City Images Mary Ann Caws, 2013-11-26 First Published in 1991 Knowing any real city and still more so knowing what it is to know a city may be as much about passive as about active experience What we read in the field that field of the city in all its bizarre mixture of culture and nature is bound to determine to some non fictional extent what we know of it what we imagine it could be what we fear it may be or become These essays are meant to be albeit in their critical mode the recountings of knowing something through something else they are the projected imagination through reading of the reading by the self and or others a wide range of each of a city or cities as such of what city knowing or city thinking is The city as stage market and labyrinth variously trafficked and aestheticized dreamt and politicized as passionately written by authors from Cicero to Kazin from Wordsworth Dickens Whitman and Woolf to Williams Ashbery and Bonnefoy is the place the essays play themselves out through architecture and metaphor After-Images of the City Joan Ramon Resina, Dieter Ingenschay, 2018-08-06 Criticism on the textual and iconographic construction of the city is extensive yet the problem of historical change in representations of the urban has received little attention Believing traditional accounts are limited by their reflection of a specific historical moment Joan Ramon Resina and Dieter Ingenschay focus by contrast on transition In essays written for this volume scholars of literary and visual studies the history of architecture cultural theory and urban geography explore the ways perceptual or conceptual paradigms of the city supersede or replace others while at the same time retaining the after image of what went before The writers touch on a wide variety of issues related to contemporary urban cultures as they journey through cities including New York Barcelona Madrid Paris Tijuana Berlin and London Drawing on the work of Roland Barthes Walter Benjamin Camilo Jos Cela Honor de Balzac and Alfred Stieglitz their approach is broadly cultural rather than technical After Images of the City takes into account the intrinsic instability of the image and reveals that representations of the modern metropolis cannot be fixed in time and history Perceptual and Cognitive Image of the City Chiranji Singh Yadav, 1987 Image of Istanbul, Impact of ECOC 2010 on the City Image Evinc Dogan, 2016-07-31 Istanbul took the stage as one of the three European Capital of Culture ECoC cities in 2010 In this spectacle the urban spaces were projected as the theatre d cor while residents and visitors became the spectators The images of Istanbul pile up in videos and posters to show the city in every aspect in which everything becomes mishmash and the message gets lost in the chaos While Istanbul is depicted as a mystified city through Orientalist representations this image of Istanbul moves between the opposite ends of the contrasting pairs and in contestation Culture defined as making sense of the world Hall 1997 2 is an integral part of branding a place which involves cultural exchange Anholt 2005 140 Mega events may be used as forms of advertising for city marketing and branding where the signification is not only about production of meaning but also staging of the meaning The cities hosting mega events can be turned into the protagonists of the spectacle by showcasing their cultural products as well as cultural being Thus what staged there are the city its image as well as the events The mega events are helpful to spread the word about the city but the meaning is created also through imaging the city and positioning this image in the minds of the people

The Routledge Companion to Literary Urban Studies Lieven Ameel, 2022-08-10 Over the past decades the growing interest in the study of literature of the city has led to the development of literary urban studies as a discipline in its own right The Routledge Companion to Literary Urban Studies provides a methodical overview of the fundamentals of this developing discipline and a detailed outline of new directions in the field It consists of 33 newly commissioned chapters that provide an outline of contemporary literary urban studies The Companion covers all of the main theoretical approaches as well as key literary genres with case studies covering a range of different geographical cultural and historical settings The final chapters provide a window into new debates in the field The three focal issues are key concepts and genres of literary urban studies a reassessment and critique of classical urban studies theories and the canon of literary capitals and methods for the analysis of cities in literature The Routledge Companion to Literary Urban Studies provides the reader with practical insights into the methods and approaches that can be applied to the city in literature and serves as an important reference work for upper level students and researchers working on city literature Chapter 15 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com>

Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory Stella Souvatzi, Athena Hadji, 2013-10-15 Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory addresses these two concepts as interrelated rather than as separate categories and as a means for understanding past social relations at different scales The need for this volume was realised through four main observations the ever growing interest in space and spatiality across the social sciences the comparative theoretical and methodological neglect of time and temporality the lack in the existing literature of an explicit and balanced focus on both space and time and the large amount of new information coming from prehistoric Mediterranean It focuses on the active and interactive role of space and time in the production of any social environment drawing equally on contemporary theory and on case studies from Mediterranean prehistory Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory seeks to break down the space time continuum often assumed rather than inferred into space time units and to uncover the varying and variable interrelations of space and time in prehistoric societies across the Mediterranean The volume is a response to the dissatisfaction with traditional views of space and time in prehistory and revisits these concepts to develop a timely integrative conceptual and analytical framework for the study of space and time in archaeology

Sustaining Cities Linda Krause, 2012-12-14 What has happened to cities after the global economic recession Sustaining Cities answers this question by explaining how failed governmental policies contributed to urban problems and offering best practices for solving them From social scientists and urban planners to architects and literary and film critics the authors of this unique collection suggest real responses to this crisis Could the drastic declines in housing markets have been avoided Yes if we reframe our housing values Do you want to attract corporate investment to your town You might want to think twice about doing so The extinction of the Celtic Tiger may be charted in statistics but the response in popular Irish mystery novels is much more compelling China while not immune to market vicissitudes still booms but at a considerable cost to its urban identities Whether constructing a sustainable social framework for Mexican mega cities or a neighborhood in London these nine essays consider some strikingly similar strategies And perhaps as the contributors suggest it s time to look beyond the usual boundaries of urban suburban and exurban to forge new links among these communities that will benefit all citizens Accessible to anyone with an interest in how cities cope today Sustaining Cities presents a cautionary tale with a hopeful ending effective city branding are outlined in Human Factors in Design, Engineering, and Computing Waldemar Karwowski, Tareq Ahram, 2024-11-08 Proceedings of the AHFE International Conference on Human Factors in Design Engineering and Computing AHFE 2024 Hawaii Edition Honolulu Hawaii USA 8-10 December 2024 Mega-events and Urban Image Construction Anne-Marie Broudehoux, 2017-02-17 The focus of this book is the influence of mega events in the transformation of image construction practices in their host cities. It uses the idea of urban image construction as a lens through which to examine the spectacles of mega events with chapters exploring different themes that compose the image engineering process. The physical and social dimensions of these spectacles are addressed as is the emerging resistance to controversial initiatives. The book explores the unique conditions of mega event hosting by employing a political economy point of view and focusing the analytical lenses on Rio de Janeiro and Beijing two recent Olympic host cities with immense social inequalities.

Articles on Current Affairs Shashikant Nishant Sharma, 2013-08-20 This is a collection of articles on current affairs of national and international importance. The book contains many articles on urban planning, environmental sustainability and participatory governance which is rare to find in conventional magazines of current affairs. This book is intended for those who are in any manner related to the policy framing and policy implementation in the developing countries. The author has expressed his well balanced thoughts on various contemporary issues of political socio economic spheres of Indian context.

The Imaginative Institution: Planning and Governance in Madrid Professor Michael Neuman, 2012-11-28 Every 20 years since 1920 Madrid has undergone an urban planning cycle in which a city plan was prepared, adopted by law and implemented by a new institution. This preparation, adoption, institutionalization sequence along with the institution's structures and procedures have persisted with some exceptions despite frequent upheavals in society. The planning institution itself played a lead role in maintaining continuity, traumatic history notwithstanding. Why and how was this the case? Madrid's planners who had mostly trained as architects invented new images for the city and metro region, images of urban space that were social constructs, the products of planning processes. These images were tools that coordinated planning and urban policy. In a complex, fragmented institutional milieu in which scores of organized interests competed in overlapping policy arenas, images were a cohesive force around which plans, policies and investments were shaped. Planners in Madrid also used their images to build new institutions. Images began as city or metropolitan designs or as a metaphor capturing a new vision. New political regimes injected their principles and beliefs into the governing institution via images and metaphors. These images went a long way in constituting the new institution and in helping realize each regime's goals. This empirically based life cycle theory of institutional evolution suggests that the constitutional image sustaining the institution undergoes a change or is replaced by a new image leading to a new or reformed institution. A life cycle typology of institutional transformation is formulated with four variables: type of change, stimulus for change, type of constitutional image and outcome of the transformation. By linking the life cycle hypothesis with cognitive theories of image formation and then situating their synthesis within a frame of cognition as a means of structuring the institution this book arrives at a new theory of institutional evolution The constitutional image represents the institution s ideology and precepts that are replicated over space and time via structures and processes Changing the constitutional image in the minds of the institution s members yields a change in the institution

Enjoying the Beat of Appearance: An Mental Symphony within City Images

In a world taken by displays and the ceaseless chatter of fast interaction, the melodic beauty and mental symphony developed by the published word usually diminish in to the back ground, eclipsed by the relentless sound and distractions that permeate our lives.
