Hand,2017-07-05 Author Joni M Hand sheds light on the reasons women of the Valois courts from the mid fourteenth to the mid sixteenth century commissioned devotional manuscripts Visually interpreting the non text elements portraits coats of arms and marginalia as well as the texts Hand explores how the manuscripts were used to express the women's religious political and or genealogical concerns This study is arranged thematically according to the method in which the owner is represented Recognizing the considerable influence these women had on the appearance of their books Hand interrogates how the manuscripts became a means of self expression beyond the realm of devotional practice She reveals how noblewomen used their private devotional manuscripts as vehicles for self definition to reflect familial political and social concerns and to preserve the devotional and cultural traditions of their families Drawing on documentation of women s book collections that has been buried within the inventories of their fathers husbands or sons Hand explores how these women contributed to the cultural and spiritual character of the courts and played an integral role in the formation and evolution of the royal libraries in Northern Europe

Bird Painting Between Art and Science

Hugh Ridley, 2024-02-02 Have you ever wondered why so many scientific handbooks on birds use paintings rather than photographs or why the painters Killian Mullarney and Lars Johnson are such significant figures in ornithology This book gives an account of the 500 years during which bird painting reached such heights and it traces the growth of scientific realism in this field It shows how scientific understanding has shaped the art and how artistic style has left its mark on the science Birds cross frontiers unhindered and the language of painting too knows no national barriers This book explores the huge contribution of German painting to the international tradition It looks at the work of great artists Dürer and Rembrandt It introduces the fascinating but neglected artists who made the landmark handbooks of the past It pays tribute to those major figures of the last 150 years who brought the art to its perfection Josef Wolf and Bruno Liljefors and looks briefly at the competition with photography at the start of the twentieth century It reveals the interlocking of art with the science of ornithology as it was developed by figures such as Buffon and Darwin

Sung Birds

Elizabeth Eva Leach, 2018-07-05 Is birdsong music The most frequent answer to this question in the Middle Ages was resoundingly no In Sung Birds Elizabeth Eva Leach traces postmedieval uses of birdsong within Western musical culture She first explains why such melodious sound was not music for medieval thinkers and then goes on to consider the ontology of music the significance of comparisons between singers and birds and the relationship between art and nature as enacted by the musical performance of late medieval poetry If birdsong was not music how should we interpret the musical depiction of birdsong in human music making What does it tell us about the singers their listeners and the moral status of secular polyphony Why was it the fourteenth century that saw the beginnings of this practice continued to this day in the music of Messiaen and others Leach explores medieval arguments about song language and rationality whose basic terms survive undiminished into the present She considers not only lyrics that have their singers voice the songs or speech of birds but also those that represent other natural nonmusical sounds such as human cries or the barks of dogs The dangerous sweetness of birdsong was invoked in discussions of musical ethics which because of the potential slippage between irrational beast and less rational woman in comparisons with rational human masculinity depict women's singing as less than fully human Leach's argument comes full circle with the advent of sound recording This technological revolution like its medieval equivalent the invention of the music book once again made the relationship between music and nature an acute preoccupation of Western culture
