The Action Plan for Australian Birds 2010 Stephen Garnett, Judit Szabó, Guy Dutson, Guy C. L. Dutson, 2011 The Action Plan for Australian Birds 2010 is the third in a series of action plans that have been produced at the start of each decade The book analyzes the International Union for Conservation of Nature IUCN status of all the species and subspecies of Australia's birds including those of the offshore territories For each bird the size and trend in their population and distribution has been analyzed using the latest iteration of IUCN Red List Criteria to determine their risk of extinction The book also provides an account of all those species and subspecies that are or are likely to be extinct Each categorization is justified on the basis of the latest research including much unpublished material that has been made available during workshops conducted with leading ornithologists and conservation biologists around the country as well as phone interviews and correspondence. The result is the most authoritative account yet of the status of Australia's birds. In this completely revised edition each account covers not only the 2010 status but provides a retrospective assessment of the status in 1990 and 2000 based on current knowledge, taxonomic revisions and changes to the IUCN criteria and then reasons why the status of some taxa has changed over the last two decades. Maps have been created specifically for the Action Plan based on vetted data drawn from the records of Birds Australia, its members and its partners in many government departments. The book contains some surprises, some alarming, some encouraging. The status of some birds has improved over the last two decades as a result of dedicated conservation management. Some may not have changed status but at least they are holding their own. Many, however, are continuing to decline and a distressing number are new to the list. There is also an increasing number of birds for which captive insurance populations need not only to be considered as a future option but actively pursued before it is too late. But this is not a book of lost causes. It is a call for action to keep the extraordinary biodiversity we have inherited and pass the legacy to our children. Every one of Australia's threatened taxa can be saved. This book describes the populations of species at greatest risk and outlines ways we can turn them around.

KEY FEATURES

- Readily accessible status information with reasons for listing
- Synopsis of principal features that influence listing
- List of actions needed for conservation
- Includes specially commissioned distribution maps

Systematics and Taxonomy of Australian Birds Les Christidis, Walter E Boles, 2008-01-25

Systematics and Taxonomy of Australian Birds presents an up to date classification of Australian birds. Building on the authors 1994 book The Taxonomy and Species of Birds of Australia and its Territories it incorporates the extensive volume of relevant systematic work since then. The findings of these studies are summarised and evaluated in the explanations for the taxonomic treatments adopted and with the extensive citations the book serves as a comprehensive introduction to the recent systematic literature of Australian birds. All species of birds that have been recorded from the Australian mainland, Tasmania, island territories and surrounding waters are treated and listed. Along with extant native species, all accepted vagrants, recently extinct since 1800 native species and established introduced species are included.

The Action Plan for Australian Birds 2020 Stephen T. Garnett, G Barry Baker, 2021-12

The Action Plan for Australian Birds 2020 is the most comprehensive review of the status of Australia's avifauna ever attempted. The latest in a series of action plans for Australian birds that have been produced every decade since 1992, it is also the largest. The accounts in this plan have been authored by more than 300 of the most knowledgeable bird experts in the country and feature far more detail than any of the earlier plans. This volume also includes accounts of over 60 taxa that are no longer considered threatened, mainly thanks to sustained conservation action over many decades. This extensive book covers key themes that have emerged in the last decade, including the increasing impact of climate change as a threatening process, most obviously in Queensland's tropical rainforests where many birds are being pushed up the mountains However the effects are also indirect as happened in the catastrophic fires of 2019 20 Many of the newly listed birds are subspecies confined to Kangaroo Island where fire destroyed over half the population But there are good news stories too especially on islands where there have been spectacular successes with predator control Such uplifting results demonstrate that when action plans are followed by action on the ground threatened species can indeed be recovered and threats alleviated

Birds of Two Worlds Russell Greenberg, Peter P. Marra, 2005-05-02 For centuries

biologists have tried to understand the underpinnings of avian migration where birds go and why why some migrate and some do not how they adapt to a changing environment and how migratory systems evolve Twenty five years ago the answers to many of these questions were addressed by a collection of migration experts in Keast and Morton s classic work Migrant Birds in the Neotropics In 1992 Hagan and Johnston published a follow up book Ecology and Conservation of Neotropical Migrant Landbirds In Birds of Two Worlds Russell Greenberg and Peter Marra bring together the world s experts on avian migration to discuss its ecology and evolution The contributors move the discussion of migration to a global stage looking at all avian migration systems and delving deeper into the evolutionary foundations of migratory behavior Readers interested in the biology behavior ecology and evolution of birds have waited a decade to see a worthy successor to the earlier classics Birds of Two Worlds will complete the trilogy and become indispensable for ornithologists evolutionary biologists serious birders and public and academic libraries
