O'Neil, 2000-07-01 Aircrew Training and Assessment is designed for professionals in the aviation psychology human factors assessment and evaluation vocational technical educational psychology and educational technology communities It explores the state of the art in the training and assessment of aircrews and includes a review and description of the use Aircrew Training H. F. O'Neil, 20?? Using Games and Simulations for Teaching and Assessment Harold F. O'Neil, Eva L. Baker, Ray S. Perez, 2016-03-31 Incorporates several innovative and increasingly popular subject areas including the gamification of education assessment and STEM subjects Combines research and authorship from both civilian and military worlds as well as interdisciplinary fields Rigorously defines and analyzes the criteria of selecting designing implementing and evaluating emerging educational technologies while offering implications for future use Integrated and Holistic Perspectives on Learning, Instruction and Technology J.M. Spector, T.M. Anderson, 2005-12-17 One outcome of recent progress in educational technology is strong interest in providing effective support for learning in complex and ill structured domains We know how to use technology to promote understanding in simpler domains e g orientation information procedures with minimal branching etc but we are less sure how to use technology to support understanding in more complex domains e g managing limited resources understanding environmental impacts etc Such domains are increasingly significant for society Technology e g collaborative tele learning digital repositories interactive simulations etc can provide conceptually and functionally rich domains for learning However this introduces the problem of determining what works in which circumstances and why Research and development on these matters is reflected in this collection of papers This research suggests a need to rethink foundational issues in educational philosophy and learning technology One major theme connecting these papers is the need to address learning in the large from a more holistic perspective A second theme concerns the need to take learners where and as they are integrating technology into effective learning places Significant and systematic progress in learning support for complex domains demands further attention to these important issues Technology and Assessment National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Center for Education, Board on Testing and Assessment, 2002-04-26 The papers in this collection were commissioned by the Board on Testing and Assessment BOTA of the National Research Council NRC for a workshop held on November 14 2001 with support from the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation Goals for the workshop were twofold One was to share the major messages of the recently released NRC committee report Knowing What Students Know The Science and Design of Educational Assessment 2001 which synthesizes advances in the cognitive sciences and methods of measurement and considers their implications for improving educational assessment The second goal was to delve more deeply into one of the major themes of that report the role that technology could play in bringing those advances together which is the focus of these papers For the workshop selected researchers working in the intersection of technology and assessment were asked to write about some of the challenges and opportunities for more fully capitalizing on the power of information technologies to improve assessment to illustrate those issues with examples from their own research and to identify priorities for research and development in this area
