Civilized Man's Eight Deadly Sins Konrad Lorenz, 1974 Essays on destructive influences of the modern environment on human behavior Civilized Man's Eight Deadly Sins/ Tr. (from the German) by Marjorie Latzke Konrad Lorenz, 1974

The System Andy Turnbull, 2005 Civilized Man's Eight Deadly Sins. Translated by Marjorie Latzke Konrad Lorenz, 1974 Killer Instinct Nadine Weidman, 2021-10-19 A historian of science examines key public debates about the fundamental nature of humans to ask why a polarized discourse about nature versus nurture became so entrenched in the popular sciences of animal and human behavior Are humans innately aggressive or innately cooperative In the 1960s bestselling books enthralled American readers with the startling claim that humans possessed an instinct for violence inherited from primate ancestors Critics responded that humans were inherently loving and altruistic The resulting debate fiercely contested and highly public left a lasting impression on the popular science discourse surrounding what it means to be human Killer Instinct traces how Konrad Lorenz Robert Ardrey and their followers drew on the sciences of animal behavior and paleoanthropology to argue that the aggression instinct drove human evolutionary progress Their message spread throughout popular media brought pointed ripostes Led by the anthropologist Ashley Montagu opponents presented a rival vision of human nature equally based in biological evidence that humans possessed inborn drives toward love and cooperation Over the course of the debate however each side accused the other of holding an extremist position that behavior was either determined entirely by genes or shaped solely by environment Nadine Weidman shows that what started as a dispute over the innate tendencies of animals and humans transformed into an opposition between nature and nurture This polarized formulation proved powerful When E O Wilson introduced his sociobiology in 1975 he tried to rise above the oppositional terms of the aggression debate But the controversy over Wilson's work led by critics like the feminist biologist Ruth Hubbard was ultimately absorbed back into the nature versus nurture formulation Killer Instinct explores what happens and what gets lost when polemics dominate discussions of the science of human nature What tumors teach us Jana

The Twenty-four Hour Workday, 1981 Experimenting with Truth Rustum Roy, 2013-10-22 Experimenting with Truth The Fusion of Religion with Technology Needed for Humanity's Survival presents the insights of the mutually reinforcing aspects of the Christian faith and modern science. The book is composed of only three chapters and begins with an explanation of the technology's need for religion's hegemony. Chapter 2 attempts to show that science-based technology and religion share a common belief in the nature of the most fundamental reality. The last chapter details the most accurate multidimensional picture or sculpture of reality. Concepts and Theories of Human Development Richard M.

Lerner, 2013-05-13 A classic in the field, this third edition will continue to be the book of choice for advanced undergraduate and graduate level courses in theories of human development in departments of psychology and human development. This volume has been substantially revised with an eye toward supporting applied developmental science and the developmental systems perspectives. Since the publication of the second edition, developmental systems theories have taken center stage in contemporary developmental science and have provided compelling alternatives to reductionist theoretical accounts having either a nature or nurture emphasis. As a consequence, a developmental systems orientation frames the presentation in this edition. This new edition has been expanded substantially in comparison to the second edition. Special features include: A separate chapter focuses on the historical roots of concepts and theories of human development on philosophical models of development and on developmental contextualism. Two new chapters surrounding the discussion of developmental contextualism: one on developmental systems theories wherein several exemplars of such models are discussed and a corresponding chapter wherein key instances of such theories: life span, life course, bioecological and action theoretical ones are presented. A new chapter on cognition and development is included contrasting systems approaches to cognitive development with neo-nativist perspectives. A more differentiated treatment of nature-oriented theories of development is provided. There are separate chapters on behavior genetics, the controversy surrounding the study of the heritability of intelligence, work on the instinctual theory of Konrad Lorenz and a new chapter on sociobiology. A new chapter concentrates on applied developmental science. Power, Judgment and Political Evil Danielle Celermajer, 2016-04-08 In an interview with Günther Gaus for German television in 1964, Hannah Arendt insisted that she was not a philosopher but a political theorist. Disillusioned by the cooperation of German intellectuals with the Nazis, she said farewell to philosophy when she fled the country. This book examines Arendt's ideas about thinking, acting and political responsibility, investigating the relationship between the life of the mind and the life of action that preoccupied Arendt throughout her life. By joining in the conversation between Arendt and Gaus, each contributor probes her ideas about thinking and judging and their relation to responsibility.

power and violence An insightful and intelligent treatment of the work of Hannah Arendt this volume will appeal to a wide number of fields beyond political theory and philosophy including law literary studies social anthropology and cultural history

Exploitation and Overexploitation in Societies Past and Present Brigitta Benzing, Bernd Herrmann, 2003 Human impact on landscape can be conceptualised in terms of socially governed ecological systems In the past the adaptive capacity of human cultural systems has been emphasised Nowadays a shift can be recognised towards modified views Resources are discussed as prerequisites for establishing complex human societies This includes also a more biologically minded view from the standpoint of the humanities In such a view human societal complexes can be understood as systems that manage energy and matters The concept of social metabolic regimes has developed in such a context Cultures as seen within this paradigm are not understood merely as autopoietic symbolic entities but as results of an interaction of material prerequisites and emerging social structures One might dismiss this as an epistemological shift part of the play of science with itself But it remains unsolved so far in terms of evolutionary theory if the ultimate goal of evolution is reproductive success or accessi

Mismatch Theories in Evolutionary Medicine Jonas Pödl, 2025-04-30 This book investigates the limits and possibilities of mismatch theories in evolutionary medicine a topic that has not yet received much attention in philosophy Mismatch explanations are part of a broader attempt to establish evolutionary thinking as a foundation for human medicine Although mismatch explanations are well established in ecology to account for extinction risks the ongoing attempts to transfer them into human medical contexts are riddled with conceptual and ethical problems This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the theoretical presuppositions as well as the normative implications associated with mismatch theorizing in evolutionary medicine Values in Education and Education in Values Mark Halstead, Monica J.

Taylor, 2005-10-26 This work provides an analysis of how schools can influence the developing values of young people The authors first examine from the perspective of educationalists and policy makers values within contemporary education before focusing on the values of pupils and schools Values in Education and Education in Values Mark Halstead, Monica J. Taylor, 2005-10-26 An investigation into how schools can influence the developing values of young people is given in this book The authors first look from the perspective of educationalists and policy makers at values within contemporary education in particular moral spiritual democratic and environmental values together with arts and health education Secondly they focus on the values of pupils and schools examining school aims and mission statements the formal curriculum school ethos and assessment of children's development Insights are provided with guidance on how values may be most effectively incorporated into the activities of the schools This book is intended to be of use as a practical and informative guide to all those involved in primary and secondary education and those interested in values education generally Issues in Evolutionary Ethics Paul Thompson, 1995-01-13 This book explores historical and current discussions of the relevance of evolutionary theory to ethics The historical section conveys the intellectual struggle that took place within the framework of

Darwinism from its inception up to the work of G C Williams W D Hamilton R D Alexander A L Trivers E O Wilson R Dawkins and others The contemporary section discusses ethics within the framework of evolutionary theory as enriched by the works of biologists such as those mentioned above The issue of whether ethical practice and ethical theory can be grounded in the theory of evolution has taken a new and significant direction within the context of sociobiology and is proving to be a challenge to previous thinking This book conveys that challenge
