The Vulnerability of Cities Mark Pelling, 2012-06-25 When disaster strikes in cities the effects can be catastrophic compared to other environments But what factors actually determine the vulnerability or resilience of cities The Vulnerability of Cities fills a vital gap in disaster studies by examining the too often overlooked impact of disasters on cities the conditions leading to high losses from urban disasters and why some households and communities withstand disaster more effectively than others Mark Pelling takes a fresh look at the literature on disasters and urbanization in light of recent catastrophes He presents three detailed studies of cities in the global South drawn from countries with contrasting political and developmental contexts Bridgetown Barbados a liberal democracy Georgetown Guyana a post socialist state and Santo Domingo Dominican Republic an authoritarian state in democratic transition This book demonstrates that strengthening local capacity through appropriate housing disaster preparedness infrastructure and livelihoods is crucial to improving civic resilience to disasters Equally important are strong partnerships between local community based organizations external non governmental and governmental organizations public and private sectors and between city and national government The author highlights and discusses these best practices for handling urban disasters With rapid urbanization across the globe this book is a must read for professionals policy makers students and researchers in disaster management urban development and planning transport planning architecture social studies and earth sciences

The Social Sustainability of Cities Mario Polèse, Richard E. Stren, Richard Stren, 2000-01-01 Cities are a locus of human diversity where people with varying degrees of wealth and status share an association within a particular urban boundary Despite the common geography sharp social divisions characterize many cities High levels of urban violence bear witness to the difficult challenge of creating socially cohesive and inclusive cities The devastated inner cities of many large American urban centres exemplify the failure of urban development With an enlightened democratic approach to policy reform however cities can achieve social sustainability Some cities have been more successful than others in creating environments conducive to the cohabitation of a diverse population In this collection of original essays case studies of ten cities Montreal and Toronto in Canada Miami and Baltimore in the United States Geneva and Rotterdam in Europe S o Paulo and San Salvador in South America and Nairobi and Cape Town in South Africa are presented and analysed in terms of social sustainability The volume as a whole looks at the policies institutions and planning and social processes that can have the effect of integrating diverse groups and cultural practices in a just and equitable fashion The authors conclude that policies conducive to social sustainability should among other things seek to promote fiscal equalization weave communities within the metropolis into a cohesive whole and ideally provide transport systems that ensure equal access to public services and workplaces all within the framework of an open and democratic local governance structure

Urban Growth and Land Degradation in Developing Cities Roy Maconachie, 2016-02-11 The peri urban interface in poor countries is frequently an area of great dynamism and a focus of competition for basic resources In Nigeria peri urban livelihood strategies have become an increasingly important survival mechanism in the context of rapid urban growth This book uses an innovative combination of methodologies from both the natural and social sciences to examine recent developments in and around the city of Kano in northern Nigeria and in doing so provides insights into the sustainability of these livelihood strategies Identifying some of the most significant forces that are currently shaping the process of peri urban change it argues that despite the adoption of creative and ingenious strategies by many farmers urban growth is having a considerable effect on the livelihood resilience of individuals households and communities The findings presented in this book have much wider relevance and are transferable to other burgeoning Third World cities where increased pressures on urban hinterlands have intensified contests amongst various actors made access to resources much more difficult and made traditional smallholder mechanisms of adaptation and resilience increasingly challenging Facets of Globalization Shahid Yusuf, Simon J. Evenett, Weiping Wu, 2001-01-01 Since 1985 national economies have become increasingly integrated into a global network At the same time both population and production in developing countries are becoming concentrated in urban regions This in turn has generated demands for more local autonomy shifting more decision making to sub national levels Globalization is expected to continue leading to greater openness and international mobility of capital and people There are few reasons to believe that these trends will abate if anything they are likely to intensify the focus on cities and sharpen competition among these for international and local resources This volume underscores the transformative role of globalization and urbanization and shows the interplay between the two forces Urban Change in the United States and Western Europe Anita A. Summers,P. C. Cheshire,Lanfranco Senn,1999 In this completely revised second edition the authors explore what can be learned from a rigorous comparison of the patterns of urban concentrations of residents and employment in Western Europe and the United States Using a wide range of methodological techniques including economic theory econometrics regional science and institutional historical analysis the essays analyze the factors underlying urban economic development with particular emphasis on the role and effectiveness of public policy Unsettling Cities John Allen,Doreen Massey,Michael Pryke,2005-08-12 This text examines the global nature of cities cities whose openness has shaped their dynamism and character It explores cities as sites of movement migration and settlement where different peoples cultures and environments combine Unsettling Cities explores the mix of proximity and difference that exists in the rich and diverse texture of city life The contributors reveal the association between the changing fortunes of cities and the power and influence of global networks Gentrification in Chinese Cities Qinran Yang,2022-05-20 This book provides an institutional interpretation of state facilitated gentrification in Chengdu an emerging central city of China It generalizes the three aspects of institutional changes in the cultural economic and social spheres that have thus far directed the operation of gentrification in the transitional economy the creative destruction of consumption spaces the spatial production of excess and the unequal redistribution of spatial resources to low income residents The interactions of state and society are examined in navigating the institutional changes and forming the Chinese distinctions of gentrification The author argues that these three aspects of institutional changes characterize gentrification in Chengdu as a transformative force of development led by the state and capitalists and championed by middle class consumers This gentrification mode periodically catalyzes new spaces and collective cultures which then necessitate the stimulation of new consumption behaviors and the formation of new consumer classes at the expense of the spatial demands for the even larger number of low income residents However in the context of China s unique state society relations some low income groups may also ride the wave of social transformation The author suggests that this type of gentrification integrates into not the essence of uneven geographical development in a capitalist society but China s unique model of urbanization and development which is often state driven innovative and even involuted so as to sustain continuous growth Though the research is focused on urban China this book also contributes to methodological issues on gentrification research on a global scale It is skeptical both of the structural explanation and of the revelation of unsorted differences instead it aims to generate midrange regularities of gentrification in Chinese cities Institutional change is treated as an intermediary that on the one hand responds to the global trends and on the other hand adapts to local preconditions Mixed methods including statistical and spatial analysis institutional analysis and an extensive ethnographic study are used to investigate gentrification from a structural perspective a historical perspective and as a grounded process within the locality Structural Change and Evolution of China's Internet Society Liu Shaojie, 2022-11-28 This title investigates China's network society both its online cyber society and offline real world society by analyzing the trends and social foundations of society as network and the social challenges it poses as well as structural changes in social space and social interaction. The first part of the book examines how network society in China forms and develops analyzing the challenges and structural changes it poses. The author studies network power and uncertainties that lies in the supply flow and reception of a massive amount of information revealing how this influences the government's administrative power as well as governance measures to stabilize social cohesion. The second part first discusses the social restructuring and characteristics of network social space in China. Based on case studies of several momentous social events the spatial change characterized by an integration of absence and presence space and its influence on social interaction and experience is elucidated including active absence interaction mediated experience spatial representation and social identities of network aggregation. The book will be a crucial reference for scholars and students studying sociology network sociology and contemporary Chinese society.

Sustainable Development and Planning X. G. Passerini, N. Marchettini, 2018-12-17 This volume contains research from the 10th International Conference on Sustainable Development and Planning. The papers included in this volume form a collection of research from academics policy makers practitioners and other stakeholders from across the globe who discuss the latest advances in the field. Problems related to development and planning which affect rural and urban areas are present in all regions of the world. Accelerated urbanisation has resulted in deterioration of the environment and loss of quality of life. Urban development can also aggravate problems faced by rural areas such as forests mountain regions and coastal areas amongst many others. Taking into consideration the interaction between different regions and developing new methodologies for monitoring planning and implementation of novel strategies can offer solutions for mitigating environmental pollution and non sustainable use of available resources. Energy saving and eco friendly building approaches have become an important part of modern development which places special emphasis on resource optimisation. Planning has a key role to play in ensuring that these solutions as well as new materials and processes are incorporated in the most efficient manner. The application of new academic findings to planning and development strategies assessment tools and decision making processes are all covered in this book.

Selected Essays of Nigel Harris Nigel Harris, 2017-10-02 Nigel Harris's Selected Essays From National Liberation to Globalisation presents an encompassing overview of the work of one of the most prolific and insightful Marxist economists of the second half of the twentieth century. It starts off with a new interview in which Harris reflects on the development of his thought over the more than half a century separating the death of Stalin from the latest developments in globalisation and capitalist restructuring. The collected essays deal with topics ranging from imperialism and the state to the political economy of development and migration and offer an ample selection from Harris's political journalism. Together the work constitutes at once a personal journey through the history of the British revolutionary left and a trenchant commentary on some of the most fundamental problems facing a renewed Marxist theory

Sacred Spaces and Public Quarrels Paul Tiyambe Zeleza, Ezekiel Kalipeni, 1999 How do Africans conceive space How are places constructed and imagined How do the conceptions constructions imaginings of spaces and places affect and in turn are affected by social economic and political change These are some of the questions answered in this the first book of its kind to address systematically the themes of of space and spatiality

Market Economy and Urban Change Mohamed Hamza, Roger Zetter, 2013-06-17 Across the developing world the preceding decade or so has witnessed a profound reconfiguration of the political economy of urban policy This new policy environment is driven by globalization the neo liberal macro economic package of market enablement and structural adjustment which now form the dominant development paradigm The consequences of this approach for urban development agendas and ultimately the lives and livelihoods of millions of people across the globe are profound Market Economy and Urban Change explores and evaluates urban sector and development policies in the context of market enablement and the associated instruments of structural adjustment urban management reform and good governance By articulating the linkages between this neo liberal development paradigm and the way different actors in the urban sector enact policy responses the book provides an understanding of both the factors driving market enablement and its impacts on urban sector policies and programmes With case studies drawn from countries such as Egypt Mexico Kenya Brazil Colombia and transitional economies the book focuses in particular on the implications for land shelter and related sectoral policies for poverty alleviation By linking policy to practice the book seeks to inform policy makers in governments donor and implementing agencies of the impact of shifts in the development debate on urban sector strategies

Cities and Gender Helen Jarvis, Jonathan Cloke, Paula Kantor, 2009-06-02 Men and women experience the city differently in relation to housing assets use of transport relative mobility spheres of employment and a host of domestic and caring responsibilities An analysis of urban and gender studies as co constitutive subjects is long overdue Cities and Gender is a systematic treatment of urban and gender studies combined It presents both a feminist critique of mainstream urban policy and planning and a gendered reorientation of key urban social environmental and city regional debates It looks behind the headlines on issues of transport housing uneven development regeneration and social exclusion for instance to account for the hidden infrastructure of everyday life The three main sections on Approaching the City Gender and Built Environment and finally Representation and Regulation explore not only the changing environments working practices and household structures evident in European and North American cities today but also those of the global south International case studies alert the reader to stark contrasts in gendered life chances differences between north and south as well as inequalities and diversity within these regions while at the same time highlighting interdependencies which globally thread through the lives of women and men as the result of uneven development This book introduces the reader to previously neglected dimensions of gendered critical urban analysis It sheds light through competing theories and alternative explanations on recent transformations of gender roles state and personal politics and power relations across intersecting spheres of home work the family urban settlements and civil society It takes a household perspective alongside close scrutiny of social networks gender contracts welfare regimes and local cultural milieu In addition to providing the student with a solid conceptual grounding across broad structures of production consumption and social reproduction the argument cultivates an interdisciplinary awareness of and dialogue between the everyday issues of urban dwellers in affluent and developing world cities The format of the book means that included with each chapter are key definitions boxed concepts and case study evidence along with specifically tailored learning activities and further reading This is both a timely and trenchant discussion that has pertinence for students scholars and researchers

City Inequality - 7035iied International Institute for Environment & Development,1996 Cities of the Global South Reader Faranak Miraftab,Neema Kudva,2014-10-10 The Cities of the Global South Reader adopts a fresh and critical approach to the field of urbanization in the developing world The Reader incorporates both early and emerging debates about the diverse trajectories of urbanization processes in the context of the restructured global alignments in the last three decades Emphasizing the historical legacies of colonialism the Reader recognizes the entanglement of conditions and concepts often understood in binary relations first third worlds wealth poverty development underdevelopment and inclusion exclusion By asking whose city whose development the Reader rigorously highlights the fractures along lines of class race gender and other socially and spatially constructed hierarchies in global South cities The Reader s thematic structure where editorial introductions accompany selected texts examines the issues and concerns that urban dwellers planners and policy makers face in the contemporary world These include the urban economy housing basic services infrastructure the role of non state civil society based actors planned interventions and contestations the role of diaspora capital the looming problem of adapting to climate change and the increasing spectre of violence in a post 9 11 transnational world The Cities of the Global South Reader pulls together a diverse set of readings from scholars across the world some of which have been written specially for the volume to provide an essential resource for a broad interdisciplinary readership at undergraduate and postgraduate levels in urban geography urban sociology and urban planning as well as disciplines related to international and development studies Editorial commentaries that introduce the central issues for each theme summarize the state of the field and outline an associated bibliography They will be of particular value for lecturers students and researchers making the Cities of the Global South Reader a key text for those interested in understanding contemporary urbanization processes

Green Development Model of China's Small and Medium-sized Cities Xuefeng Li,Xuke Liu,2018-07-20 The book discusses how to establish a land use system for small and medium sized cities in order to promote low carbon economic development and to ensure sustainable development It also presents the objectives and requirements of urban green development The first objective is to establish a green city with ecological harmony The second is the establishment of a people oriented harmonious city which is important for the green development of city Drawing on past experience and combining this with the current situation in China s cities it argues that the construction of people oriented harmonious cities should be a priority The third objective is to build multi functional organic cities in which the urban function is relatively independent Lastly the fourth objective is to establish a city with unique charm applying historical ways of thinking to today s world

Transformation of Cities in Central and Eastern Europe F. E. Ian Hamilton, Kaliopa Dimitrovska Andrews, Nataša Pichler-Milanović, 2005 Annotation This volume is one in a series initiated by the United Nations University Institute of Advanced Studies on the inter relationship between globalisation and urban transformation It identifies and describes the inter and intra urban transformations of Central and Eastern European cities and considers their pre 1945 historic legacies the socialist period and their contemporary transition towards market oriented and democratic systems The dramatic changes since 1989 including the collapse of Communist ideology the break up of the Soviet Union Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia the end of the Cold War and the impact of globalisation and European integration have reconfigured this region and affected their re integration into European and global networks This book first examines the similarities and differences between significant Central and Eastern European cities comparing the differing patterns of historical context and socialist legacies before 1990 and the impacts of internal and external forces on re shaping these cities and their paths of transformation since 1990 It also examines the role of contemporary planning within the overall development of Central and Eastern European cities The conclusion demonstrates the similarities and differences between Central and Eastern European cities and their re integration into global networks
