Cisco Networking Academy Program First Year Value Pack:

Federal Register, 2000      Being Young and Muslim Asef Bayat, Linda Herrera, 2010 This volume explores the ways in which the young both in Muslim majority societies and Muslim communities in the West negotiate their Muslim identity in relation to their youthful desires their individuality the search for autonomy and security for the future The cultural behavior of Muslim youths the authors argue must be understood as located in the political realm and representing a new arena of contestation for power The essays in this volume look at the strategies Muslim youths deploy to realize their interests and aspirations including music and fashion party politics collective violence gang activities religious radicalism and other forms of expression      The Internet of Women - Accelerating Culture Change Nada Anid, Monique J. Morrow, Laurie Cantileno, 2022-09-01 Female scientists technologists engineers and mathematicians worldwide are making historic contributions to their fields The modern workforce is closer to gender equal than it has ever been and many efforts are in place to support further progress The Internet of Women provides an exciting look at personal narratives and case studies of female leaders and cultural shifts around the globe that illustrate this promising trend From the United Nations emphasis on girls and technology education in the SDGs Sustainable Development Goals to the increased female labor force in Zambia a policy change that was inspired by the MDGs UN Millennial Development Goals The Internet of Women captures stunning examples of progress from around the world and men working hand in hand with women advocating for cultural change Scholars and practitioners lament the lack of women leading and working in leading organizations in the technology industry Gender equality and female participation in the tech field is critical to both developing and developed economies nevertheless this gap remains a global phenomenon The lack of female leadership is particularly extreme at the highest echelons of leading technology organizations Few publicly traded tech companies have female CEOs in fact most nations have zero female leadership in the tech industry This gap does indicate a slow pace of progress for gender equality in tech employment Women's pay still lags nearly a decade behind according to the World Economic Forum meaning that women's on average pay today is the equivalent to that of similarly qualified and similarly employed men in 2006 Without significant progress the current rate of change will not lead to parity for 118 years according to the World Economic Forum WEF However there's significant work being done to shift this tide Take for instance Michelle Lee the first female Under Secretary of Commerce for Intellectual Property and Director of the United States Patent and Trademark Office USPTO reflects on her childhood Girl Scout badge in sewing and cooking and how that memory inspired to create an IP badge that exposes young women to the process of invention Social entrepreneur investor and Malala Fund co-founder Shiza Shahid shares her efforts beginning from mentoring young women in Pakistan to her current work directing more investment to women innovators around the globe And Elizabeth Isele a senior fellow in Social Innovation at Babson College shares her research on women and ageism saying we need to retire the word retirement The book is divided into six parts each with unique areas of focus

Critical Information Infrastructures Maitland Hyslop, 2007-09-05 Resilience is an increasingly important concept and quality in today's world. It is particularly important in the area of Critical Infrastructures. It is crucial in the area of Critical Information Infrastructure. This is because since the year 2000 man has been dependent on information and telecommunications systems for survival, particularly in the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) countries, and because all other Critical Infrastructures depend upon to a greater or lesser extent Critical Information Infrastructure. Until probably the late 1980s it would be fair to say that the defense of individual nation states depended upon a mixture of political will and armed might. The fall of the Berlin Wall may have effectively ended the Cold War and with it a bipolar world, but it brought globalization and a multipolar digital world in its wake. Simply put, a number of power vacuums were created and these have yet to be fully filled and settled. In this New World many changes were afoot. These changes include the increasing irrelevance of nation states in federated structures and the export of democracy on the back of globalization. One of the biggest changes though is the use of digital technology by the OECD countries. This is on such a scale that these countries have become both dependent upon information technology and as individual states largely irrelevant to the new global electronic economy. This adaptation of Maslow's hierarchy of needs is attributed to KPMG.
