connection in the context of immigration These matters cannot be studied in the abstract Religious practice is not something separate from the economic cultural and psychological dimensions of life but rather something integral which shapes and is being shaped by all of these other realities The author examines these dynamics through an ethnographic case study of the living devotions of a group of Italian Catholic immigrants to San Pedro California The narrative describes how the group's historical experiences of immigration and fishing find expression in their particular forms of prayer art artifacts and food The healing and transformative power of these shared religious practices is explored As contemporary theologians pastors and congregations seek to welcome and care for immigrants and other strangers in a shifting social landscape we need ways to engage in care full and attentive relationships The ethnographic method employed here suggests a way to lift up the voices of ordinary people allowing them to tell their own stories while piecing together emerging bits of theological wisdom and compelling care practices While the particular insights of any community are situated and specific theological reflection in one context can animate a broader discussion of transformative pastoral theology and practice

A Psychoanalysis for Our Time Jeffrey Rubin, 1998-11 As a psychoanalyst and psychotherapist Rubin argues that psychoanalysis is in need of revision in order to remain relevant today because its interest in both decoding and concealing the truth is simultaneously its strength and weakness Rubin attempts a middle course between blind acceptance and premature dismissal Although parts one and two focus on the history institutions and theory of psychoanalysis the remainder constitutes a non traditional and self consciously experimental approach wherein the author reflects on his own work his theoretical omissions and the unsolved problems in his discourse Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
