Kelly, 2001-09-20 Companion to the work of playwright Tom Stoppard who also co-authored screenplay of Shakespeare in Love      Labouring Children Joy Parr, 2022-11-16 Labouring Children 1980 is a study of child immigrants based on numerous original sources and presents new views on childhood social work and Canadian rural communities Between 1868 and 1925 eighty thousand British boys and girls mostly under fourteen were apprenticed as agricultural labourers and domestic servants in rural Canada A surprising feature is the involvement of the Evangelicals who considered that they were giving children from poor homes a fresh start in the world yet who were otherwise famed for their emphasis on the virtues of close family ties and conversely the parents of the children largely labourers who were at the time regarded as too ground down by economic imperatives to find time for affection but who expended a great deal of effort to maintain contact across imposing distances This book begins with an analysis of the growing child's place within these families and looks at the alternating prominence of demands for wage labour and fear of the dangerous classes which influenced emigration policy idealism The demand for child labour in rural Canada and the work of the children is described in an analysis of the apprenticeship system The book also illustrates how the British child immigrants were household rather than family members in Canada and outsiders in the rural schoolroom as well As adults they did not generally become farmers but entered factory jobs service employment in urban Canada migrated to the US or returned to Britain Finally the book discusses the ending of the movement after World War I as Canadian social workers echoing British socialists argued that even the children of the poor deserved fourteen years of growing and schooling before they were obliged to sell their labour Incorporating much rich documentation from numerous case records and presenting a new quantitative use of some of those records this book sheds light on a dark corner of the Canadian migrant experience      Death, Society and Human Experience \(1-download\) Robert Kastenbaum, 2015-07-22 Providing an understanding of the relationship with death both as an individual and as a member of society This book is intended to contribute to your understanding of your relationship with death both as an individual and as a member of society Kastenbaum shows how individual and societal attitudes influence both how and when we die and how we live and deal with the knowledge of death and loss Robert Kastenbaum is a renowned scholar who developed one of the world's first death education courses and introduced the first text for this market This landmark text draws on contributions from the social and behavioral sciences as well as the humanities such as history religion philosophy literature and the arts to provide thorough coverage of understanding death and the dying process Learning Goals Upon completing this book readers should be able to Understand the relationship with death both as an individual and as a member of society See how social forces and events affect the length of our lives how we grieve and how we die Learn how dying people are perceived and treated in our society and what can be done to provide the best possible care Master an understanding of continuing developments and challenges to hospice palliative care Understand what is becoming of faith and doubt about an afterlife
