Agriculture and Environmental Change A. M. Mannion, 1995-12-05 This textbook defines the complex nature of agriculture in the context of environmental constraints and social stimuli Attention is paid to plant and animal domestication and to the subsequent spread of agricultural systems worldwide

Agriculture and Environmental Change Antoinette M. Mannion, 1997

Global Environmental Change Antoinette Mannion, 2014-09-19 Now in its second edition This text has been extensively revised and rewritten to reflect the growth in environmental research during the last decade Human induced environmental change is occurring at such a rapid rate that inevitably the fundamental processes involved in biogeochemical cycling are being altered Global Environmental Change considers alterations to the biogeochemical cycles of carbon nitrogen sulphur and other elements as a result of industrial technological development and agriculture which have significantly altered the natural environment The book adopts a temporal and spatial approach to environmental change beginning with the natural environmental change of the Quaternary period and continuing with the culturally induced change since the inception of agriculture 10 000 years ago

The Oxford Handbook of Agricultural History Jeannie M. Whayne, 2024 Agricultural history has enjoyed a rebirth in recent years in part because the agricultural enterprise promotes economic and cultural connections in an era that has become ever more globally focused but also because of agriculture's potential to lead to conflicts over precious resources The Oxford Handbook of Agricultural History reflects this rebirth and examines the wide reaching implications of agricultural issues featuring essays that touch on the green revolution the development of the Atlantic slave plantation the agricultural impact of the American Civil War the rise of scientific and corporate agriculture and modern exploitation of agricultural labor

Invertebrate Conservation and Agricultural Ecosystems T. R. New, 2005-03-31 Invertebrate Conservation and Agricultural Ecosystems explores the diverse interests of invertebrate conservation and agricultural production It is both an introduction to invertebrate conservation biology for agriculturists and an introduction to crop protection for conservation biologists demonstrating how these two disparate fields may draw on each other for greater collective benefit It draws on recent literature to show how invertebrate conservation in highly altered landscapes may be promoted and enhanced The book deals with problems of and approaches to invertebrate conservation in highly managed agricultural ecosystems and how biodiversity may be promoted without compromising agricultural production It draws attention to the importance of invertebrates in agricultural systems and their role in ecosystem functions

Global Environmental History Ian G Simmons, 2008-03-05 Courses which deal with environmental history have long lacked a comprehensive overview I G Simmons has made a significant contribution with a book that looks at the long term history of environment and humanity from 10 000 BC to AD 2000 This far reaching text considers the global picture and recognises the contributions of many disciplines including the natural sciences the social sciences and increasingly the humanities As a starting point this book takes the major phases of human technological evolution of the last 12 000 years and considers how these have affected the natural world It then considers the response to conditions such as climate change putting today's preoccupations into a long term perspective This is a book of history not prophecy and so makes no judgements on current anxieties

Multifunctional Agriculture G. A. Wilson, 2007 In a time of great agricultural and rural change the notion of multifunctionality has remained under theorized and poorly linked to the debates in the social sciences This book analyses the extent to which the proposed transition towards post productivist agriculture holds up to scientific scrutiny and proposes a new transition theory Water and Sustainable Agriculture Iván Francisco García-Tejero, Víctor Hugo Durán-Zuazo, José Luis Muriel-Fernández, Carmen Rocío Rodríguez-Pleguezuelo, 2011-08-03 Irrigated agriculture a vital component of general agriculture supplies fruits vegetables and cereals consumed by humans and grains fed to animals Consequently agriculture is the largest user of fresh water globally and irrigation practices in many parts of the world are biologically economically and socially unsustainable Water management should balance the need for agricultural water and the need for a sustainable environment Water use efficiency is the prime challenge in worldwide farming practices where problems of water shortages are widespread Currently agriculture is undergoing significant changes in innovative irrigation fertilizer technology and agronomic expertise These elements constitute a vital platform for sustainable agricultural success and for preventing environmental damage This review presents several processes linked to environmental irrigation balancing environmental protection with improved agricultural production Intellectual Property Rights and Food Security Michael Blakeney,2009-01-01 Intellectual Property Rights IPRs play an important role in the struggle for food security and encouraging agricultural research and development This book examines these roles as well as the international relationship between IPRs agricultural biotechnology access to biological resources food security and globalisation paying particular attention to proposals for the protection of Farmers Rights traditional knowledge GM crops and the impact of competition laws It proposes a number of recommendations for action in deploying IPRs in order to reach greater food security globally
