Parliament. House of Commons. Energy and Climate Change Committee, 2013 Failure to build a new fleet of nuclear power stations in the UK could make it much more expensive to meet our climate change targets and Ministers must urgently develop a back up energy strategy The nuclear industry has outlined plans that would deliver 16GW new nuclear power stations by 2025 Although the Government and industry have learnt some important lessons from this process there are still a number of obstacles which could delay new build projects in the UK The Committee supports the Government's use of Contracts for Difference CfDs to help make new nuclear power stations easier to finance but are concerned at the lack of transparency around the price negotiations The new contracts must provide value for money for consumers and should not be offered at a price that is higher than other low carbon sources of energy such as offshore wind which is hoped to be around 100 MWh by 2020 Public attitudes have an important role to play in projects to build new nuclear power stations The Committee is concerned that local communities might not be able to take part in planning consultations on an equal footing with the project developers The report recommends that the Government should consider providing more support to local community groups so that they can engage better with the planning process The Government has plans to allow local authorities hosting renewable energy projects to retain business rates The report argues that this scheme should be extended to new nuclear projects too

Industry and Innovation in the North East of England Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: North East Regional Committee, 2009 In this report from the North East Regional Committee HCP 169 session 2009-10 ISBN 9780215542731 renewable industries could lead a recovery in the North East's manufacturing industry The Committee states that the region is well placed to benefit from the growing global market for green technologies but warns that British innovation and ideas could be lost as other countries benefit from quicker commercial development and implementation. World class renewable energy companies in the North East such as the New and Renewable Energy Centre NaREC at Blyth, the North East Process Industries Cluster NEPIC on Teesside and NETPark the North East Technology park in County Durham could put the region at the forefront of the Government's efforts to turn the UK into a low carbon economy. The Committee warns though that the UK's cumbersome and slow planning process poses a significant risk to long term development in the North East as businesses from countries like China seek quicker guaranteed sites elsewhere in Europe. The report also states that the Government should explore incentives to encourage local development of renewable and clean energy. Also underinvestment in transport links is proving detrimental to investment in the region.
