Black And White Media Black Images In Popular Film And Television:

Black and White Media Karen Ross, 1996-01-23 This is a wide ranging account of the complex relations between Black communities and popular media analysing the ways in which Black communities have been portrayed in film and television and considering the contribution made by Black media professionals Black Television Travels Timothy Havens, 2013-04-01 Black Television Travels provides a detailed and insightful view of the roots and routes of the televisual representations of blackness on the transnational media landscape By following the circulation of black cultural products and their institutionalized discourses including industry lore taste cultures and the multiple stories of black experiences that have and have not made it onto the small screen Havens complicates discussions of racial representation and exposes possibilities for more expansive representations of blackness while recognizing the limitations of the seemingly liberatory spaces created by globalization Bambi Haggins Associate Professor of Film and Media Studies at Arizona State University A major achievement that makes important contributions to the analysis of race identity global media nation and television production cultures Discussions of race and television are too often constricted within national boundaries yet this fantastic book offers a strong compelling and utterly refreshing corrective Read it assign it use it Jonathan Gray author of Television Entertainment Television Studies and Show Sold Separately Black Television Travels explores the globalization of African American television and the way in which foreign markets programming strategies and viewer preferences have influenced portrayals of African Americans on the small screen Television executives have been notoriously slow to recognize the potential popularity of black characters and themes both at home and abroad As American television brokers increasingly seek revenues abroad their assumptions about saleability and audience perceptions directly influence the global circulation of these programs as well as their content Black Television Travels aims to reclaim the history of African American television circulation in an effort to correct and counteract this predominant industry lore Based on interviews with television executives and programmers from around the world as well as producers in the United States Havens traces the shift from an era when national television networks often blocked African American television from traveling abroad to the transnational post network era of today While globalization has helped to expand diversity in African American television particularly in regard to genre it has also resulted in restrictions such as in the limited portrayal of African American women in favor of attracting young male demographics across racial and national boundaries Havens underscores the importance of examining boardroom politics as part of racial discourse in the late modern era when transnational cultural industries like television are the primary sources for dominant representations of blackness African American Female Leadership in Major Motion Pictures Tracy L.F. Worley, 2024-02-09 This book explores the factors contributing to the under representation of African American female directors in mainstream cinema leadership It also unmasks the potential strategies African American female film directors might pursue to reduce this inequity Author Tracy L F Worley draws on research around ethics to conclude that there are specific consequences of the male gaze on women in cinema leadership especially African American female directors of box office cinema Combining extensive analysis of ethics and ethical stance relative to the motion picture industry with perspectives from working African American female directors the text discusses the ethical considerations and historical inequities including the male gaze and uses those findings to define how the inequities can be opportunities The efficacy model for cinematic leadership is presented as a mechanism for viewing obstacles through the lenses of gender ethnicity and culture so they become drivers for African American women to achieve success Ideal for students of directing and filmmaking as well as aspiring professional filmmakers wishing to gain a better understanding of the industry as it stands today

Black Male Frames Roland Leander Williams Jr.,2015-01-06 Black Male Frames charts the development and shifting popularity of two stereotypes of black masculinity in popular American film the shaman or the scoundrel Starting with colonial times Williams identifies the origins of these roles in an America where black men were forced either to defy or to defer to their white masters These figures recur in the stories America tells about its black men from the fictional Jim Crow and Zip Coon to historical figures such as Booker T Washington and W E B Du Bois Williams argues that these two extremes persist today in modern Hollywood where actors such as Sam Lucas Paul Robeson Sidney Poitier Denzel Washington and Morgan Freeman among others must cope with and work around such limited options Williams situates these actors performances of one or the other stereotype within each man s personal history and within the country s historical moment ultimately to argue that these men are rewarded for their portrayal of the stereotypes most needed to put America s ongoing racial anxieties at ease Reinvigorating the discussion that began with Donald Bogle s seminal work Toms Coons Mulattoes Mammies and Bucks Black Male Frames illuminates the ways in which individuals and the media respond to the changing racial politics in America

Media And Audiences: New Perspectives Ross, Karen,Nightingale, Virginia,2003-12-01 This work takes both a chronological and a thematic approach in order to explore the ways in which the audience as an analytical concept has changed as well as examining the relationships which audiences have with texts and the ways in which they exert their power as consumers

The Black Image in the White Mind Robert M. Entman,Andrew Rojecki,2024-05-31 Living in a segregated society white Americans learn about African Americans not through personal relationships but through the images the media show them The Black Image in the White Mind offers the most comprehensive look at the intricate racial patterns in the mass media and how they shape the ambivalent attitudes of Whites toward Blacks Using the media and especially television as barometers of race relations Robert Entman and Andrew Rojecki explore but then go beyond the treatment of African Americans on network and local news to incisively uncover the messages sent about race by the entertainment industry from prime time dramas and sitcoms to commercials and Hollywood movies While the authors find very little in the media that intentionally promotes racism they find even less that advances racial harmony They reveal instead a subtle pattern of images that while making room for Blacks implies a racial hierarchy with Whites on top and promotes a sense of difference and conflict. Commercials for example feature plenty of Black characters. But unlike Whites they rarely speak to or touch one another. In prime time the few Blacks who escape sitcom buffoonery rarely enjoy informal friendly contact with White colleagues perhaps reinforcing social distance in real life. Entman and Rojecki interweave such astute observations with candid interviews of White Americans that make clear how these images of racial difference insinuate themselves into Whites thinking. Despite its disturbing readings of television and film the book's cogent analyses and proposed policy guidelines offer hope that America's powerful mediated racial separation can be successfully bridged. Entman and Rojecki look at how television news focuses on black poverty and crime out of proportion to the material reality of black lives; how black experts are only interviewed for black-themed issues; and how black politics are distorted in the news and conclude that while there are more images of African Americans on television now than there were years ago these images often don't reflect a commitment to racial comity or community building between the races. Thoroughly researched and convincingly argued. Publishers Weekly. Drawing on their own research and that of a wide array of other scholars Entman and Rojecki present a great deal of provocative data showing a general tendency to devalue blacks or force them into stock categories. Ben Yagoda, New Leader, Winner of the Frank Luther Mott Award for best book in Mass Communication and the Robert E. Lane Award for best book in political psychology. Ethnic Minorities & The Media Cottle, Simon, 2000-12-01. There are few media issues more pressing or potentially more consequential than the representation of ethnic minorities. Presented in an accessible style this authoritative text therefore brings together leading international researchers who have examined some of the latest processes of change and continuity informing the field of ethnic minorities and the media. Encyclopedia of Contemporary British Culture Peter Childs, Michael Storry, 2013-05-13. Boasting more than 970 alphabetically arranged entries the Encyclopedia of Contemporary British Culture surveys British cultural practices and icons in the latter half of the twentieth century. It examines high and popular culture and encompasses both institutional and alternative aspects of British culture. It provides insight into the whole spectrum of British contemporary life. Topics covered include architecture, pubs, film, internet and current takes on the monarchy. Cross referencing and a thematic contents list enable readers to identify related articles. The entries range from short biographical synopses to longer overview essays on key issues. This Encyclopedia is essential reading for anyone interested in British culture. It also provides a cultural context for students of English, Modern History and Comparative European Studies.

Encyclopedia of African American History, 1896 to the Present Paul Finkelman, 2009. Alphabetically arranged entries from A to C that explore significant events, major persons, organizations and political and social movements in African American history from 1896 to the twenty-first century. Migrating to the Movies Jacqueline Najuma Stewart, 2005-03-28. The rise of cinema as the predominant American entertainment around the turn of the last century coincided with the migration of African Americans to the urban land of hope. Discussing early films and illuminating black urban life in this period this text presents a look at the early relationships between African Americans and cinema Television Program

Black America, Body Beautiful Eric J. Bailey, 2008-07-30 Despite all the medical and media attention focused on the rate of overweight and obesity in the African American population African American images and body types are greatly influencing changes in the fashion fitness advertising television and movie industries This is because overweight like beauty can be in the eye of the beholder Most research studies investigating attitudes about body image and body type among African Americans have shown they are more satisfied with their bodies than are their white counterparts and that there appears to be a wider range of acceptable body shapes and weights and a more flexible standard of attractiveness among black Americans as compared to whites That fact is not being lost on leaders of industries that might profit from understanding this wider range of beauty as well as playing to it In this book medical anthropologist Eric Bailey introduces and explains the self acceptance and body image satisfaction of African Americans and traces how that has spurred changes in industry His book fills the void of scientific evidence to enhance the understanding of African Americans perceptions related to body image and beauty and is the first to document these issues from the perspective of an African American male Despite all the medical and media attention focused on the rate of overweight and obesity in the African American population African American images and body types are greatly influencing changes in the fashion fitness advertising television and movie industries This is because overweight like beauty can be in the eye of the beholder Most research studies investigating attitudes about body image and body type among African Americans have shown they are more satisfied with their bodies than are their white counterparts Most black women for example are of course concerned with how they look but do not judge themselves in terms of their weight and do not believe they are valued mostly on the basis of their bodies Black teen girls most often say being thick and curvaceous with large hips and ample thighs is seen as the most desirable body shape Thus there appears to be a wider range of acceptable body shapes and weights and a more flexible standard of attractiveness among black Americans as compared to whites That fact is not lost on leaders of industries that might profit from understanding this wider range of beauty as well as playing to it Voluptuous supermodel Tyra Banks is just one African American who's broken the mold in that industry The effects have been seen right down to department and local clothes stores where lines of larger and plus size fashions are expanding becoming more colorful and more ornate In the fitness industry health gurus Madonna Grimes and Billy Blanks have been revolutionizing how people get fit and how fitness needs to be redeveloped for the African American population Advertising has taken a similar turn not the least manifestation of which were the major campaigns Dove and Nike ran in 2005 with plus sized actresses who continue to appear in promotions for both companies In movies and on television shows the African American beautiful body image has followed suit In this book medical anthropologist Eric Bailey introduces and explains the self acceptance and body image satisfaction of African Americans and traces how that has spurred changes in industry His book fills the void of scientific evidence to enhance the understanding of African Americans perceptions related to body image and beauty and is the first to document these issues from the perspective of an African American male

SuburbiaNation R. Beuka, 2016-04-30 The expansion of the suburban environment is a fascinating cultural development In fact the United States is primarily a suburban nation with far more Americans living in the suburbs than in either urban or rural areas Why were suburbs created to begin with How do we define them Are they really the promised land of the American middle class The concept of space and how we create it is a concept that is receiving a great deal of academic attention but no one has looked carefully at the suburban landscape through the lens of fiction and of film The Television Genre Book Toby Miller, John Tulloch, Glen Creeber, 2001 No Marketing Blurbs Africa in Europe Eve Rosenhaft, Robbie John Macvicar Aitken, 2013-01-01 Africa in Europe goes beyond the still dominant American and transatlantic focus of diaspora studies examining the experiences of black and white Africans Afro Caribbeans and African Americans in Western Europe Britain and the former Soviet Union from the end of the nineteenth century to the beginning of the twenty first Exploring a huge range of border crossing experiences across and within Africa and Europe it examines topics such as ethnic and cultural boundaries working across the color line and the limits of solidarity With contributions from scholars in social history art history anthropology cultural studies and literary studies as well from a novelist and a filmmaker it offers a broad look at the intersection of Africa and Europe at all levels from family and community to culture and politics Multi-Ethnic Britain 2000+ ,2008-01-01 Multi Ethnic Britain 2000 provides an encompassing survey of artistic responses to the changes in the British cultural climate in the early years of the 21st century It traces topical reactions to new forms of racism and religious fundamentalism to legal as well as illegal immigration and to the threat of global terror yet it also highlights new forms of intercultural communication and convivial exchange Framed by contributions from novelists Patrick Neate and Rameez Balasubramanyam Multi Ethnic Britain 2000 showcases how artistic representations in literature film music and the visual arts reflect and respond to social and political discourses and how they contribute to our understanding of the current trans cultural situation in Britain The contributions in this volume cover a wide range of writers such as Graham Swift Ian McEwan Zadie Smith Jackie Kay Nadeem Aslam Gautam Malkani Nirpal Dhaliwal and Monica Ali films ranging from Gurinder Chadha s Bend It Like Beckham and Bride and Prejudice to Michael Winterbottom s In This World and Alfonso Cuar n s Children of Men paintings and photography by innovative black and Asian British Artists and dubstep music
