Lewis, 1992 In this study Marvin A Lewis examines from a literary perspective two central issues of Venezuelan culture ethnicity and racial identify By analyzing thematic and structural similarities among four important contemporary works of Venezuelan literature by authors of diverse backgrounds two black and two nonblack writers Lewis reveals ethnicity and racial identity to be crucial concerns of these works and their authors

The Racialization of Latinos in the United States Christina Gomez, 1998      Black Culture and Society in Venezuela Angelina Pollak-Eltz, 1994      Romance Languages and Linguistic Theory 16 Irene Vogel, 2020-08-15 The chapters in this book represent the theme of bridges bridging research approaches and directions across languages methodologies and disciplines Alongside descriptive and theoretical studies the contributions present experimental studies addressing issues in syntax phonetics phonology and sociolinguistics And alongside investigations of linguistic phenomena in standard Romance language varieties other investigations address less well known and studied minority and endangered varieties e g Quebec French Brazilian Portuguese Romanian Galician Catalan and Palenquero from both synchronic and diachronic perspectives Romance languages in contact with other languages and bilingualism now also integral aspects of the field are reflected in this volume as well including less well known cases of contemporary contact of Serbian with Romanian and earlier contact of African languages with Spanish and Portuguese This volume thus continues the decades long tradition of the Linguistic Symposium on Romance Languages of embracing cutting edge developments in the field      Escritura afropuertorriqueña y modernidad Eleuterio Santiago-Díaz, 2007 Este libro se inscribe dentro de la tradición escritural que discute el problema de escribir sin contar con el soporte de una tradición literaria y de pensamiento rico afropuertorriqueño al tiempo que trata de contribuir a subsanar esa falla que identifica como marca el pto de la tradición misma La narrativa de Rodríguez Torres es hasta hoy el testimonio escrito más amplio sobre la condición afropuertorriqueña dentro de la literatura insular Su narrativa

habla poco sobre los colores de piel y menos sobre conflictos raciales En sus textos se lee la represión de un discurso racial en la conciencia de personajes negros y mulatos A nivel global el análisis que ofrecemos de los textos de Rodríguez Torres también supone dos fases de lectura una que en líneas generales está influenciada por el modelo de Michel Foucault y otra que sigue el paradigma teórico de Michel de Certeau En la primera se abordan los discursos sobre raza e identidad como determinante de la crisis ontológica que representa el escritor afroviequense Esta es una lectura interesada primordialmente en decodificar una respuesta de orden estratégico La segunda lectura en cambio se activa con el registro de la dificultad que encuentra el ejercicio del habla y la escritura y la constatación del fracaso parcial del proyecto escritural afrocentrico El silencio y el fracaso vienen a ser una demostración de la represión de la voz negra en la historia y en la literatura This book takes part in the scriptural tradition that discusses the problem of writing without the support of an Afro Puerto Rican literary tradition and theoretical thought while trying to help correct this flaw that it identifies as an elliptical mark of the tradition itself Rodríguez Torres's narrative is to date the most extensive written testimony on the Afro Puerto Rican condition within insular literature His narrative says little about skin color and less about racial conflict In his texts one can read the repression of a racial discourse in the consciousness of black and mixed race characters At a global level the analysis that we offer of Rodríguez Torres texts also involves two different readings one that in general terms is influenced by the model of Michel Foucault and another that follows the theoretical paradigm of Michel de Certeau In the first the discourses on race and identity are addressed as a determinant of the ontological crisis represented by the Afro Viecan writer This is a reading interested primarily in decoding a response of a strategic order The second reading on the other hand is activated with the recording of the difficulty encountered in the exercise of speaking and writing and the verification of the partial failure of the Afrocentric writing project Silence and failure come to be a demonstration of the repression of the black voice in history and literature
