Wojtkowski, 2010-07-12 In 1798 Napol on I launched his Egyptian Campaign and opened what has become recognized as the canonic period of French Orientalism which extends from the late eighteenth through the early twentieth century As defined by Edward W Said Orientalism 1978 Orientalism is intrinsically Eurocentric and places the Orient in opposition to the European West as the quintessentially foreign Other In this sense the Occident supposedly defines itself by gazing at the East as its inverse image and purportedly asserts a geopolitical dominance materially confirmed through imperialism and colonization Although Europe may cast the Orient as the archetypal Other this necessarily entails deep conflict since the Orient is also frequently posited as the source of Western civilization which prohibits the articulation of a complete separation between Europe and the Orient Nevertheless according to French Orientalist discourse the East had fallen into barbarism inertia and languished awaiting the mission civilisatrice by which France undertook a heroic project of universal enlightenment The canonic approach to Orientalism has drawn much criticism which calls for re examining the notion of French Orientalism broadening the scope of enquiry and exploring the history and ideological strategies behind French formulations of the Orient from the Middle Ages through the twenty first century Such an expanded field of investigation reveals that the canonic Orientalist paradigm is not universally applicable particularly regarding material from before the late eighteenth century New theoretical literary historical philosophical and cultural perspectives provide the opportunity to deploy question subvert and resituate canonic Orientalist theories revealing the continuing evolution and relevance of French Orientalism as a notion with global stakes and material consequences Because of its broad scope and variety of theoretical approaches this volume will interest scholars and students from a wide spectrum of disciplines including literature gender studies history theater art history music cinema and cultural studies The Economies of Imperial China and Western Europe Patrick Karl O'Brien, 2020-10-14 This book is a critical interpretation of a seminal and protracted debate in comparative global economic history Since its emergence in now classic publications in economic history between 1997 2000 debate on the divergent economic development that has marked the long term economic growth of China and Western Europe has generated a vast collection of books and articles conferences networks and new journals as well as intense interest from the media and educated public O'Brien provides an historiographical survey and critique of Western views on the long run economic development of the Imperial Economy of China a field of commentary that stretches back to the Enlightenment The book's structure and core argument is concentrated upon an elaboration of and critical engagement with the major themes of recent academic debate on the Great Divergence and it will be of enormous interest to academics and students of economic history political economy the economics of growth and development state formation statistical measurements environmental history and the histories of science and globalization Political Culture in the Latin West, Byzantium and the Islamic World, c.700-c.1500 Catherine Holmes, Jonathan Shepard, Jo van Steenberg, Björn Weiler, 2021-08-26 This comparative study explores three key cultural and political spheres the Latin west Byzantium and the Islamic world from Central Asia to the Atlantic roughly from the emergence of Islam to the fall of Constantinople These spheres drew on a shared pool of late antique Mediterranean culture philosophy and science and they had monotheism and historical antecedents in common Yet where exactly political and spiritual power lay and how it was exercised differed This book focuses on power dynamics and resource allocation among ruling elites the legitimisation of power and property with the aid of religion and on rulers' interactions with local elites and societies Offering the reader route maps towards navigating each sphere and grasping the fundamentals of its political culture this set of parallel studies offers a timely and much needed framework for comparing the societies surrounding the medieval Mediterranean United and Divided Europes: European Culture and Identity since Homer Volume 2 Etienne François, Thomas Serrier, Akiyoshi Nishiyama, Valérie-Barbara Rosoux, Jakob Vogel, 2021 Bringing together leading scholars from across Europe as well as the United States Africa and Asia The European Way since Homer is a three volume journey through the political cultural religious intellectual social and geographical history of Europe It synthesises over 150 chapters on topics from across the spectrum of people places ideas art objects and events that have influenced the shaping of the continent In turn this rich tapestry provides us with unique insights into the nature of European identity the importance of European heritage and the relationship that exists between Europe and the world beyond its boundaries Volume 1 places key ongoing issues in Europe within a deeper historical context It enriches our understanding of collective memory in Europe and the impact this has for

Civilizations Felipe Fernandez-Armesto, 2001-09-14 In Civilizations Felipe Fernandez Armesto once again proves himself a brilliantly original historian capable of large minded and comprehensive works here he redefines the subject that has fascinated historians from Thucydides to Gibbon to Spengler to Fernand Braudel the nature of civilization To Fernandez Armesto a civilization is civilized in direct proportion to its distance its difference from the unmodified natural environment by its taming and warping of climate geography and ecology The same impersonal forces that put an ocean between Africa and India a river delta in Mesopotamia or a 2 000 mile long mountain range in South America have created the mold from which humanity has fashioned its own wildly differing cultures In a grand tradition that is certain to evoke comparisons to the great historical taxonomies each chapter of Civilizations connects the world of the ecologist and geographer to a panorama of cultural history In Civilizations the medieval poem Sir Gawain and the Green Knight is not merely a Christian allegory but a testament to the thousand year long deforestation of the trees that once covered 90 percent of the European mainland The Indian Ocean has served as the world's greatest trading highway for millennia not merely because of cultural imperatives but because the regular monsoon winds blow one way in the summer and the other in the winter In the words of the author Unlike previous attempts to write the comparative history of civilizations it is arranged environment by environment rather than period by period or society by society Thus seventeen distinct habitats serve as jumping off points for a series of brilliant set piece comparisons thus tundra civilizations from Ice Age Europe are linked with the Inuit of the Pacific Northwest and the Mississippi mound builders and the deforesters of eleventh century Europe are both understood as civilizations built on woodlands Here of course are the familiar riverine civilizations of Mesopotamia and China of the Indus and the Nile but also highland civilizations from the Inca to New Guinea island cultures from Minoan Crete to Polynesia to Renaissance Venice maritime civilizations of the Indian Ocean and South China Sea even the Bushmen of Southern Africa are seen through a lens provided by the desert civilizations of Chaco Canyon More here are fascinating stories brilliantly told of the voyages of Chinese admiral Chen Ho and Portuguese commodore Vasco da Gama of the Great Khan and the Great Zimbabwe Here are Hesiod's tract on maritime trade in the early Aegean and the most up to date genetics of seed crops Erudite wide ranging a work of dazzling scholarship written with extraordinary flair Civilizations is a remarkable achievement a tour de force by a brilliant scholar

Slavery, Freedom and Business Endeavor Bradley Bowden,2022-05-03 This book argues that modern Western civilization is synonymous with business and you cannot have one without the other or at least not for very long Without Western civilization with its emphasis on inquiry questioning experimentation reasoning freedom of expression a free press equality of opportunity before the law then the innovation and vitality that lies at the heart of Western business success evaporates Without business endeavor all the ideas and inquiry are materially meaningless The author postulates that only through business opportunity is the wealth created that allows a continuation of our society's intellectual endeavors Further the world of modern business a unique creation of Western civilization even if it has witnessed many regional and national adaptations is also the actual place where inequalities are overcome and opportunities created It is through the world of business and work that women have for example achieved something approaching equality with men to a degree unprecedented in human history This book will offer scholars a research based argument that Western civilization owes its existence to business rather than Greco Roman antiquity

Decolonising Europe? Berny Sèbe,Matthew G. Stanard,2020-04-01 Decolonising Europe Popular Responses to the End of Empire offers a new paradigm to understand decolonisation in Europe by showing how it was fundamentally a fluid process of fluxes and refluxes involving not only transfers of populations ideas and sociocultural practices across continents but also complex intra European dynamics at a time of political convergence following the Treaty of Rome Decolonisation was neither a process of sudden rapid changes to European cultures nor one of cultural inertia but a development marked by fluidity movement and dynamism Rather than being a static process where Europe's former metropolises and their peoples at home reacted to the end of empire out there decolonisation translated into new realities for Europe's cultures societies and politics as flows ebbs fluxes and cultural refluxes reshaped both former colonies and former metropolises The volume's contributors set out a carefully crafted panorama of decolonisation's sequels in European popular culture by means of in depth studies of specific cases and media analysing the interwoven meaning momentum memory material culture and migration patterns of the end of empire across eight major European countries The revised meaning of decolonisation that emerges will challenge scholars in several fields and the panorama of new research in the book charts paths for new investigations The question mark in the title asks not only how European cultures experienced the end of empire but also the extent to which this is still a work in progress

The Enclosure of Knowledge James D. Fisher, 2022-07-21 The rise of agrarian capitalism in Britain is usually told as a story about markets land and wages This study reveals that it was also about books knowledge and expertise challenging the dominant narrative of an agricultural enlightenment and showing how farming books appropriated traditional knowledge in pre industrial Britain
