The City and the Mosque Basil Al-Bayati, 1984-01-01 Discusses the spread of Islam the Islamic World the Muslim people traditionalism a selected bibliography The author was trained at the University of Baghdad the University College the Architectural Association in London Djibouti City (Djibouti) , Mosque Architecture: A Transdisciplinary Debate

Mohammed Fekry, Mady A.A. Mohamed, Anna Visvizi, Asmaa Ibrahim, Lamiaa F. Ghamri, 2023-06-28 Against a backdrop of environmental and societal concerns best captured by the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) this book brings together the leading voices on Mosque architecture to make a case for its role as a purveyor of culture heritage and sustainability in the modern world The Mosque as an institution continues to serve as the epicenter of spiritual moral and cultural life in Muslim societies Recognizing that the popular understanding of Muslim culture and archetypes is at best minimal among the broader public worldwide this book has two objectives i.e. i to explore Masjid architecture as a carrier of culture heritage and the sustainability of Muslim communities and ii to offer a bias free introduction to the intricacies of Muslim architecture culture and heritage today The papers featured in this collection were presented at the 5th Mamyat International Conference MIC held at Effat University Jeddah The MIC's objective is to build bridges between research communities engaged with diverse aspects of science technology and innovation seen as the key levers for attaining the SDGs Re-imagining the City Somaiyeh Falahat, 2013-12-09 Somaiyeh Falahat investigates the spatial and morphological logic of pre modern Middle Eastern and North African cities so called Islamic cities She bases her argument on the fact that the city and consequently its form and structure similar to other human products have deep roots in the thought structure of the people Thus to know such places properly one has to refer to this life world and use it as a structure to observe the city This approach aims at opening new levels of understanding of the city by grasping indigenous concepts and structures it puts forward claims for the possibility of a new method of analysis The author studies the historic city of Isfahan as the case study and suggests that an indigenous term Hezar Toon can explain the complexity of the city which has been interpreted as labyrinthine and maze like accounting for the essence of the city and its form in an appropriate way Looking at the city from this new point of view can help in observing it in its context and subsequently in discovering its real character City of Empires Michael J. K. Walsh, 2015-10-05 Despite its undoubted importance there has never been a volume dedicated entirely to studies of the historic city of Famagusta in the years which followed the siege of 1571 City of Empires Ottoman and British Famagusta takes an important first step in redressing this imbalance The four centuries which followed the conflict as the contributions gathered here demonstrate are rich research seams for scholars of history urban design photography art history literature drama military history and the post war mandates City of Empires also places emphasis on the tangible heritage of Famagusta twice listed as endangered by World Monuments Fund and now the recipient of an increasing number of international efforts to protect it Fear in Our Hearts Caleb Iyer Elfenbein, 2021-01-05 Argues that anti Muslim activity reveals how fear is corroding core American values In a 2018 national poll over ninety percent of respondents reported that treating people equally is an essential American value Almost eighty percent said accepting people of different racial backgrounds is very important Yet about half of the general public reported that they doubt whether Muslims can truly dedicate themselves to American values and society Why do many people who say they believe in equality and acceptance of those of different backgrounds also think that Muslims could be an exception to that rule In Fear in Our Hearts Caleb Iyer Elfenbein examines Islamophobia in the United States positing that rather than simply being an outcome of the 9 11 attacks anti Muslim activity grows out of a fear of difference that has always characterized US public life Elfenbein examines the effects of this fear on American Muslims as well as describing how it works to shape and distort American society Drawing on over 1 800 news reports documenting anti Muslim activity Elfenbein pinpoints trends draws connections to the broader histories of immigration identity belonging and citizenship in the US and examines how Muslim communities have responded In the face of public fear and hate American Muslim communities have sought to develop connections with non Muslims through unprecedented levels of community transparency outreach and public engagement efforts Despite the hostile environment that has made these efforts necessary American Muslims have faced down their own fears to offer a model for building communities and creating more welcoming conditions of public life for everyone Arguing that anti Muslim activity tells us as much about the state of core American values in general as it does about the particular experiences of American Muslims this compelling look at Muslims in America offers practical ideas about how we can create a more welcoming public life for all in our everyday lives

Can Islam Be French? John R. Bowen, 2011-11-06 Bowen asks not the usual question how well are Muslims integrating in France but rather how do French Muslims think about Islam In particular Bowen examines how French Muslims are fashioning new Islamic institutions and developing new ways of reasoning and teaching He looks at some of the quite distinct ways in which mosques have connected with broader social and political forces how Islamic educational entrepreneurs have fashioned niches for new forms of schooling and how major Islamic public actors have set out a specifically French approach to religious norms from publisher description
