Black Cop Calvin Lawrence with Miles Howe, 2019-09-17 Calvin Lawrence became a cop at age twenty He was recruited by the Halifax police department at a time of heightened racial tension in the city From the start some fellow African Canadians wondered if he had sold out White citizens wondered whether a black Canadian even belonged in the job Calvin takes readers into his confidence as he learns to navigate as a beat cop and how to deal with racism in the community and worse in the police force itself Lawrence leaves Halifax to join the RCMP He shares his experiences about basic training in Regina followed by a stint as Newfoundland's only black Mountie He is pegged for undercover work there but before long his cover is blown RCMP stereotyping leads him into Toronto's notorious drug squad as an undercover police officer and then to years in elite Mountie squads protecting prime ministers and presidents Throughout his career Calvin experiences hostility and racism within the force completely contrary to the official values and image of the RCMP Standing up for his rights gets him blacklisted for advancement and ultimately leads him to clinical depression arising from workplace hostility and mistreatment As a seventh generation Canadian Calvin Lawrence has written a book which lays bare key failures of Canadian police organizations Even today they operate on the basis that only white Canadians are entitled to the rights promised to all by the rule of law and the Canadian Charter of Rights

Massad, 2008-09-15 Sexual desire has long played a key role in Western judgments about the value of Arab civilization In the past Westerners viewed the Arab world as licentious and Western intolerance of sex led them to brand Arabs as decadent but as Western society became more sexually open the supposedly prudish Arabs soon became viewed as backward Rather than focusing exclusively on how these views developed in the West in Desiring Arabs Joseph A Massad reveals the history of how Arabs represented their own sexual desires To this aim he assembles a massive and diverse compendium of Arabic writing from the nineteenth century to the present in order to chart the changes in Arab sexual attitudes and their links to Arab notions of cultural heritage and civilization A work of impressive scope and erudition Massad s chronicle of both the history and modern permutations of the debate over representations of sexual desires and practices in the Arab world is a crucial addition to our understanding of a frequently oversimplified and vilified culture A pioneering work on a very timely yet frustratingly neglected topic I know of no other study that can even begin to compare with the detail and scope of this work Khaled El Rouayheb Middle East Report In Desiring Arabs Edward Said s disciple Joseph A Massad corroborates his mentor s thesis that orientalist writing was racist and dehumanizing Massad brilliantly goes on to trace the legacy of this racist internalized orientalist discourse up to the present Financial Times New York Magazine , 1977-06-27 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea The Last Good Thing John S.
