Monchamp, 2014-08-26 This book shares and analyses the stories of Opal a senior Alyawarra woman Through her stories the reader glimpses the harsh colonial realities which many Aboriginal Australians have faced highlighting the cultural embeddedness of autobiographical memory from a philosophical psychological and anthropological perspective

Carl Strehlow's 1909 Comparative Heritage Dictionary Anna Kenny, 2018-08-10 Carl Strehlow's comparative dictionary manuscript is a unique item of Australian cultural heritage it is a large collection of circa 7 600 Aranda 6 800 Luritja Luritja and 1 200 Dieri to German entries compiled at the beginning of the twentieth century at the Hermannsburg Mission in central Australia It is an integral part of Strehlow's ethnographic work on Aboriginal cultures that his German editor Baron Moritz von Leonhardi published as Die Aranda und Luritja St mme in Zentral Australien Strehlow 1907 1920 in Frankfurt Strehlow and his editor had planned to publish a language study that included this comparative dictionary but it remained unpublished until now due to a number of complicated historical and personal circumstances of the main characters involved with the dictionary Strehlow's linguistic work is historically and anthropologically significant because it probably represents the largest and most comprehensive wordlist of Indigenous languages compiled in Australia during the early stages of contact It is an important primary source for Luritja and Aranda speakers Both languages are spoken in homes and taught in schools in central Australia The reasons for presenting this work as a heritage dictionary that is as an exact transcription of the original form of the handwritten manuscript are to follow the Western Aranda people's wishes and to maintain its historical authenticity which will prove to be of great use to both Indigenous people and scholars interested in language

The Oxford Guide to Australian Languages Claire Bowern, 2023-06-19 The Oxford Guide to Australian Languages is a wide ranging reference work that explores the more than 550 traditional and new Indigenous languages of Australia Australian languages have long played an important role in diachronic and synchronic linguistics and are a vital testing ground for linguistic theory Until now however there has been no comprehensive and accessible guide to their vast linguistic diversity. This volume fills that gap by bringing together leading scholars and junior researchers to provide an up-to-date guide to all aspects of the languages of Australia. The chapters in the book explore typology, documentation and classification, linguistic structures from phonology to pragmatics and discourse, sociolinguistics and language variation, and language in the community. The final part offers grammatical sketches of a selection of languages, subgroups and families. At a time when the number of living Australian languages is significantly reduced even compared to twenty years ago, this volume establishes priorities for future linguistic research and contributes to the language expansion and revitalization efforts that are underway.

Keeping Time Nick Thieberger, Amanda Harris, Sally Treloyn, Myfany Turpin, 2024-11-01. Keeping Time: Dialogues on music and archives in Honour of Linda Barwick explores current issues in ethnomusicology and the archiving and repatriation of ethnographic field recordings. The 19 chapters by 36 authors consider archiving practices as a site of interaction between researchers and cultural heritage communities, cross-disciplinary approaches to understanding song and the role of musical transcription in non-Western music. This volume is international in scope with case studies with Indigenous and minority peoples from Papua New Guinea, China, India, the Torres Strait, and mainland Aboriginal Australia, the latter being the focus of the majority of chapters. Topics include the revival of songs from early written sources, creation of new songs based in old genres, the concept of song in other languages, spirits as the origin of song knowledge, and how to manage ethnographic records over time. Keeping Time approaches Indigenous practices from a range of disciplines including linguistics, history, and performing arts, as well as Indigenous Studies, cultural revitalisation, including reclamation of Indigenous languages, Indigenous knowledge, and application to climate change. Offered in honour of Emeritus Professor Linda Barwick, the founder of the Indigenous Music Language and Performing Arts series, Keeping Time offers a diverse range of opinions on ethnographic research practices and their value to society. Sustainable Futures for Music Cultures Huib Schippers, Catherine Grant, 2016. The sustainability of music and other intangible expressions of culture has been high on the agenda of scholars, governments, and NGOs in recent years. However, there is a striking lack of systematic research into what exactly affects sustainability across music cultures. By analyzing case studies of nine highly diverse music cultures against a single framework that identifies key factors in music sustainability, Sustainable Futures for Music Cultures offers an understanding of both the challenges and the dynamics of music sustainability in the contemporary global environment and breathes new life into the previously discredited realm of comparative musicology from an emphatically non-Eurocentric perspective. Situated within the expanding field of applied ethnomusicology, this book confirms some commonly held beliefs, challenges others, and reveals sometimes surprising insights into the dynamics of music cultures. By examining, comparing, and contrasting highly diverse contexts from thriving to in urgent need of safeguarding, Sustainable Futures for Music Cultures analyzes sustainability.

across five carefully defined domains The book identifies pathways to strategies and tools that may empower communities to sustain and revitalize their music heritage on their terms In this way this book contributes to greater scholarly insight new sub disciplinary approaches and pathways to improved practical outcomes for the long term sustainability of music cultures As such it will be an essential resource for ethnomusicologists as well as scholars and activists outside of music with an interest in the preservation of intangible cultural heritage
