Rights Helen Fenwick, 2002-01-02 This third edition has been extensively re-written in order to consider the impact of the Human Rights Act 1998 It takes extensive account not only of the Strasbourg jurisprudence but also of a number of key domestic decisions in the post Human Rights Act era Particular attention is paid to Labour legislation including the Terrorism Act 2000 the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 the Data Protection Act 1998 the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001 This book is a detailed thought provoking and comprehensive text that is valuable not only for students but also for all those interested in the development of civil liberties in the Human Rights Act era

Civil Liberties and Human Rights in Twentieth-Century Britain Chris Moores, 2017-02-16 The first comprehensive account of civil liberties activism throughout twentieth century Britain focusing primarily on the National Council for Civil Liberties A Critical Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors, Living and Deceased, from the Earliest Account to the Latter Half of the Nineteenth Century Samuel Austin Allibone, 1881 A Critical Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors S. Austin Allibone, 1874 An Essay on the Principle of Population Thomas Robert Malthus, 1878 An Essay on the Principle of Population Thomas Malthus, 2024-11-24 The following Essay owes its origin to a conversation with a friend on the subject of Mr Godwin's essay on avarice and profusion in his Enquirer The discussion started the general question of the future improvement of society and the Author at first sat down with an intention of merely stating his thoughts to his friend upon paper in a clearer manner than he thought he could do in conversation But as the subject opened upon him some ideas occurred which he did not recollect to have met with before and as he conceived that every least light on a topic so generally interesting might be received with candour he determined to put his thoughts in a form for publication The Essay might undoubtedly have been rendered much more complete by a collection of a greater number of facts in elucidation of the general argument But a long and almost total interruption from very particular business joined to a desire perhaps imprudent of not delaying the publication much beyond the time that he originally proposed prevented the Author from giving to the subject an undivided attention He presumes however that the facts which he has adduced will be found to form no inconsiderable evidence for the truth of his opinion respecting the future improvement of mankind As the Author contemplates this opinion at present little more appears to him to be necessary than a plain statement in addition to the most cursory view of society to establish it It is an obvious truth which has been taken notice of by many writers that population must always be kept down to the level of the means of subsistence but no writer that the Author recollects has inquired particularly into the means by which this level is effected and it is a view of these means which forms to his mind the strongest obstacle in the way to any very great future improvement of society He hopes it will appear that in the discussion of this interesting subject he is actuated solely by a love of truth and not by any prejudices against any particular set of men or of opinions He professes to have read some of the speculations on the future improvement of society in a temper very different from a wish to find them visionary but he has not acquired that command over his understanding which would enable him to believe what he wishes without evidence or to refuse his assent to what might be displeasing when accompanied with evidence

Journalism Worthy of the Name

Herdís Thorgeirsdóttir, 2005-06-01 The subject of this study is freedom within the press the nature and limits of the protection afforded to the journalistic imparting process which has been a neglected area of research The analysis draws on the classical defenders of freedom of speech Milton and Mill to show that at the dawn of the 21st century the intertwined alliance between big business and public authorities resulting in the widespread phenomena of self censorship within the media constitutes an almost insurmountable obstacle Instead of enlightening the public and inspiring the individual the press may be contributing to an inert public and individual cowardice antithetical to the objectives of human dignity and democracy The core of the problem is that prima facie the infringement of freedom within the media is not exercised on legal premises and cannot therefore be solved within the legal framework The operation of the press in society is conditioned by three types of regulation legal regulation market regulation and self regulation Legal regulation does not adequately presuppose the impact of the latter as it is based on the assumption that press freedom is mainly a negative liberty The book explores the affirmative side of Article 10 of the European Convention on Human Rights to guarantee press freedom that is not merely illusory but practical and effective Convention jurisprudence has not only influenced the domestic courts of the Contracting Parties but also the legislators of the Member States In an era of globalization dominant media operators wield power in their own domestic markets to impede national regulators in adopting interventionist media policies to secure journalistic freedoms The Convention jurisprudence represents a kind of European ius commune which is here set in the context of an analysis reflecting the problems and values at issue and offering recommendations to alleviate a situation which threatens democratic ideals and public spirited journalism
