Birdwatching With American Women A Selection Of Nature Writings:

Birdwatching with American Women Deborah Strom,1986-01-01 At Home on this Earth Lorraine Anderson,Thomas S. Edwards,2002 The first chronological presentation of U S nature writing by key women authors of the last two centuries

Rachel Carson and Her Sisters Robert K Musil,2014-04-01 In Rachel Carson and Her Sisters Robert K Musil redefines the achievements and legacy of environmental pioneer and scientist Rachel Carson linking her work to a wide network of American women activists and writers and introducing her to a new contemporary audience Rachel Carson was the first American to combine two longstanding but separate strands of American environmentalism the love of nature and a concern for human health Widely known for her 1962 best seller Silent Spring Carson is today often perceived as a solitary great woman whose work single handedly launched a modern environmental movement But as Musil demonstrates Carson s life s work drew upon and was supported by already existing movements many led by women in conservation and public health On the fiftieth anniversary of her death this book helps underscore Carson s enduring environmental legacy and brings to life the achievements of women writers and advocates such as Ellen Swallow Richards Dr Alice Hamilton Terry Tempest Williams Sandra Steingraber Devra Davis and Theo Colborn all of whom overcame obstacles to build and lead the modern American environmental movement

California Women and Politics Robert W. Cherny,2011 An edited volume exploring the role women played in California politics in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Such News of the Land Thomas S. Edwards,Elizabeth A. De Wolfe,2001 A collection of new essays establishes women s voices as a powerful presence in US nature writing Sharp Eyes Charlotte Zoë Walker,2000-08-01 John Burroughs the genial and tremendously popular author of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries has gained renewed appreciation at the end of the twentieth century His quiet approach to nature writing a combination of scientific observation and poetic spirit has informed generations of readers This book is a testament to the importance of his work in modern literature In addition to exploring the historical aspects of Burroughs s life and character these works illuminate his role as a writer and his relationships with such contemporaries as Whitman Thoreau Emerson and Muir Frank Bergan discusses Burroughs as environmentalist Bill McKibben writes on Burroughs and the call of the not so wild Daniel Payne expounds on Burroughs s religion of nature Wendell Berry considers the sacred economy of homesteading and Ralph Black provides an analysis on Burroughs and the poetics of the nature essay This book will have special appeal to those interested in nature writing American literature and environmental and cultural history of New York State A section on the history and current use of Burroughs s work in the classroom also makes the book a valuable resource for teachers Citizen Bird Mabel Osgood Wright,Elliott Coues,Elliott Coues,2025-05-13 In the late nineteenth century American bird lovers faced a crisis Bird species were becoming endangered or even extinct at an alarming rate and old methods of hunting and collecting specimens accelerated the process A new conservationist approach to birding was necessary and it needed to be taught to the next generation of Americans Thus 1897 s Citizen Bird the first birding guide for children was born. A tremendously influential text in the Progressive era United States it inspired in a generation of schoolchildren a love of wild birds and the desire to protect them. Born of a collaboration between naturalist Mabel Osgood Wright, ornithologist Elliott Coues, and bird artist Louis Agassiz Fuertes, the book is vital to the history of birding and the broader study of nineteenth century American culture and literature. This new edition of Citizen Bird preserves the original book's 111 drawings and adds explanatory footnotes, supplemental historical material, and a new introduction. More than a century and a quarter after its original publication, Elizabeth Cherry and Meghan Freeman contextualize the book in the tradition and history of birding and discuss the roles of its authors and illustrator in birding history. A landmark text in the history of American conservationism, Citizen Bird is a timeless classic that will bring joy to birdwatchers of all ages.

Animals and Women Carol J. Adams, Josephine Donovan, 1995-11-14. Animals and Women is a collection of pioneering essays that explores the theoretical connections between feminism and animal defense. Offering a feminist perspective on the status of animals, this unique volume argues persuasively that both the social construction and oppressions of women are inextricably connected to the ways in which we comprehend and abuse other species. Furthermore, it demonstrates that such a focus does not distract from the struggle for women's rights but rather contributes to it. This wide-ranging multidisciplinary anthology presents original material from scholars in a variety of fields as well as a rare early article by Virginia Woolf. Exploring the leading edge of the species/gender boundary, it addresses such issues as the relationship between abortion rights and animal rights, the connection between woman battering and animal abuse, and the speciesist basis for much sexist language. Also considered are the ways in which animals have been regarded by science, literature, and the environmentalist movement. A striking meditation on women and wolves is presented as is an examination of sexual harassment and the taxonomy of hunters and hunting. Finally, this compelling collection suggests that the subordination and degradation of women is a prototype for other forms of abuse and that to deny this connection is to participate in the continued mistreatment of animals and women.

Swimming with Frogs Ruth Ann Ingraham, 2005. A delightful memoir of life in the hills of Brown County, Indiana.

Birdwatching Judith Dunham, 2000. This 224-page title is a comprehensive guide to birdwatching in North America, covering everything from bird behaviour to identification techniques. Inspiring essays focus on the top birding destinations in North America, from Quebec to Hawaii and from Florida to Washington State. Practical sections include expert advice on distinguishing between species, migration equipment, and birding on the road, while travel tips list selected travelling, lodging, touring, and camping information. The work is lavishly illustrated with more than 250 spectacular photographs as well as 18 specially commissioned maps.

American Women Conservationists Madelyn Holmes, 2004-04-20. This collection of biographies describes twelve women conservationists who helped change the ways Americans interact with the natural environment. Their writings led Americans to think differently about their land: deserts are not wastelands, swamps have value, and harmful insects don't have to be controlled chemically.

These women not only wrote on behalf of conservation of the American landscape but also described strategies for living exemplary environmentally sound lives during the past century. From a bird lover to a back to the land activist, these women gave early warning of the detrimental effects of neglecting conservation. The main part of this work covers six historical figures who pioneered in their thinking and writing about the environment: Mary Austin, Florence Merriam Bailey, Rosalie Edge, Marjory Stoneman Douglas, Helen Nearing, and Rachel Carson. A later chapter gives portraits of six post-World War II conservationists: Faith McNulty, Ann Zwinger, Sue Hubbell, Anne LaBastille, Mollie Beattie, and Terry Tempest Williams. The work covers a broad range of conservationist concerns, including preservation of deserts and old growth forests, wildlife protection, wetlands maintenance, self-sufficient sustainable ways of producing food, and pollution control. A conclusion examines where conservationists have picked up after Rachel Carson's Silent Spring (1962) and gives conservation ideas for our time. An appendix lists the published writings of the twelve conservationists.

Flight Calls John R. Nelson, 2020-01-15
The paths of different birds look like double helixes flowing strands of hair and migrating serpents, and they beckon with calls that have definite meanings. These mysterious creatures inspire growing numbers of birders in their passionate pursuit of new species, and writer John R. Nelson is no exception. In Flight Calls, he takes readers on explorations to watch, hear, and know Massachusetts's hummingbirds, hawks, and herons along the coasts and in the woodlands, meadows, and marshes of Cape Ann, Cape Cod, the Great Marsh, Mount Auburn Cemetery, the Quabbin wilderness, Mount Wachusett, and elsewhere. With style, humor, and a sense of wonder, Nelson blends his field adventures with a history of the birding community, natural and cultural history, bird stories from authors such as Henry David Thoreau, Emily Dickinson, and Mary Oliver, current scientific research, and observations about the fascinating habits of birds and their admirers. These essays are capped off with a plea for bird conservation in Massachusetts and beyond.

Ladies in the Laboratory? American and British Women in Science, 1800-1900 Mary R.S. Creese, 2000-01-01
A systematic survey and comparison of the work of 19th-century American and British women in scientific research, this book covers the two countries in which women of the period were most active in scientific work and examines all the fields in which they were engaged. The field-by-field examination brings out patterns and concentrations in women's research in both countries and allows a systematic comparison of the two national groups. Through this comparison, new insights are provided into how the national patterns developed and what they meant in terms of both the process of women's entry into research and the contributions they made there. Ladies in the Laboratory features a specialized bibliography of nineteenth-century research journal publications by women created from the London Royal Society's Catalogue of Scientific Papers, 1800-1900. In addition, 23 illustrations present in condensed form information about American and British women's scientific publications throughout the nineteenth century. This well-organized blend of individual life stories and quantitative information presents a great deal of new data and field-by-field analysis; its broad and methodical coverage will make it a basic work for everyone interested in the story of women's participation in nineteenth century science The Davis Collection of Ornithological and Other Natural History Documents at the Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology Cornell University. Laboratory of Ornithology,2005 A Passion for Birds Mark V. Barrow, Jr.,2021-08-10 In the decades following the Civil War as industrialization urbanization and economic expansion increasingly reshaped the landscape many Americans began seeking adventure and aesthetic gratification through avian pursuits By the turn of the century hundreds of thousands of middle and upper class devotees were rushing to join Audubon societies purchase field guides and keep records of the species they encountered in the wild Mark Barrow vividly reconstructs this story not only through the experiences of birdwatchers collectors conservationists and taxidermists but also through those of a relatively new breed of bird enthusiast the technically oriented ornithologist In exploring how ornithologists struggled to forge a discipline and profession amidst an explosion of popular interest in natural history A Passion for Birds provides the first book length history of American ornithology from the death of John James Audubon to the Second World War Barrow shows how efforts to form a scientific community distinct from popular birders met with only partial success The founding of the American Ornithologists Union in 1883 and the subsequent expansion of formal educational and employment opportunities in ornithology marked important milestones in this campaign Yet by the middle of the twentieth century when ornithology had finally achieved the status of a modern profession its practitioners remained dependent on the services of birdwatchers and other amateur enthusiasts Environmental issues also loom large in Barrow s account as he traces areas of both cooperation and conflict between ornithologists and wildlife conservationists Recounting a colorful story based on the interactions among a wide variety of bird lovers this book will interest historians of science environmental historians ornithologists birdwatchers and anyone curious about the historical roots of today s birding boom The Publishers Weekly ,1877 The Ethics of Fur Andrew Linzey,Clair Linzey,2023-07-24 This is the first multidisciplinary book that addresses the ethics of fur Whatever might have been true of the past the production of fur is now morally problematic in terms of both necessity and suffering There is no necessity in killing animals for nonessential purposes such as adornment fashion or vanity The argument for utility simply doesn t hold up Alternative clothing is now readily available enduring and less costly Worse still since we know that the animals exploited are sentient causing them suffering or making animals liable to suffering is arguably intrinsically wrong The purpose of this volume is to open up and advance further the ethical political and specifically legislative endeavors now moving at pace and to encourage the anti fur movement That said there is much to learn from this book about the history culture and political arguments for and against fur that should interest scholars and students as well as those engaged on either side of the debate It is not common for academics to engage with pressing and contentious moral issues and we pay tribute to our eighteen contributors for leading the way Talking Book Topics ,1987 The Best American Science and Nature Writing 2020 Michio Kaku,Jaime Green,2020 Presents an anthology of the best science and nature writing published in the previous year selected from American periodicals Guide to Reference in Genealogy and Biography Mary K. Mannix, Fred Burchsted, Jo Bell Whitlatch, 2015 An excellent starting point for both reference librarians and for library users seeking information about family history and the lives of others this resource is drawn from the authoritative database of Guide to Reference voted Best Professional Resource Database by Library Journal readers in 2012 Biographical resources have long been of interest to researchers and general readers and this title directs readers to the best biographical sources for all regions of the world For interest in the lives of those not found in biographical resources this title also serves as a guide to the most useful genealogical resources Profiling more than 1400 print and electronic sources this book helps connect librarians and researchers to the most relevant sources of information in genealogy and biography
