DeLue, 2008-09-15 George Inness 1825-94 long considered one of America's greatest landscape painters has yet to receive his full due from scholars and critics A complicated artist and thinker Inness painted stunningly beautiful evocative views of the American countryside Less interested in representing the details of a particular place than in rendering the subjective mystery of nature Inness believed that capturing the spirit or essence of a natural scene could point to a reality beyond the physical or as Inness put it the reality of the unseen Throughout his career Inness struggled to make visible what was invisible to the human eye by combining a deep interest in nineteenth century scientific inquiry including optics psychology physiology and mathematics with an idiosyncratic brand of mysticism Rachael Ziady DeLue's George Inness and the Science of Landscape the first in depth examination of Inness's career to appear in several decades demonstrates how the artistic spiritual and scientific aspects of Inness's art found expression in his masterful landscapes In fact Inness's practice was not merely shaped by his preoccupation with the nature and limits of human perception he conceived of his labor as a science in its own right This lavishly illustrated work reveals Inness as profoundly invested in the science and philosophy of his time and illuminates the complex manner in which the fields of art and science intersected in nineteenth century America Long awaited this reevaluation of one of the major figures of nineteenth century American art will prove to be a seminal text in the fields of art history and American studies New Museum Theory and Contains 12 original essays that contribute to the field while creating a collective whole for course use. Discusses theory through vivid examples and historical overviews. Altered States Wendy M. Watson, 1997-06. Museums are meant to display, interpret and preserve art. This volume combines the artwork of the artist and the interpretation of the art historian with the science of conservation. Focusing on 33 works of art primarily from the Williamstown Regional Art Conservation Laboratory, this collection provides a history of the restoration involved for each work along with background on the artist. Three essays at the beginning provide the overall context for these works by analyzing the history, the science and the philosophical questions surrounding the preservation of artwork. The scientific section includes brief discussions of preservation technique and also of authenticating pieces of art.

landscape in the Ahafo Ano Southwest District of Ghana Atampugre, Gerald, Mensah, E., Boateng, E., Mabhaudhi, Tafadzwanashe, Cofie, Olufunke, 2022-11-01. A Social Ecological Landscape (SEL) comprises a set of important resources e.g. natural socioeconomic and cultural whose flow and use are controlled by a mix of ecological and social subsystem dynamics. In developing countries, drivers of SEL changes are complex and SEL pressures are growing. Areas endowed with natural resources e.g. fertile soils, forests, water, minerals etc. tend to have high population growth rates and high poverty incidence. These tend to culminate in high demand for livelihood capitals e.g. access to livelihood alternatives, education, food, health, water, forest resources, dwellings, roads, agriculture, aquaculture, spaces etc. Further, multiple national and global stakeholders have continued to place a high demand on exploiting natural resources at the subnational level.

Protection of Historical Constructions Federico M. Mazzolani, Raffaele Landolfo, Beatrice Faggiano, 2025-05-04.
