Citizenship In Transformation In Canada Citizenship Work Education:

Citizenship in Transformation in Canada Yvonne M. Hébert, 2002-01-01 Contributors argue persuasively that since conceptions of democratic citizenship are changing so too should operational definitions of citizenship education

Routledge Handbook of Global Citizenship Studies Engin Isin, Peter Nyers, 2014-06-27 Citizenship studies is at a crucial moment of globalizing as a field What used to be mainly a European North American and Australian field has now expanded to major contributions featuring scholarship from Latin America Asia Africa and the Middle East The Routledge Handbook of Global Citizenship Studies takes into account this globalizing moment At the same time it considers how the global perspective exposes the strains and discords in the concept of citizenship as it is understood today With over fifty contributions from international interdisciplinary experts the Handbook features state of the art analyses of the practices and enactments of citizenship across broad continental regions Africas Americas Asias and Europes as well as deterritorialized forms of citizenship Diasporicity and Indigeneity Through these analyses the Handbook provides a deeper understanding of citizenship in both empirical and theoretical terms This volume sets a new agenda for scholarly investigations of citizenship Its wide ranging contributions and clear accessible style make it essential reading for students and scholars working on citizenship issues across the humanities and social sciences

Educating for Citizenship in a Canada-China Sister School Reciprocal Learning Partnership Yishin Khoo, 2022-12-13 This book enriches the discourse around Global Citizenship Education in teacher education through the example of a teacher's experience in a Canada China Sister School reciprocal learning landscape Instead of positioning global citizenship teaching and learning as a set of fixed goals to be attained by teachers alone this book approaches global citizenship teaching and learning as unfinished lifework in progress and as situated curriculum problems to be inquired together by university researchers school teachers and students under the spirit of reciprocity and community This reimagination of narratives theory and action start from collaborative and reciprocal learning partnerships among Chinese and Canadian researchers and teachers in the practicality of re searching and re enacting the purpose and meanings of twenty first century education in a Canada China Sister School setting

Learning from Difference: Comparative Accounts of Multicultural Education Joseph Lo Bianco, Aydin Bal, 2016-03-30 This book analyses the experiences of multicultural education in nine very different international settings uncovering insights from a vast variety of educational contexts Taking a multi critical approach in reporting and discussing problems faced by increasingly multicultural and multilingual societies the nine case studies reflect radically different assumptions about what counts as difference and what should be the appropriate ways for education systems to respond to differences While each country's approach seems unique analysis of the divergent treatments of internal population diversity elicits a genuinely global instance of the increasingly shared phenomenon of cultural pluralism Discussing various successes and failures of policy enactment theory pedagogy and management of diversity the book isolates both the differences and similarities in the unique geopolitical and socio historical contexts of the countries investigated A key value of the book is that it greatly expands the range of settings experiences epistemologies ontologies and practical experiences that are typically encountered in mainstream discussion of what counts as multicultural education In effect all societies are in some way dealing with difference this volume helps widen the scope of reflection and thus facilitates increased global learning from difference

Globalization, the Nation-State and the Citizen Alan Reid, Judith Gill, Alan Sears, 2013-03-01 The past decade has seen an explosion of interest in civics and citizenship education There have been unprecedented developments in citizenship education taking place in schools adult education centers or in the less formally structured spaces of media images and commentary around the world This book provides an overview of the development of civics and citizenship education policy across a range of nation states The contributors all widely respected scholars in the field of civics and citizenship education provide a thorough understanding of the different ways in which citizenship has been taken up by educators governments and the wider public Citizenship is never a single given unproblematic concept but rather its meanings have to be worked through and developed in terms of the particularities of socio political location and history This volume promotes a wider and more grounded understanding of the ways in which citizenship education is enacted across different nation states in order to develop education for active and participatory citizenry in both local and global contexts

Contestations of Citizenship, Education, and Democracy in an Era of Global Change Patricia K. Education, Politics and Religion James Arthur, Liam Gearon, Alan Sears, 2010-06-28 In recent years a number of popular books have savaged religion arguing it is a dangerous delusion that poisons human societies and relationships This is but the most recent manifestation of a secularising agenda that has been sweeping contemporary democratic societies since the Enlightenment This book pushes back against that agenda examining its key assumptions and arguing that the exclusion of religious people and ideas from education and the public square is both undemocratic and unwise For the most part the book draws arguments and examples from Christianity the religious tradition of the authors but it recognises that many religions share the concerns and possibilities examined The book examines contemporary expressions of the secularising agenda in Western democracies with particular focus on how that is played out in education It demonstrates how republican theory understood within a faith perspective provides a shared understanding and substantive basis for education within a Western democracy It explores the historical connections and disconnections between religion and civic life in the West from ancient to contemporary times and examines religiously based civic action and pedagogical approaches contending both have the potential to contribute greatly to democracy It will be of value to any who are interested in exploring how democracies can include the voices of all their citizens the religious and the secular

Neo-Liberalism, Globalization and Human Capital Learning Emery J. Hyslop-Margison, Alan M. Sears, 2007-05-27 Education for living or earning a living To what degree should schooling be the same for all students What is the critical part that school has to play as a core democratic institution in educating citizens who are ready to engage and commit themselves to the idea of social change and progress toward increased levels of social equality The answers to these questions have preoccupied generations of philosophers educational planners and practitioners Recently neo liberal ideology has succeeded in focusing the answer on human capital preparation and instrumental learning as the panacea to the inequalities created by the present global economic order which serves the few at the expense of the many Through a careful analysis of the historical evidence and based on ideas from progressivism liberal education and critical theory The authors reclaim career and vocational education for thick democracy This definition of democracy has at its core social and economic equality It means that students have the right to an education that will give them the tools needed to participate in creating the conditions of their career and vocational experience as future workers and citizens

Transnational Migration, Social Inclusion, and Adult Education Shibao Guo, Elizabeth Lange, 2015-06-29 As a result of transnational migration many countries are becoming increasingly ethnoculturally diverse creating both new opportunities and challenges for practices of adult education This volume examines the changing nature of adult education in the age of increased transnational migration and synthesizes the latest research policies and practices in transnational migration and adult education examines the larger historical and structural issues of race and gender in immigration and newer theories such as diaspora studies in relation to adult education and provides examples and recommendations for enhancing socially just and inclusive adult education environments for newcomers Transborder injustices and multiple dimensions of social justice permeate immigration dynamics and challenge adult educators to rethink social justice in a transnational age This is the 146th volume of the Jossey Bass series New Directions for Adult and Continuing Education Noted for its depth of coverage it explores issues of common interest to instructors administrators counselors and policymakers in a broad range of education settings such as colleges and universities extension programs businesses libraries and museums

Migration, Work and Citizenship in the New Global Order Ronaldo Munck, Carl Ulrik Schierup, Raúl Delgado Wise, 2013-09-13 Any consideration of global migration in relation to work and citizenship must necessarily be situated in the context of the Great Recession A whole historical chapter that of neoliberalism has now closed and the future can only be deemed uncertain Migrant workers were key players during this phase of the global system supplying cheap and flexible labour inputs when required in the rich countries Now with the further sustainability of the neoliberal political and economic world order in question what will be the role of migration in terms of work patterns and what modalities of political citizenship will develop While informalization of the relations of production and the precarization of work were once assumed to be the exception that is no longer the case As for citizenship this book posits a parallel development of precarious citizenship for migrants made increasingly vulnerable by the global economic crisis But we are also in an era of profound social transformation in the context of which social counter movements emerge which may halt the disembedding of the market from social control and its corrosive impact This book was published as a special issue of Globalizations

Law and Citizenship Law Commission of Canada, 2011-11-01 Long confined to the study of nationality citizenship was not always considered a major concern of social scientists In recent decades however the concept of citizenship has generated significant interest and intellectual debate in a variety of academic contexts Globalization is changing the relationships between actors on the national and international stage and shifting the balance of power between them These changes have spawned a wealth of scholarship across social science disciplines The essays in Law and Citizenship add to this lively discourse and provide a framework for analyzing citizenship in an increasingly globalized world A number of fundamental issues are addressed How are traditional notions of citizenship erecting borders against those who are excluded What are the impacts of changing notions of state borders and participation on our concepts of citizenship Within territorial borders to what extent are citizens able to participate given that the principles of accountability transparency and representativeness remain ideals There are numerous implications of the concept of citizenship for law and public policy in a number of different fields International law both private and public poverty law immigration law constitutional law history political science and sociology all reflect concepts of citizenship Law and Citizenship will appeal to scholars and students in law and politics as well as those interested in the idea of citizenship in
