Bit By The Fleas:

The fleas (Siphonaptera) of Fennoscandia and Denmark Gunvor Brinck-Lindroth, Smit, 2007-05-31 This book is the first comprehensive account on the flea fauna of Fennoscandia and Denmark. Totally 89 species/subspecies are treated of which 69 have been found in the region. The remainder are known from neighboring areas and may turn up. The introductory part gives a brief historical overview of the earliest literature on fleas and a more detailed account of the Scandinavian literature up to the present. This is followed by a discussion of flea host associations in relation to distribution in a general and Scandinavian perspective. Other chapters deal with life history, medical importance, morphology and collecting/preservation of fleas and are followed by a flea host index. The systematic part is amply illustrated with Frans Smit's outstanding line drawings. Provides identification keys to adult fleas from family to subspecies. For each species/subspecies relevant available information on synonymy, identification, distribution, host relations and biology is given. The book concludes with a summary of the provincial distribution of fleas in Fennoscandia and Denmark, a bibliography and a taxonomic name index.

Positive Pollutions and Cultural Toxins John Blair Gamber, 2012-10-01 In this innovative study Positive Pollutions and Cultural Toxins John Blair Gamber examines urbanity and the results of urban living: traffic, garbage, sewage, waste and pollution, arguing for a new recognition of all forms of human detritus as part of the natural world and thus for a broadening of our understanding of environmental literature. While much of the discourse surrounding the United States idealistic and nostalgic views of itself privileges clean living primarily in rural, small town and suburban settings, representations of rurality and urbanity by Chicanas, Chicanos, African Americans, Asian Americans and Native Americans on the other hand complicate such generalization. Gamber widens our understanding of current ecocritical debates by examining texts by such authors as Octavia Butler, Louise Erdrich, Alejandro Morales, Gerald Vizenor and Karen Tei Yamashita that draw on the physical signs of human corporeality to refigure cities and urbanity as natural. He demonstrates how ethnic American literature reclaims waste objects and waste spaces, likening pollution to miscegenation as a method to revalue cast off and marginalized individuals and communities. Positive Pollutions and Cultural Toxins explores the conjunction of and the frictions between twentieth century U.S. postcolonial studies, race studies, urban studies and ecocriticism and works to refigure this portrayal of urban spaces.
