Civil War In North Carolina:

The Civil War in North Carolina John G. Barrett, 2017-11-01 Eleven battles and seventy three skirmishes were fought in North Carolina during the Civil War Although the number of men involved in many of these engagements was comparatively small the campaigns and battles themselves were crucial in the grand strategy of the conflict and involved some of the most famous generals of the war John Barrett presents the complete story of military engagements across the state including the classical pitched battle of Bentonville the siege of Fort Fisher the amphibious campaigns on the coast and cavalry sweeps such as Stoneman s raid From and through North Carolina men and supplies went to Lee s army in Virginia making the Tar Heel state critical to Lee s ability to remain in the field during the closing months of the war when the Union had cut off the West and Gulf South This dependence upon North Carolina led to Stoneman s cavalry raid and Sherman s march through the state in 1865 the latter of which brought the horrors of total war and eventual defeat The Civil War in North Carolina:

North Carolina's Civil War Soldiers - Volume 1 - 1861 Barry Munson,2019-12-12 Material for this volume was taken from W W Holden s Raleigh newspaper the North Carolina Standard These articles from the year 1861 written by soldiers and citizens who sent letters and telegrams for publication are the raw material of history presented without an historian s comments or revisions During this period newspapers both Southern and Northern relied heavily on citizens to submit first hand accounts of the conflict Unfortunately Southern newspapers were far behind the Northern ones in employing professional war correspondents to record the conflict This made Southern citizen journalists extremely critical to the spreading the war news across the Southern states North Carolina Civil War Monuments Douglas J. Butler,2013-05-11 Monuments honoring leaders and victorious armies have been raised throughout history Following the American Civil War however this tradition expanded and by the early twentieth century the Confederate dead and surviving veterans although defeated in battle ranked among the world s most commemorated troops This memorialization described in North Carolina Civil War Monuments evolved through a challenging and contentious process accomplished over decades Prompted by the need to rebury wartime dead memorialization led by women first expressed regional grief and mourning then expanded into a vital aspect of Southern memory In North Carolina 109 Civil War monuments 101 honoring Confederate troops and eight commemorating Union forces were raised prior to the Civil War centennial Photographs showcase each memorial while committee records legal documents and contemporaneous accounts are used to detail the difficult process through which these monuments were erected Their design location and funding reflect not only the period s sculptural and cultural milieu but also reveal one state s evolving grief and the forging of public memory Civil War in the North Carolina Quaker Belt William T. Auman,2014-01-23 This is an account of the seven military operations conducted by the Confederacy against deserters and disloyalists and the concomitant internal war between secessionists and those who opposed secession in the Quaker Belt of central North Carolina It explains how the outliers deserters and draft dodgers managed to elude capture and survive despite extensive efforts by Confederate authorities to hunt them down and return them to the army The author discusses the development of the secret underground pro Union organization the Heroes of America and how its members utilized the Underground Railroad dug out caves and an elaborate system of secret signals and communications to elude the hunters Numerous instances of murder rape torture and other brutal acts and many skirmishes between gangs of deserters and Confederate and state troops are recounted In a revisionist interpretation of the Tar Heel wartime peace movement the author argues that William Holden s peace crusade was in fact a Copperhead insurgency in which peace agitators strove for a return of North Carolina and the South to the Union on the Copperhead basis that is with the institution of slavery protected by the Constitution in the returning states North Carolinians in the Era of the Civil War and

Reconstruction Paul D. Escott, 2012-09-01 Although North Carolina was a home front state rather than a battlefield state for most of the Civil War it was heavily involved in the Confederate war effort and experienced many conflicts as a result North Carolinians were divided over the issue of secession and changes in race and gender relations brought new controversy Blacks fought for freedom women sought greater independence and their aspirations for change stimulated fierce resistance from more privileged groups Republicans and Democrats fought over power during Reconstruction and for decades thereafter disagreed over the meaning of the war and Reconstruction With contributions by well known historians as well as talented younger scholars this volume offers new insights into all the key issues of the Civil War era that played out in pronounced ways in the Tar Heel State In nine essays composed specifically for this volume contributors address themes such as ambivalent whites freed blacks the political establishment racial hopes and fears postwar ideology and North Carolina women These issues of the Civil War and Reconstruction eras were so powerful that they continue to agitate North Carolinians today Contributors David Brown Manchester University Judkin Browning Appalachian State University Laura F Edwards Duke University Paul D Escott Wake Forest University John C Inscoe University of Georgia Chandra Manning Georgetown University Barton A Myers University of Georgia Steven E Nash University of Georgia Paul Yandle West Virginia University Karin Zipf East Carolina University The Civil War in North Carolina, Volume 2: The Mountains Christopher M. Perry, 2012-08-09 During the Civil War Confederate military courts sentenced to death more soldiers from North Carolina than from any other state This study offers the first exploration of the service records of 450 of these wayward Confederates most often deserters Arranged by army corps division and brigade it chronicles their military trials and frequent executions and offers explanations of how the lucky and the clever were able to avoid their fate Focus on court activity by company allows for comparisons that emphasize the wide disparity in discipline within a regiment and brigade By stressing the effectiveness of these deadly decisions as deterrents to others this work maintains that an earlier and wider reliance on execution would have strengthened the Confederacy sufficiently to force a negotiated end to the war thus saving many Confederate and Federal lives The Civil War and

Yadkin County, North Carolina Frances Harding Casstevens,1997-01-01 Located in the western piedmont of North Carolina Yadkin County was hardly a hotbed of rebellion at the start of the Civil War Many of the 1 200 men from Yadkin who served in the Confederate Army did so with distinction but a number deserted Some of these holed up in the Bond School House and when the militia attempted to arrest them four were killed and several others were wounded This is a comprehensive accounting of how the county responded to the Civil War and the effect it had on Yadkin s citizens civilian and military alike
