mortally wounded charging Petersburg's defenses. The soldiers from Maine, according to Fox's Regimental Losses, suffered an 18.9% casualty rate, including deaths by disease, the highest percentage of loss for any Union state during the war. Losses in battle were 3,184 and death from disease and other causes were 6,214. Thirteen regiments from Maine are counted among Fox's 300 Fighting Regiments and can be found in Regimental Losses of the American Civil War, also available in paperback from eBooksOnDisk.com. Civil War Chronology, 1861-1865 United States. Navy Department. Naval Operations Office, 1966. The Second Vermont Volunteer Infantry Regiment, 1861-1865 Paul G. Zeller, 2009-09-08. The many regiments that fought in the Civil War each had their own stories to tell about what they saw, smelled, tasted, heard, and felt while serving in war. The Second Vermont Volunteer Infantry Regiment saw its first combat at the Battle of Bull Run and fought on to Lee's surrender. This richly illustrated work draws from service pension and court martial records and personal letters and diaries to portray the junior officers, noncommissioned officers, and privates of the regiment as they were in battle, on the march, and in camp. Some were heroes like Private William W. Noyes, awarded the Medal of Honor, and others were not like Private George E. Blowers, executed for desertion. A roster of the 1,858 men who served in the regiment is provided. 1861-1865. The civil war James Schouler, 1899. The Union Sixth Army Corps in the Chancellorsville Campaign Philip W. Parsons, 2015-06-08. The winter of 1862-1863 found the Union Army of the Potomac in sad shape after bloody battles, multiple defeats, lack of adequate provisions, and high desertion rates. When Major General Joseph Hooker took command, he set about revamping conditions. Instructed by President Lincoln to make the destruction of General Lee's Army of Northern Virginia the Union's top priority, Hooker mounted the Chancellorsville Campaign. Lee's aggressive battlefield manner, coupled with Hooker's

s failure to initiate an assault led to a sound defeat by Confederate forces and left Hooker who ultimately had only himself and his lack of initiative to blame looking for a scapegoat Among those Hooker attempted to hold responsible was the courageous Sixth Army Corps Major General John Sedgwick commanding the unit responsible for the sole Union victory of the entire campaign This history of the battlefield engagements of the Sixth Army Corps on May 3 and 4 1863 is compiled from contemporary accounts and a variety of postwar histories

The 36th Infantry United States Colored Troops in the Civil War James K. Bryant, II, 2014-01-02 During the Civil War African American war correspondent Thomas Morris Chester was so inspired by the men of the 36th United States Colored Troops that he declared the group to be a model regiment Composed primarily of former slaves recruited from Union occupied areas of eastern North Carolina and southeastern Virginia the 36th USCT participated in large scale expeditions to liberate slaves guarded Confederate prisoners at major POW camps served in the trenches before Petersburg and Richmond and stood as one of the first units to enter the abandoned Confederate capital on April 3 1865 This volume which includes a complete regimental roster explores the background of these former slaves and their families examines their initial recruitment and chronicles their military contributions throughout the war More than a unit history the story of the 36th USCT offers a vivid portrait of the challenging transition from slavery to freedom

Cedar Mountain to Antietam M. Chris Bryan, 2022-01-04 This history of the Union XII Corps skillfully weaves firsthand accounts into a compelling story about the triumphs and defeats of this venerable unit Bradley M Gottfried author of The Maps of Antietam The diminutive Union XII Corps found significant success on the field at Antietam Its soldiers swept through the East Woods and the Miller Cornfield permanently clearing both of Confederates repelled multiple Southern assaults against the Dunker Church plateau and eventually secured a foothold in the West Woods This important piece of high ground had been the Union objective all morning and its occupation threatened the center and rear of Gen Robert E Lee's embattled Army of Northern Virginia Yet federal leadership largely ignored this signal achievement and the opportunity it presented The achievement of the XII Corps is especially notable given its string of disappointments and hardships in the months leading up to Antietam. Maj Gen Chris Bryan's Cedar Mountain to Antietam begins with the formation of this often luckless command as the II Corps in Maj Gen John Pope's Army of Virginia on June 26, 1862. Bryan explains in meticulous detail how the corps endured a bloody and demoralizing loss after coming within a whisker of defeating Maj Gen Stonewall Jackson at Cedar Mountain on August 9, suffered through the hardships of Pope's campaign before and after the Battle of Second Manassas and triumphed after entering Maryland and joining the reorganized Army of the Potomac. The men of this small corps earned a solid reputation in the Army of the Potomac at Antietam that would only grow during the battles of 1863. This unique study which blends unit history with sound leadership and character assessments puts the XII Corps actions in proper context by providing significant and substantive treatment to its Confederate opponents. Bryan's extensive archival research, newspapers and other important resources together with detailed maps and images offers a compelling story of a little studied yet consequential command that fills a longstanding historiographical gap.

The Popular History of the Civil War in America, 1861-1865 George B. Herbert, 1884     History of the Civil War, 1861-1865 James Schouler, 1899     A Tempest of Iron and Lead Chris Mackowski, 2024-07-31

May 1864. The Army of the Potomac and the Army of Northern Virginia spent three days in brutal close quarter combat in the Wilderness that left the tangled thickets aflame. No one could have imagined a more infernal battlefield until the armies moved down the road to Spotsylvania Court House. Even the march itself was unprecedented. For three years the armies had fought battles and disengaged after each one. That pattern changed on the night of May 7. Instead of leaving the Wilderness to regroup, Lt Gen Ulysses S. Grant led the Federal army southward, skirmishing with Confederates all the way. There will be no turning back, he had declared. He lived up to his word. By dawn on May 8, the armies had tussled their way ten miles down the road and opened another large scale fight that would last until May 21. One thing is certain of this campaign thus far, explained Dr Daniel Holt of the 121st New York: More blood has been shed, more lives lost and more human suffering undergone than ever before in a season. The fighting launched a score of new place names and events that would sear themselves into the American consciousness such as Spindle Field, Upton's assault, the Mule Shoe, the Bloody Angle and the Harris Farm. The casualties exacted at Spotsylvania exceeded those of the Wilderness by thousands. The fighting severely tested the offensive capabilities of Gen Robert E. Lee's Southern army just as the defensive posture his men embraced would in turn test the limits of Federal endurance.

A Tempest of Iron and Lead: Spotsylvania Court House, May 8-21, 1864 is a comprehensive and comprehensible study of this endlessly fascinating campaign. Author Chris Mackowski is intimately familiar with the battle of Spotsylvania Court House. He is a former historian at Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania National Military Park and he continues to give tours of the battlefield as the historian in residence at Stevenson Ridge, a historic property on the battlefield's eastern front. His meticulous knowledge of the landscape and familiarity with primary source materials earned over nearly two decades coupled with outstanding maps and helpful images create a readable and satisfying single volume account the campaign has so richly deserved      The Civil War, 1861-1865 Michael J. Matochik, 1982      Chasing Jeb Stuart and John Mosby Robert F. O'Neill, 2014-01-10 This book is an operational and tactical study of cavalry operations in Northern Virginia from September 1862 to July 1863 It examines in detail John Mosby's first six months as a partisan within the context of the larger threat to the Union capital posed by Jeb Stuart Previous studies of Mosby's career are largely based on postwar memoirs This narrative balances those accounts with previously unpublished official contemporary records left by the Union soldiers assigned to the defense of Washington D C The formation of the Michigan Cavalry Brigade is fully documented along with the exploits of the brigade in the months before George Custer took command Largely forgotten events such as Jeb Stuart's Christmas Raid the fight at Fairfax Station during Stuart's ride to Gettysburg as well as the vital role played by Union general Julius Stahel's cavalry division in the critical month of June 1863 are examined at length      Subject Catalogue... United States. The Battle of the Crater John F. Schmutz, 2009-06-08 The Battle of the Crater is one of the lesser known yet most interesting battles of the Civil War This book detailing the onset of brutal trench warfare at Petersburg Virginia digs deeply into the military and political background of the battle Beginning by tracing the rival armies through the bitter conflicts of the Overland Campaign and culminating with the siege of Petersburg and the battle intended to lift that siege this book offers a candid look at the perception of the campaign by both sides
