The Politics of Citizenship in Indonesia Eric Hiarij, Kristian Stokke, 2022-02-10 This book highlights the gains that a citizenship approach offers to the study of democracy in Indonesia demonstrating that the struggle for citizenship and the historical development of democracy in the country are closely interwoven The book arises from a research agenda aiming to help Indonesia s democracy activists by unpacking citizenship as it is produced and practiced through movements against injustice taking the shape of struggles by people at grassroots levels for cultural recognition social and economic injustice and popular representation Such struggles in Indonesia have engaged with the state through both discursive and non discursive processes The authors show that while the state is the common focal point these struggles are fragmented across different sectors and subject positions The authors thus propose that developing chains of solidarity is highly important to motivating a democracy that not only has sovereign control over public affairs but also robust channels and organisations for political representation In advocating the development of transformative agendas organisations and strategies as an important need and an enduring challenge for the realization of citizenship this book is timely and relevant to the study of contemporary Indonesia s socio political landscape It is relevant to students and scholars in political science anthropology sociology human geography and development studies

Orientalism Engin F Isin,2015-10-14 This collection offers a postcolonial critique of the ostensible superiority or originality of Western political theory and one of its fundamental concepts citizenship The chapters analyse the undoing uncovering and reinventing of citizenship as a way of investigating citizenship as political subjectivity If it has now become very difficult to imagine citizenship merely as nationality or membership in the nation state this is at least in part because of the anticolonial struggles and the project of reimagining citizenship after orientalism that they precipitated If it has become difficult to sustain the orientalist assumption the question arises how do we investigate citizenship as political subjectivity after orientalism This book was originally published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies

Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope ,2018-11-26 Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope brings together contributions from international youth studies experts who ask how young people and institutions are responding to high levels of unemployment student debt housing costs that lock many out of home ownership and the challenge to find meaningful modes of participation in neo liberal social contexts Contributors including Henry Giroux Anita Harris and Judith Bessant draw on a range of theoretical methodological and empirical work to identify and debate some of the challenges and opportunities of the politics of outrage and hope that should accompany academic community and political discussions about the futures that young people will inherit and make Young People and the Politics of Outrage and Hope is now available in paperback for individual customers

Identity, Belonging and Migration Gerard Delanty,Ruth Wodak,Paul Jones,2008 Shows that that liberalism is not enough to oppose the disparate and diffuse xenophobia and racism faced by many migrants today and calls for conceptions of anti racism within and beyond the state

In From the Margins ,2006-01-01 This book focuses at the margins of adult education work and civil society Rather than focusing on active participants and active participation the objective is to scrutinize the whole adult population in terms of participation and to pay special attention to those who are so easily left out of studies concerning adult education learning at work or active participation in civil society The aim of the book is to bring into the discussion the views of those who do not find attending adult education possible and who thus form a challenge for the promotion of active citizenship In the collection of articles researchers from various disciplines and with cross disciplinary interests in adult education and marginalisation meet and discuss with each other within and beyond their own disciplines
