document Text and Textuality in Early Medieval Iberia Graham Barrett, 2023-06-20 Text and Textuality in Early Medieval Iberia is a study of the functions and conceptions of writing and reading documentation and archives and the role of literate authorities in the Christian kingdoms of the northern Iberian Peninsula between the Muslim conquest of 711 and the fall of the Islamic caliphate at Córdoba in 1031 Based on the first complete survey of the over 4 000 surviving Latin charters from the period it is an essay in the archaeology and biography of text part one concerns materiality tracing the lifecycle of charters from initiation and composition to preservation and reuse while part two addresses connectivity delineating a network of texts through painstaking identification of more than 2 000 citations of other charters secular and canon law the Bible liturgy and monastic rules Few may have been able to read or write yet the extent of textuality was broad and deep in the authority conferred upon text and the arrangements made to use it Via charter and scribe society and social arrangements came increasingly to be influenced by norms originating from a network of texts By profiling the intersection and interaction of text with society and culture Graham Barrett reconstructs textuality how the authority of the written and the structures to access it framed and constrained actions and cultural norms and proposes a new model of early medieval reading As they cited other texts charters circulated fragments of those texts we must rethink the relationship of sources and audiences to reflect fragmentary transmission in a textuality of imperfect knowledge Advances in Tourism,
