Birds, Boughs, & Blossoms Patricia Trenton, Jessie Arms Botke, Deborah Epstein Solon, 1995 Jessie Arms Botke is recognized as one of the great decorative painters of her era specializing in images of birds rendered with her signature gold leaf technique Born in Chicago she trained at the School of the Arts Institute of Chicago beginning in 1902 Botke took her first trip to the West in 1906 bartering several paintings for a round trip ticket on the Atchison Topeka Santa Fe Railway In 1909 she embarked on a three month trip to Europe returning home to Chicago with renewed determination focus In 1911 Botke moved to New York was hired by Albert Herter for a position at the Herter Looms It was through one of Herter s commissions that Botke started painting images of birds In 1915 she married Cornelis Botke a Dutch artist living working as an architectural renderer in Chicago Both she Cornelis often worked in concert on large commissions it was her commercial popularity that gave the couple its financial stability After several years in Chicago the couple moved in 1919 to Carmel California They briefly lived in Los Angeles in the late 1920s before buying property building a ranch in Wheeler Canyon Ventura County California in 1929 It was from this rather unlikely spot that Botke orchestrated her career while tending to the duties of the ranch. Maintaining an exhausting painting schedule throughout her lifetime, she exhibited at venues such as the Art Institute of Chicago, the Academy of Western Painters, the National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors. This catalogue, the first major monograph published on Botke, is approximately 100 pages and includes over 60 illustrations. Subject Guide to Books in Print, 2001 Independent Spirits Patricia Trenton, Sandra D'Emilio, 1995. A rich compendium of Western art by women, this book also contains essays which examine the many economic, social, and political forces that have shaped the art over years of pivotal change. The women profiled played an important role in gaining the acceptance of women as men's peers in artistic communities. Their independent spirit resonates in studios and galleries throughout the country today. Photos
